FIVE NATIONS PREPARED TO FIGHT ITALY

Will Strike Together If Any One Of Them Is Attacked

By The Associated Press

Five nations with interest in and around the Mediterranean have agreed to fight Italy if she attacks any one of them, it was officially announced in Geneva Wednesday.

Great Britain, France, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia have decided to strike together if Italy should attack the British fleet in the Mediterranean because of the Ethiopian war situation.

This document was published by the league shortly after its sanctions committee of 18 decided to have experts investigate the practicability of a proposed oil sanction against Italy.

An Italian spokesman warned Italy would protest to the league against the Mediterranean defensive pact.

Conflicting reports clouded the distant Ethiopian southern battlefront. Italy claimed the capture of the important town of Neghelli but the southern Ethiopian commander telegraphed Addis Ababa a denial of fast claims of important victories.

Disproving rumors the chieftain had been poisoned, an Associated Press correspondent found Ras Hailu, one-time head of the revolting Gojjam province, alive and well in Addis Ababa.

He said he had made peace with Emperor Haile Selassie who until recently had Hailu imprisoned on an island of a lake.

The part France will play in future war and peace moves was made uncertain when Premier Pierre Laval's cabinet resigned.

Ras Hailu Has Made Peace With Haile Selassie

Once-Potent Prince Turns Up Suddenly At Addis Ababa

Addis Ababa, Jan. 22—Rau Hailu, once-pontent prince of troublous Gojjam province, turned up in Addis Ababa suddenly today to belie reports abroad he had been poisoned and to declare he had made peace with Emperor Haile Selassie.

His surprise appearance coincided with assurances to the government from Ras Desta Demtu, Ethiopian commander of the south, that his armies still were undefeated. (Italian communiques have reported Desta's armies in full flight, with 5,000 estimated slain.)

Hailu, brought to Addis Ababa recently from an island in Lake Zwai, appeared in good health, save for rheumatism.

"I am 57 years old," he told this correspondent, who knew him during Selassie's coronation in 1930. "Despite the fact that Mussolini says I am dead, I expect to outlive him.

"Why do the Italians say I am dead or poisoned? I am very much alive and very content with my situation."

Hailu once aspired to replace Selassie and led an abortive revolt to that end. His presence here created the belief he was brought to the capital in a move to quell current revolts in the province, and it was thought he might call upon his former subjects to be loyal to the Negus.

Entire State In Grip Of Winter's Worst Blizzard

Schools In Several Cities Including Chicago Are Ordered Closed

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Paralyzing cold and snow stretched almost from boundary to boundary of Illinois tonight, laying down the bitterest winter siege in years in many areas.

Schools in several cities, including Chicago, were ordered closed tomorrow. Road crews fought to keep highways open. Fires which sprang up were made doubly dangerous by the numbing elements.

A grade school at Galatia, near the southern border, was destroyed by flames in sub freezing temperatures and gale-like winds. The pupils left speedily and safely.

Although Galena appeared the coldest spot, with a recording of 28 below zero, other communities suffered also. In Chicago where a minimum of 17 below was reached shortly after 2 p. m., the mercury stood at 13 below tonight.

The mercury stood at 15 below in Springfield, with prospects it might sink to minus 20. That section fought against isolation from the rest of the state as the highway department announced many roads were blockaded.

The forecast for Illinois issued by the Chicago weather bureau reported increasing cloudiness and slowly rising temperatures in the northwest and west central sections Thursday; snow and rising temperatures Thursday night and Friday.

The state highway divisions's report at Springfield said 500 men were struggling to keep roads open, but even snow plows were stalled in some of the heavier crifts, especially in northern parts of the state. All bus traffic through Springfield was stopped; no night planes ran and steam lines reported trains from 40 minutes to two and one-half hours late.

The division's announcement on road conditions reported blockades at Greenview on Rt. 24; north of Lincoln on Rt. 121; south of Havana on Rt. 78; north of Peoria and north of Lincoln on Rt. 121; south of Havana on Rt. 78; north of Peoria and north of Bloomington. Roads near Jacksonville were in bad condition, but most highways were open at Decatur and Pana.

Bloomington reported that between there and Clinton 39 automobiles, three snow plows and three Illinois Terminal system traction cars were blockaded. Sixty-five persons were taken off the tractions cars by the parallel Illinois Central branch lines. Highways were reported virtually impassable.

At least four deaths were laid to the cold, three of Chicagoans from heart attacks apparently superinduced by over-exertion. The Chicago river between Franklin street and the mouth was frozen solid with three inches of ice for the first time in 24 years. Relief shelters gave protection to 3,000 men here.

Gambling Raids In Miami, Fla.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 22 —(AP)— Miami police in surprise gambling raids halted the play of some 2,000 persons, arrested 14 alleged operators and seized thousands of dollars worth of valuable gambling equipment today.

The authorities, estimating 1,000 persons were engaged at play in each of the two downtown establishments they visited, declared the raids were the largest and most important in several years.

Great confusion resulted when the police, swooping down simultaneously on the closely located establishments, prohibited departure of any one until arrests had been made and apparatus seized.

SCULPTOR DIES

Madrid, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Miguel Blay, 69, a leading Spanish sculptor, died today.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Bitter, blasting cold froze the middle west tonight in a polar invasion which shattered weather records in widely separated areas and threatened to establish still lower temperatures in the next 24 hours.

In the frozen wake of the winds and snow, which swept from Nebraska as far east as Pennsylvania, were impassable roads, semi-paralyzed shipping, and death.

At least 18 persons lost their lives in the worst cold wave of many years, frigidity which drove the temperature down as far as 55 below on the bridge linking International Falls, Minn., with Canada.

Thirteen states, in varying degrees of frost-bitten weather, felt the effects of the invasion. Schools were ordered closed in many of them. Normal activities in hundreds of chilled communities were reduced to a minimum in deference to the reign of winter.

A 40 mile an hour gale drove the snow and cold into Ohio, where temperatures ranged from zero to 14 below at Dayton. Deputy sheriffs on horseback rescued 100 school children tonight from buses buried in 16-foot drifts near St. Clairsville, O., but 60 other children had to spend the night in two Champaign county schools.

As the cold wave swept into New York and other eastern states, some relief was promised by the weather bureau here for the middle west. Slowly rising temperatures were predicted for Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The cold will stay in Indiana, however, and still lower temperatures were forecast for upper and lower Michigan. Detroit reported the mercury falling below zero, with 15,000 WPA workers facing a layoff. Lake harbors were blocked and ice was sweeping in. A roaring blizzard blocked the highways of the upper peninsula.

As the storm whipped into Pennsylvania, one man was frozen. School children were marooned near Somerset and Uniontown, Pa., and at New Castle, delinquent taxpayers were offered credit on their bills if they would shovel snow.

Only a few trunk highways were open. Bus traffic was stopped.

It was 10 below zero in Covington, Ky., and six below at Louisville, with snow adding to the danger of travel in the Blue Grass state.

Wisconsin weather brought hazards to more school children. A bus full of students overturned at Pewaukee, and the youngsters sought what shelter they could until they were rescued. Newsboys were withdrawn from exposed corners in Milwaukee as the mercury hovered at eight below.

In Iowa, the cold caused at least one death and brought suffering to hundreds. At Davenport a milk shortage was feared because of delayed shipments in the Tri-City district. Highways were generally blocked by drifting snow.

Indiana's dead totaled four in temperatures that ranged from 2 to 20 below. Six state highways were impassable. Schools were dismissed but near Anderson 200 pupils were forced to spend the night in their class rooms.

Eastern Nebraska was feeling the cold with minus readings. A north wind from the besieged middle west dropped the temperature eight degrees in an hour at Woodward, Okla., but left it comfortably at 52 above. It was 14 below tonight at Kirksville, Mo., tonight, and seven above at Topeka, Kan.

A minimum of 17 degrees below zero was reported in Chicago, where mounted police were ordered from the streets because of the blasting winds and all public schools were closed until the weather moderates. What many Illinois communities termed the worst blizzard in their history made its influence felt as far as the southern boundary line. In Chicago tonight the temperature had risen to 11 below.

Out in Los Angeles, the weather man reported a temperature of 78 above. His prediction for tomorrow was "fair and continued warm."

While the beaches were crowded in California, the -33.5 reading registered at Minneapolis broke every record in the books there. A reading of -38 equalled the all-time low at Mankato, Minn.

Fatalities in Minnesota totaled three, with four more in Illinois, three in Wisconsin and one in Kansas.

One man died in Michigan of a heart attack suffered when he was fighting his way to his home through drifts.

All train service west of Marquette, Mich., was cancelled tonight on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic line. A North Western road train was reported snowbound at Escanaba.

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE TRIAL IS ADJOURNED

Chicago, Jan. 22. — (AP) — Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, suffering from lumbago, today adjourned the Sir Francis Drake mail fraud trial until tomorrow.

As the trial entered its 10th week, Guy Doty, Lake City, Ia., and W. A. Peterson, Rockford, Ill., both defendants, were waiting to testify in their own defense.

Twenty of the original 41 defendants were still on trial, charged with using the mails to defraud investors of some $1,350,000 in promising them shares in the booty of Sir Francis Drake—when and if it was found.

IERC SURVIVES 2 MAJOR TESTS IN ASSEMBLY

Bills To Eliminate Commission Are Defeated

By Curtis R. Hay,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, threatened with abolishment in the second special session of the General Assembly, today survived two major tests when bills to eliminate the commission failed in both houses because of a "silent treatment."

Along with them, Senator H. G. Ward's measure to appropriate $7,500,000 from the general fund for relief during the next three months was delayed by refusal of the members to vote either way on the proposal. The Chicago senator, as well as the sponsors of the bills to kill the IERC, was forced to postpone consideration of his bill.

The assembly moved forward rapidly in another direction, however, as it approved a home rule administration of the social security program and the House sent to the upper chamber a bill providing pension administration in Cook county by the Welfare Bureau there.

The pension action brought the first special session within a few legislative days of sine die adjournment.

The House move to kill the IERC was backed by F. W. Lewis, Robinson Democrat, who is the author of a measure which would put relief allocations in the hands of a state board of three, the governor, lieutenant governor and auditor. On a roll call, however, the measure received only about 50 votes and Lewis asked postponement.

He was supported by his opponent of last night, Richard Lyons, of Libertyville, who said political questions should be forgotten in abolishing the IERC. When Lewis postponed action on his bill he promised that next week he would support Lyons' measure to abolish the commission.

Italy Reports Neghelli Has Been Captured

Premier Mussolini Cables His Congratulations To General

By George Jordan
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Rome, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Italy reported the capture of the important town of Neghelli in southern Ethiopia today and an "offensive" in the north.

An official dispatch from East Africa said Neghelli, capital of Galla Borana and 380 kilometers (236 miles) northwest of Dolo, had been taken "in a brilliant and rapid action."

Premier Mussolini cabled congratulations to Gen. Rudolfo Graziani, in charge of the southern army.

A communique said the northern army under Marshal Pietro Badoglio had pushed forward in the Tembien area. This action was called an "offensive" but whether it meant a general advance or a "mopping up" operation was not disclosed.

In his message to Gen. Graziani, Il Duce said:

"The victory won over Ras Desta Demtu makes Italians proud. While expressing my pleasure to you, I also send praise to the officers and troops, Italians and native, who have given proof of their brilliant courage and endurance during the operations.

"I am sure your leadership will bring the Italian and native troops further victories."

Farm Rents Will Probably Be Cut

Lincoln, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Rent adjustments which will mean a saving of several thousand dollars to farm tenants in Logan and Sangamon counties were announced today by managers of the Scully estate.

The adjustments, affecting 1935 rentals, reduced the acre rate from $5 to a scale between $3.50 and $4 on the 30,000 acres of the estate in Logan county. In Sangamon county the reduced scale ranges from $2.65 to $3.10, depending on the size of the leases, which total 4,000 acres.

No reduction was made in Livingston county because of a good corn crop. It was the sixth consecutive year in which adjustments have been made by the estate, which owns land in several states.

MANY ARRESTS

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Fremont police said today they are'nt sure it has anything to do with the situation, but just the same "we're glad leap year comes only once in four years."

Since Jan. 1, arrested women have outnumbered arrested men five to four, and four out of five are charged with intoxication.

Officers said their femine customers are harder to deal with than men because (1) they depend on their sex for protection and (2) they become more abusive.

PIERRE LAVAL'S SAVE THE FRANC CABINET QUITS

Albert Lebrun Begins At Once To Seek New Premier

By Richard G. Massock
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Paris, Jan. 22—(AP)—Pierre Laval's "save the franc" French cabinet reached its long expected collapse today, precipitating a serious governmental crisis.

President Albert Lebrun began at once to seek a new premier, but parliamentary sources feared the search would be long and tedious. The danger of grave "financial and foreign consequences" was predicted by the Nationalist minister of state, Louis Marin, who refused to sign the cabinet's collective resignation.

M. Laval and two other prospective premiers refused the job late today and it was announced officially that M. Lebrun would wait until morning to continue his efforts to find a suitable man. The radical Socialist Albert Sarraut, who was premier for a month in 1933, was expected to be the next to be consulted.

There were prospects Mercel Regnier, erstwhile minister of finance, might be called upon at length to become premier and stave off devaluation until a new chamber of deputies is chosen in the spring.

M. Laval, who had held the reins of French government for the compartively lengthy period of seven and one half months, quit with the rest of his ministry when Edward Herriot and three other radical-Socialist ministers abandoned the government because of their party's condemnation of the premier's policies, domestic and foreign.

One of the reasons for the dominant party's hostility to Laval was what leftists described as his vacciliation between Great Britain and Italy on the Ethiopian question.

M. Laval put the blame for the cabinet's collapse squarely on the radical-socialists. He took the ministers directly from a cabinet meeting in the Quai D'Orsay to the Elysee palace.

There, under gala trappings strung for a diplomatic ball which was cancelled with the death of King George V of England, the Independent premier let his cabinet fall apart in front of the president.

Autos Will Have One Way Lights And Windshields

New Polarizing Materials Are Being Used By Inventors

By Howard W. Blakeslee

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 22—(AP)—An automobile with one-way headlights and a one-way windshield, which the driver can see through perfectly but which screens his eyes from polarized lights coming toward him, has been equipped here by Robert Sparks, member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Sparks uses materials recently invented by several persons and firms, which polarize light, or cause its rays to vibrate all in the same plane. These materials are "one-way" glass in the sense that they can be set to darken polarized light coming toward them, while permitting perfect vision to a person behind them, by light of his own polarized rays.

The peculiar "one-way" nature of polarized light has been known and used scientifically and industrially for many years. But it has been made with nicol prisms, too rare and expensive for the mass production and costs needed for auto headlights.

Today there are two of these new polarizing materials on the market, Sparks says, and a third under laboratory trial here.

One material is made of several layers of glass set into a slanting windshield. Another is an invention of Edwin H. Land of Boston, a substance composed of countless, minute rod-like crystals. The third, still in the laboratory, Sparks says, is a type of fine-lined glass under investigation by W. S. Payne of the engineering department of the Aetna Life Insurance Company here.

N. Y. Elevator Men On Strike

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A strike of elevator operators and service employes of 200 midtown buildings affecting 2,500 workers, was called today by James J. Bambrick, president of the greater New York council of building service unions.

Bambrick called the strike while in a conference with representatives of building associations on negotiations for an agreement with the unions.

The 200 buildings affected by the strike call are not covered by any agreements.

The first building affected was 150 West 28th street where 20 employees left their posts at noon.

Virtually all the buildings involved are in the garment and fur centers.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen Visitor at State House; Meets Several Officials

By Robert P. Howard
Associated Press Staff Writer

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Plans for an active downstate campaign, beginning in early February, were made today as Dr. Herman N. Bundesen visited the state house from which he hopes to govern Illinois next year.

Declining to discuss his platform, still unannounced, the Chicago health official spent the day shaking hands with downstaters and in a conference with other candidates on the Democratic organization slate.

Organization leaders announced their downstate headquarters would be establishehd in Springfield soon, in charge of Manly Mumford, executive director and assistant to State Chairman Bruce A. Campbell. Preliminary work in behalf of the Bundesen ticket is to start at once, with a speaking tour to begin in a few weeks.

In zero weather, Dr. Bundesen complained only about his right arm, broken two weeks ago and still in splints. He had to extend his left hand in greeting the Democrats whose support he wants in the April 14 primary.

There was no meeting between Bundesen and Governor Horner, who is determined to win renomination despite the open opposition of the Kelly-Nash organization and the other elective state officials.

Mr. Horner spent another day in the executive mansion ,although suffering from a severe cold. He took no action on the proposed third special session on permanent registration of Chicago voters, which he has been urged to call in an effort to handicap the Metropolitan political machine.

Bundesen, in his first trip downstate since becoming a candidate for governor, called at the offices of Attorney General Otto Kerner, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, Auditor Edward J. Barrett and Treasurer John Stelle, the state choice for lieutenant governor. Then they and other Democrats held a long meeting with Chairman Campbell.

As assistants to Mumford in the campaign headquarters, the state officials appointed the following: by Barrett, E. J. Coyle of Carrrollton; by Hughes, Harry J. Wernsing of Petersburg; by Stelle, Howard Ashton of Rockford; by Kerner, William G. Worthey of Jerseyville. Martin, who is in California, is to make a similar appointment.

CRASH VICTIM IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Stockton, Calif., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Roy Wimple, Tuscola, Ill., is in Mantega hospital suffering from a concussion of the brain and severe bruises, and Mrs. Walter Maris, Louisville, Ky., is being treated for cuts following a highway crash with a truck in an early morning fog.

State highway patrolman Leland Brown said Wimple was driving the car in which his wife and Mrs. Maris were riding when they collided head-on with a truck. Mrs. Wimple was uninjured.

The trio had left Yosemite National Park and were on a vacation tour of the state.

Plan To Halt Repayments Of Processing Tax

Consumers Claim That Money Rightfully Belongs To Them

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—An action on behalf of the "consumers of the United States" was instituted in Federal court today by two New York attorneys to halt the repayment of $200,000,000 of processing taxes collected under the invalidated AAA.

The bill of complaint, seeking to restrain the government from returning the money to processors, asserts the taxes represent money paid out by the complainants and other consumers and rightfuly belongs to them.

The bill was filed by Arthur F. Friend, attorney for Edwin M. Reiskind, a fellow attorney, both of the same office.

It asks the court to enter a restraining order against Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, and Charles E. Caropley, Clerk of the United States Supreme Court, halting the return of the taxes to millers and processors.

It further requests an order turning the money over to the United States Treasury, in view of the impossibility of determining the amount due various consumers and the persons entitled to receive the money.

The $200,000,000 represents taxes paid under protest and impounded at the order of the federal courts pending determination of the constitutionality of the AAA by the Supreme Court. Upon finding it invalid, the court then ordered the money refunded to those processors who paid it.

Friend and Reiskind maintain, however, that the processors are not rightly entitled to it.

Walter McCormick Is Shot To Death

St. Louis, Jan. 22—(AP)—Walter B. McCormick, 55, retired business man here and a cousin of Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, was found shot to death in bed at his apartment early tonight. He had been in ill health for some time.

Miss Elza Roberson, nurse, said McCormick sent her from the apartment and that he was dead when she returned 15 minutes later. A revolver lay beside his body.

Friends said McCormick, who lives alone at the apartment, was divorced from his wife, she resides in Baltimore.

VOLCANO ACTIVE

San Salvador, El Salvador, Jan. 22—(AP)—The volcano Izalco was in eruption today with attendant earthquakes in the surrounding area.

No damage has as yet been reported.

Throughout the day terrific columns of smoke and steam could be seen reaching into the sky. Last night, the cone was topped with a fire visible many miles.

CONGRESS GETS NEW TWO YEAR FARM PROGRAM

Identical Bills Are Introduced In House, And Senate

By D. Harold Oliver.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Congress received the administration's new two-year farm program today with immediate constitutional misgivings over the proposed federal subsidy for voluntary production control through scientific use of land.

Identical bills were introduced in both branches, designed to confer virtually unlimited powers upon the secretary of agriculture to pay growers out of a $440,000,000 appropriation to come later in a separate measure.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala), author of the compulsory cotton control act now under fire in the Supreme Court, offered the AAA substitute bill in the Senate. It was referred to the agriculture committee which will begin initial consideration tomorrow.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the House agriculture committee, introduced the same proposal in the House after his committee had given the question cursory examination in an executive session which will be resumed tomorrow.

Even supporters of the bill conceded it faced a long and rough road as some members of both houses contended it was just as unconstitutional as the AAA, in the light of the Supreme Court decision.

Senator Norris (R-Neb), a constitutional and farm authority, said that in his judgment the bill is constitutional, but asserted it is unconstitutional under the "last legislative act of the Supreme Court." He added:

"I'm willing to pass it and try it. I don't think it is unconstitutional personally, but under the AAA decision it is unconstitutional. That is the law now."

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, said:

"I am not sure this proposal comes clear of constitutional complications. The secretary of agriculture is given power to make payments to producers who curtail their production though no means for benefit payments are specified.

"I hope some plan may be evolved that will be permanent and free from unconstitutional suspicion."

School Children Rescued From 16 Foot Snowdrifts

100 Little Ones In Buses Which Had Been Covered With Snow

St. Clarisville, O., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies on horseback rescued 100 school children tonight from buses buried in 16-foot snowdrifts in this hilly, sparsely settled section on the West Virginia boundary.

Sheriff Howard Duff of Belmont county, returning with the last of the rescue parties, said the children, some of whom had been stranded since noon, were all accounted for and "appeared in good shape."

"We brought them all in or left them at their homes along the way," the sheriff said, "except for 14 that we had to leave at a garage at Fairpoint, five miles north. They will have to spend the night there."

The sheriff said deputies and highway department crews discovered a missing school bus containing more than 40 children halfway between St. Clairsville and Glencoe, seven miles south.

Two other buses containing 60 children were located near Fairpoint.

"Actually, you couldn't see the buses at all," the sheriff said. "The drifts were 15 and 16 feet deep, and snowplows that set out simply bogged down and would not budge.

"The temperature was about 8 below and going down all the time. It was terrible. On the way we had to help about 15 motorists who were stalled or blocked by the buses.

"But I believe we have everyone accounted for now."

School Superintendent O. O. Crawford said all pupils had been rescued and there would be no more school until the first of the week.

Anti-New Deal Leaders Shout In Jubilation

Pleased With Landslide Victory In Election In Louisiana

New Orleans, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Anti-New Deal leaders of the Huey Long political machine throughout Louisiana today shouted in jubilation over the landslide victory in yesterday's statewide Democratic primary.

The other side, the home rule machine, led by Representative Cleveland Dear of the Eighth Louisiana Congressional District, candidate for governor, maintained silence in defeat pending a formal statement by Dear.

Dear state headquarters, which charged "wholesale fraud" and scores of election irregularities, said that statement would outline the entire position of the Democratic faction which in the caustic campaign pledged itself to abolish the state "dictatorship and return Louisiana to local self government."

The count of ballots in unofficial tabulations was slow. Many of the parish election commissioners, under state machine appointment, were reported to have sealed the ballot boxes and forwarded them to Baton Rouge for official promulgation by the secretary of state without announcing the vote.

As each parish sent in more votes the majority for Leche was raised and the trend carried in the main for all state wide candidates for the machine.

In one race of vast importance, however, the anti-Long candidate was ahead on early returns with pivotal parishes failing to report. That was the Fifth District seat of the state supreme court heretofore split over majority opinions which have upheld constitutionality of several laws passed under the Long "dictatorship."

Foreign Trade Balance In 35 Is Rather Low

Exports However, Show An Increase Of Seven Percent

Washington, Jan. 22. — (AP) — The United States in 1935 recorded its second lowest favorable balance of international trade in a quarter of a century.

The commerce department reported today this nation sold $234,226,000 more than it bought last year. In 1934, exports exceeded imports by $477,745,000.

Despite the small 1935 balance, an increase in exports of seven per cent over 1934 and a rise of 24 per cent in imports brought total foreign trade to the highest levels since 1931.

Records indicated that only six times in the last 60 years has the nation had a less favorable balance than in 1935. In 1919, the balance was $188,000,000 and in 1896, $103,000,000. In 1893, 1889 and 1888, the balance was unfavorable—more was bought than was sold.

Net gold imports in 1935 were the highest in the country's history, reaching $1,739,019,000 as foreign uncertainties led capital to seek a haven in the United States.

Net silver imports were almost three-quarters larger than in 1934 at $335,730,000—largely as a result of the silver buying program.

Commerce officials expect to prepare an analysis of the year's figures shortly. Some privately attributed the import gain today to increased farm imports and improved business conditions in this country necessitating more buying.

JUSTICES OF PEACE TO HANDLE TRAFFIC CASES

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Jurisdiction over traffic code violators would be returned to justices of the peace and police magistrates under a special legislative session bill sent to Gov. Horner for approval today.

The senate passed a bill by Representative Frank Wilson, Polo Democrat, amending the 1935 traffic code by eliminating the jail sentence provision. With jail as a penalty, the code required traffic cases to be heard in courts of record.

Amendments fix $5 as a minimum penalty for the first offense. The maximum is $300 for the third offense within a year.

FIVE NATIONS PREPARED TO FIGHT ITALY

Will Strike Together If Any One Of Them Is Attacked

By The Associated Press

Five nations with interest in and around the Mediterranean have agreed to fight Italy if she attacks any one of them, it was officially announced in Geneva Wednesday.

Great Britain, France, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia have decided to strike together if Italy should attack the British fleet in the Mediterranean because of the Ethiopian war situation.

This document was published by the league shortly after its sanctions committee of 18 decided to have experts investigate the practicability of a proposed oil sanction against Italy.

An Italian spokesman warned Italy would protest to the league against the Mediterranean defensive pact.

Conflicting reports clouded the distant Ethiopian southern battlefront. Italy claimed the capture of the important town of Neghelli but the southern Ethiopian commander telegraphed Addis Ababa a denial of fast claims of important victories.

Disproving rumors the chieftain had been poisoned, an Associated Press correspondent found Ras Hailu, one-time head of the revolting Gojjam province, alive and well in Addis Ababa.

He said he had made peace with Emperor Haile Selassie who until recently had Hailu imprisoned on an island of a lake.

The part France will play in future war and peace moves was made uncertain when Premier Pierre Laval's cabinet resigned.

Ras Hailu Has Made Peace With Haile Selassie

Once-Potent Prince Turns Up Suddenly At Addis Ababa

Addis Ababa, Jan. 22—Rau Hailu, once-pontent prince of troublous Gojjam province, turned up in Addis Ababa suddenly today to belie reports abroad he had been poisoned and to declare he had made peace with Emperor Haile Selassie.

His surprise appearance coincided with assurances to the government from Ras Desta Demtu, Ethiopian commander of the south, that his armies still were undefeated. (Italian communiques have reported Desta's armies in full flight, with 5,000 estimated slain.)

Hailu, brought to Addis Ababa recently from an island in Lake Zwai, appeared in good health, save for rheumatism.

"I am 57 years old," he told this correspondent, who knew him during Selassie's coronation in 1930. "Despite the fact that Mussolini says I am dead, I expect to outlive him.

"Why do the Italians say I am dead or poisoned? I am very much alive and very content with my situation."

Hailu once aspired to replace Selassie and led an abortive revolt to that end. His presence here created the belief he was brought to the capital in a move to quell current revolts in the province, and it was thought he might call upon his former subjects to be loyal to the Negus.

Entire State In Grip Of Winter's Worst Blizzard

Schools In Several Cities Including Chicago Are Ordered Closed

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Paralyzing cold and snow stretched almost from boundary to boundary of Illinois tonight, laying down the bitterest winter siege in years in many areas.

Schools in several cities, including Chicago, were ordered closed tomorrow. Road crews fought to keep highways open. Fires which sprang up were made doubly dangerous by the numbing elements.

A grade school at Galatia, near the southern border, was destroyed by flames in sub freezing temperatures and gale-like winds. The pupils left speedily and safely.

Although Galena appeared the coldest spot, with a recording of 28 below zero, other communities suffered also. In Chicago where a minimum of 17 below was reached shortly after 2 p. m., the mercury stood at 13 below tonight.

The mercury stood at 15 below in Springfield, with prospects it might sink to minus 20. That section fought against isolation from the rest of the state as the highway department announced many roads were blockaded.

The forecast for Illinois issued by the Chicago weather bureau reported increasing cloudiness and slowly rising temperatures in the northwest and west central sections Thursday; snow and rising temperatures Thursday night and Friday.

The state highway divisions's report at Springfield said 500 men were struggling to keep roads open, but even snow plows were stalled in some of the heavier drifts, especially in northern parts of the state. All bus traffic through Springfield was stopped; no night planes ran and steam lines reported trains from 40 minutes to two and one-half hours late.

The division's announcement on road conditions reported blockades at Greenview on Rt. 24; north of Lincoln on Rt. 121; south of Havana on Rt. 78; north of Peoria and north of Lincoln on Rt. 121; south of Havana on Rt. 78; north of Peoria and north of Bloomington. Roads near Jacksonville were in bad condition, but most highways were open at Decatur and Pana.

Bloomington reported that between there and Clinton 39 automobiles, three snow plows and three Illinois Terminal system traction cars were blockaded. Sixty-five persons were taken off the tractions cars by the parallel Illinois Central branch lines. Highways were reported virtually impassable.

At least four deaths were laid to the cold, three of Chicagoans from heart attacks apparently superinduced by over-exertion. The Chicago river between Franklin street and the mouth was frozen solid with three inches of ice for the first time in 24 years. Relief shelters gave protection to 3,000 men here.

Gambling Raids In Miami, Fla.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 22 —(AP)— Miami police in surprise gambling raids halted the play of some 2,000 persons, arrested 14 alleged operators and seized thousands of dollars worth of valuable gambling equipment today.

The authorities, estimating 1,000 persons were engaged at play in each of the two downtown establishments they visited, declared the raids were the largest and most important in several years.

Great confusion resulted when the police, swooping down simultaneously on the closely located establishments, prohibited departure of any one until arrests had been made and apparatus seized.

SCULPTOR DIES

Madrid, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Miguel Blay, 69, a leading Spanish sculptor, died today.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Bitter, blasting cold froze the middle west tonight in a polar invasion which shattered weather records in widely separated areas and threatened to establish still lower temperatures in the next 24 hours.

In the frozen wake of the winds and snow, which swept from Nebraska as far east as Pennsylvania, were impassable roads, semi-paralyzed shipping, and death.

At least 18 persons lost their lives in the worst cold wave of many years, frigidity which drove the temperature down as far as 55 below on the bridge linking International Falls, Minn., with Canada.

Thirteen states, in varying degrees of frost-bitten weather, felt the effects of the invasion. Schools were ordered closed in many of them. Normal activities in hundreds of chilled communities were reduced to a minimum in deference to the reign of winter.

A 40 mile an hour gale drove the snow and cold into Ohio, where temperatures ranged from zero to 14 below at Dayton. Deputy sheriffs on horseback rescued 100 school children tonight from buses buried in 16-foot drifts near St. Clairsville, O., but 60 other children had to spend the night in two Champaign county schools.

As the cold wave swept into New York and other eastern states, some relief was promised by the weather bureau here for the middle west. Slowly rising temperatures were predicted for Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The cold will stay in Indiana, however, and still lower temperatures were forecast for upper and lower Michigan. Detroit reported the mercury falling below zero, with 15,000 WPA workers facing a layoff. Lake harbors were blocked and ice was sweeping in. A roaring blizzard blocked the highways of the upper peninsula.

As the storm whipped into Pennsylvania, one man was frozen. School children were marooned near Somerset and Uniontown, Pa., and at New Castle, delinquent taxpayers were offered credit on their bills if they would shovel snow.

Only a few trunk highways were open. Bus traffic was stopped.

It was 10 below zero in Covington, Ky., and six below at Louisville, with snow adding to the danger of travel in the Blue Grass state.

Wisconsin weather brought hazards to more school children. A bus full of students overturned at Pewaukee, and the youngsters sought what shelter they could until they were rescued. Newsboys were withdrawn from exposed corners in Milwaukee as the mercury hovered at eight below.

In Iowa, the cold caused at least one death and brought suffering to hundreds. At Davenport, a milk shortage was feared because of delayed shipments in the Tri-City district. Highways were generally blocked by drifting snow.

Indiana's dead totaled four in temperatures that ranged from 2 to 30 below. Six state highways were impassable. Schools were dismissed, but near Anderson 200 pupils were forced to spend the night in their class rooms.

Eastern Nebraska was feeling the cold with minus readings. A north wind from the besieged middle west dropped the temperature eight degrees in an hour at Woodward, Okla., but left it comfortably at 52 above. It was 14 below tonight at Kirksville, Mo., tonight, and seven above at Topeka, Kan.

A minimum of 17 degrees below zero was reported in Chicago, where mounted police were ordered from the streets because of the blasting winds and all public schools were closed until the weather moderates. What many Illinois communities termed the worst blizzard in their history made its influence felt as far as the southern boundary line. In Chicago tonight the temperature had risen to 11 below.

While the beaches were crowded in California, the -33.5 reading registered at Minneapolis broke every record in the books there. A reading of -38 equalled the all-time low at Mankato, Minn.

Fatalities in Minnesota totaled three, with four more in Illinois, three in Wisconsin and one in Kansas.

One man died in Michigan of a heart attack suffered when he was fighting his way to his home through drifts.

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE TRIAL IS ADJOURNED

Chicago, Jan. 22. — (AP) — Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, suffering from lumbago, today adjourned the Sir Francis Drake mail fraud trial until tomorrow.

As the trial entered its 10th week, Guy Doty, Lake City, Ia., and W. A. Peterson, Rockford, Ill., both defendants, were waiting to testify in their own defense.

Twenty of the original 41 defendants were still on trial, charged with using the mails to defraud investors of some $1,350,000 in promising them shares in the booty of Sir Francis Drake—when and if it was found.

IERC SURVIVES 2 MAJOR TESTS IN ASSEMBLY

Bills To Eliminate Commission Are Defeated

By Curtis R. Hay,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, threatened with abolishment in the second special session of the General Assembly, today survived two major tests when bills to eliminate the commission failed in both houses because of a "silent treatment."

Along with them, Senator H. G. Ward's measure to appropriate $7,500,000 from the general fund for relief during the next three months was delayed by refusal of the members to vote either way on the proposal. The Chicago senator, as well as the sponsors of the bills to kill the IERC, was forced to postpone consideration of his bill.

The assembly moved forward rapidly in another direction, however, as it approved a home rule administration of the social security program and the House sent to the upper chamber a bill providing pension administration in Cook county by the Welfare Bureau there.

The pension action brought the first special session within a few legislative days of sine die adjournment.

The House move to kill the IERC was backed by F. W. Lewis, Robinson Democrat, who is the author of a measure which would put relief allocations in the hands of a state board of three, the governor, lieutenant governor and auditor. On a roll call, however, the measure received only about 50 votes and Lewis asked postponement.

He was supported by his opponent of last night, Richard Lyons, of Libertyville, who said political questions should be forgotten in abolishing the IERC. When Lewis postponed action on his bill he promised that next week he would support Lyons' measure to abolish the commission.

Italy Reports Neghelli Has Been Captured

Premier Mussolini Cables His Congratulations To General

By George Jordan
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Rome, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Italy reported the capture of the important town of Neghelli in southern Ethiopia today and an "offensive" in the north.

An official dispatch from East Africa said Neghelli, capital of Galla Borana and 380 kilometers (236 miles) northwest of Dolo, had been taken "in a brilliant and rapid action."

Premier Mussolini cabled congratulations to Gen. Rudolfo Graziani, in charge of the southern army.

A communique said the northern army under Marshal Pietro Badoglio had pushed forward in the Tembien area. This action was called an "offensive" but whether it meant a general advance or a "mopping up" operation was not disclosed.

In his message to Gen. Graziani, Il Duce said:

"The victory won over Ras Desta Demtu makes Italians proud. While expressing my pleasure to you, I also send praise to the officers and troops, Italians and native, who have given proof of their brilliant courage and endurance during the operations.

"I am sure your leadership will bring the Italian and native troops further victories."

Farm Rents Will Probably Be Cut

Lincoln, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Rent adjustments which will mean a saving of several thousand dollars to farm tenants in Logan and Sangamon counties were announced today by managers of the Scully estate.

The adjustments, affecting 1935 rentals, reduced the acre rate from $5 to a scale between $3.50 and $4 on the 30,000 acres of the estate in Logan county. In Sangamon county the reduced scale ranges from $2.65 to $3.10, depending on the size of the leases, which total 4,000 acres.

No reduction was made in Livingston county because of a good corn crop. It was the sixth consecutive year in which adjustments have been made by the estate, which owns land in several states.

MANY ARRESTS

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Fremont police said today they aren't sure it has anything to do with the situation, but just the same "we're glad leap year comes only once in four years."

Since Jan. 1, arrested women have outnumbered arrested men five to four, and four out of five are charged with intoxication.

Officers said their femine customers are harder to deal with than men because (1) they depend on their sex for protection and (2) they become more abusive.

PIERRE LAVAL'S SAVE THE FRANC CABINET QUITS

Albert Lebrun Begins At Once To Seek New Premier

By Richard G. Massock
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Paris, Jan. 22—(AP)—Pierre Laval's "save the franc" French cabinet reached its long expected collapse today, precipitating a serious governmental crisis.

President Albert Lebrun began at once to seek a new premier, but parliamentary sources feared the search would be long and tedious. The danger of grave "financial and foreign consequences" was predicted by the Nationalist minister of state, Louis Marin, who refused to sign the cabinet's collective resignation.

M. Laval and two other prospective premiers refused the job late today and it was announced officially that M. Lebrun would wait until morning to continue his efforts to find a suitable man. The radical Socialist Albert Sarraut, who was premier for a month in 1933, was expected to be the next to be consulted.

There were prospects Mercel Regnier, erstwhile minister of finance, might be called upon at length to become premier and stave off devaluation until a new chamber of deputies is chosen in the spring.

M. Laval, who had held the reins of French government for the compartively lengthy period of seven and one half months, quit with the rest of his ministry when Edward Herriot and three other radical-Socialist ministers abandoned the government because of their party's condemnation of the premier's policies, domestic and foreign.

One of the reasons for the dominant party's hostility to Laval was what leftists described as his vaccilation between Great Britain and Italy on the Ethiopian question.

M. Laval put the blame for the cabinet's collapse squarely on the radical-socialists. He took the ministers directly from a cabinet meeting in the Quai D'Orsay to the Elysee palace.

There, under gala trappings strung for a diplomatic ball which was cancelled with the death of King George V of England, the Independent premier let his cabinet fall apart in front of the president.

Autos Will Have One Way Lights And Windshields

New Polarizing Materials Are Being Used By Inventors

By Howard W. Blakeslee

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 22—(AP)—An automobile with one-way headlights and a one-way windshield, which the driver can see through perfectly but which screens his eyes from polarized lights coming toward him, has been equipped here by Robert Sparks, member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Sparks uses materials recently invented by several persons and firms, which polarize light, or cause its rays to vibrate all in the same plane. These materials are "one-way" glass in the sense that they can be set to darken polarized light coming toward them, while permitting perfect vision to a person behind them, by light of his own polarized rays.

The peculiar "one-way" nature of polarized light has been known and used scientifically and industrially for many years. But it has been made with nicol prisms, too rare and expensive for the mass production and costs needed for auto headlights.

Today there are two of these new polarizing materials on the market, Sparks says, and a third under laboratory trial here.

One material is made of several layers of glass set into a slanting windshield. Another is an invention of Edwin H. Land of Boston, a substance composed of countless, minute rod-like crystals. The third, still in the laboratory, Sparks says, is a type of fine-lined glass under investigation by W. S. Payne of the engineering department of the Aetna Life Insurance Company here.

N. Y. Elevator Men On Strike

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A strike of elevator operators and service employes of 200 midtown buildings affecting 2,500 workers, was called today by James J. Bambrick, president of the greater New York council of building service unions.

Bambrick called the strike while in a conference with representatives of building associations on negotiations for an agreement with the unions.

The 200 buildings affected by the strike call are not covered by any agreements.

The first building affected was 150 West 28th street where 20 employees left their posts at noon.

Virtually all the buildings involved are in the garment and fur centers.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen Visitor at State House; Meets Several Officials

By Robert P. Howard
Associated Press Staff Writer

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Plans for an active downstate campaign, beginning in early February, were made today as Dr. Herman N. Bundesen visited the state house from which he hopes to govern Illinois next year.

Declining to discuss his platform, still unannounced, the Chicago health official spent the day shaking hands with downstaters and in a conference with other candidates on the Democratic organization slate.

Organization leaders announced their downstate headquarters would be establishehd in Springfield soon, in charge of Manly Mumford, executive director and assistant to State Chairman Bruce A. Campbell. Preliminary work in behalf of the Bundesen ticket is to start at once, with a speaking tour to begin in a few weeks.

In zero weather, Dr. Bundesen complained only about his right arm, broken two weeks ago and still in splints. He had to extend his left hand in greeting the Democrats whose support he wants in the April 14 primary.

There was no meeting between Bundesen and Governor Horner, who is determined to win renomination despite the open opposition of the Kelly-Nash organization and the other elective state officials.

Mr. Horner spent another day in the executive mansion ,although suffering from a severe cold. He took no action on the proposed third special session on permanent registration of Chicago voters, which he has been urged to call in an effort to handicap the Metropolitan political machine.

Bundesen, in his first trip downstate since becoming a candidate for governor, called at the offices of Attorney General Otto Kerner, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, Auditor Edward J. Barrett and Treasurer John Stelle, the slate choice for lieutenant governor. Then they and other Democrats held a long meeting with Chairman Campbell.

As assistants to Mumford in the campaign headquarters, the state officials appointed the following: by Barrett, E. J. Coyle of Carrrollton; by Hughes, Harry J. Wernsing of Petersburg; by Stelle, Howard Ashton of Rockford; by Kerner, William G. Worthey of Jerseyville. Martin, who is in California, is to make a similar appointment.

CRASH VICTIM IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Stockton, Calif., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Roy Wimple, Tuscola, Ill., is in Mantega hospital suffering from a concussion of the brain and severe bruises, and Mrs. Walter Maris, Louisville, Ky., is being treated for cuts following a highway crash with a truck in an early morning fog.

State highway patrolman Leland Brown said Wimple was driving the car in which his wife and Mrs. Maris were riding when they collided head-on with a truck. Mrs. Wimple was uninjured.

The trio had left Yosemite National Park and were on a vacation tour of the state.

Plan To Halt Repayments Of Processing Tax

Consumers Claim That Money Rightfully Belongs To Them

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—An action on behalf of the "consumers of the United States" was instituted in Federal court today by two New York attorneys to halt the repayment of $200,000,000 of processing taxes collected under the invalidated AAA.

The bill of complaint, seeking to restrain the government from returning the money to processors, asserts the taxes represent money paid out by the complainants and other consumers and rightfuly belongs to them.

The bill was filed by Arthur F. Friend, attorney for Edwin M. Reiskind, a fellow attorney, both of the same office.

It asks the court to enter a restraining order against Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, and Charles E. Caropley, Clerk of the United States Supreme Court, halting the return of the taxes to millers and processors.

It further requests an order turning the money over to the United States Treasury, in view of the impossibility of determining the amount due various consumers and the persons entitled to receive the money.

The $200,000,000 represents taxes paid under protest and impounded at the order of the federal courts pending determination of the constitutionality of the AAA by the Supreme Court. Upon finding it invalid, the court then ordered the money refunded to those processors who paid it.

Friend and Reiskind maintain, however, that the processors are not rightly entitled to it.

Walter McCormick Is Shot To Death

St. Louis, Jan. 22—(AP)—Walter B. McCormick, 55, retired business man here and a cousin of Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, was found shot to death in bed at his apartment early tonight. He had been in ill health for some time.

Miss Elza Roberson, nurse, said McCormick sent her from the apartment, and that he was dead when she returned 15 minutes later. A revolver lay beside his body.

Friends said McCormick, who lives alone at the apartment, was divorced from his wife, she resides in Baltimore.

VOLCANO ACTIVE

San Salvador, El Salvador, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The volcano Izalco was in eruption today with attendant earthquakes in the surrounding area.

No damage has as yet been reported.

Throughout the day terrific columns of smoke and steam could be seen reaching into the sky. Last night, the cone was topped with a fire visible many miles.

School Children Rescued From 16 Foot Snowdrifts

100 Little Ones In Buses Which Had Been Covered With Snow

St. Clarisville, O., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies on horseback rescued 100 school children tonight from buses buried in 16-foot snowdrifts in this hilly, sparsely settled section on the West Virginia boundary.

Sheriff Howard Duff of Belmont county, returning with the last of the rescue parties, said the children, some of whom had been stranded since noon, were all accounted for and "appeared in good shape."

"We brought them all in or left them at their homes along the way," the sheriff said, "except for 14 that we had to leave at a garage at Fairpoint, five miles north. They will have to spend the night there."

The sheriff said deputies and highway department crews discovered a missing school bus containing more than 40 children halfway between St. Clairsville and Glencoe, seven miles south.

Two other buses containing 60 children were located near Fairpoint.

"Actually, you couldn't see the buses at all," the sheriff said. "The drifts were 15 and 16 feet deep, and snowplows that set out simply bogged down and would not budge.

"The temperature was about 8 below and going down all the time. It was terrible. On the way we had to help about 15 motorists who were stalled or blocked by the buses.

"But I believe we have everyone accounted for now."

School Superintendent O. O. Crawford said all pupils had been rescued and there would be no more school until the first of the week.

Anti-New Deal Leaders Shout In Jubilation

Pleased With Landslide Victory In Election In Louisiana

New Orleans, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Anti-New Deal leaders of the Huey Long political machine throughout Louisiana today shouted in jubilation over the landslide victory in yesterday's statewide Democratic primary.

The other side, the home rule machine, led by Representative Cleveland Dear of the Eighth Louisiana Congressional District, candidate for governor, maintained silence in defeat pending a formal statement by Dear.

Dear state headquarters, which charged "wholesale fraud" and scores of election irregularities, said that statement would outline the entire position of the Democratic faction which in the caustic campaign pledged itself to abolish the state "dictatorship and return Louisiana to local self government."

The count of ballots in unofficial tabulations was slow. Many of the parish election commissioners, under state machine appointment, were reported to have sealed the ballot boxes and forwarded them to Baton Rouge for official promulgation by the secretary of state without announcing the vote.

As each parish sent in more votes the majority for Leche was raised and the trend carried in the main for all state wide candidates for the machine.

In one race of vast importance, however, the anti-Long candidate was ahead on early returns with pivotal parishes failing to report. That was the Fifth District seat of the state supreme court heretofore split over majority opinions which have upheld constitutionality of several laws passed under the Long "dictatorship."

CONGRESS GETS NEW TWO YEAR FARM PROGRAM

Identical Bills Are Introduced In House, And Senate

By D. Harold Oliver,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Congress received the administration's new two-year farm program today with immediate constitutional misgivings over the proposed federal subsidy for voluntary production control through scientific use of land.

Identical bills were introduced in both branches, designed to confer virtually unlimited powers upon the secretary of agriculture to pay growers out of a $440,000,000 appropriation to come later in a separate measure.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala), author of the compulsory cotton control act now under fire in the Supreme Court, offered the AAA substitute bill in the Senate. It was referred to the agriculture committee which will begin initial consideration tomorrow.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the House agriculture committee, introduced the same proposal in the House after his committee had given the question cursory examination in an executive session which will be resumed tomorrow.

Even supporters of the bill conceded it faced a long and rough road as some members of both houses contended it was just as unconstitutional as the AAA, in the light of the Supreme Court decision.

Senator Norris (R-Neb), a constitutional and farm authority, said that in his judgment the bill is constitutional, but asserted it is unconstitutional under the "last legislative act of the Supreme Court." He added:

"I'm willing to pass it and try it. I don't think it is unconstitutional personally, but under the AAA decision it is unconstitutional. That is the law now."

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, said:

"I am not sure this proposal comes clear of constitutional complications. The secretary of agriculture is given power to make payments to producers who curtail their production though no means for benefit payments are specified.

"I hope some plan may be evolved that will be permanent and free from unconstitutional suspicion."

Foreign Trade Balance In 35 Is Rather Low

Exports However, Show An Increase Of Seven Percent

Washington, Jan. 22. — (AP) — The United States in 1935 recorded its second lowest favorable balance of international trade in a quarter of a century.

The commerce department reported today this nation sold $234,226,000 more than it bought last year. In 1934, exports exceeded imports by $477,745,000.

Despite the small 1935 balance, an increase in exports of seven per cent over 1934 and a rise of 24 per cent in imports brought total foreign trade to the highest levels since 1931.

Records indicated that only six times in the last 60 years has the nation had a less favorable balance than in 1935. In 1910, the balance was $188,000,000 and in 1896, $103,000,000. In 1893, 1889 and 1886, the balance was unfavorable—more was bought than was sold.

Net gold imports in 1935 were the highest in the country's history, reaching $1,739,019,000 as foreign uncertainties led capital to seek a haven in the United States.

Net silver imports were almost three-quarters larger than in 1934 at $335,730,000—largely as a result of the silver buying program.

Commerce officials expect to prepare an analysis of the year's figures shortly. Some privately attributed the import gain today to increased farm imports and improved business conditions in this country necessitating more buying.

JUSTICES OF PEACE TO HANDLE TRAFFIC CASES

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Jurisdiction over traffic code violators would be returned to justices of the peace and police magistrates under a special legislative session bill sent to Gov. Horner for approval today.

The senate passed a bill by Representative Frank Wilson, Polo Democrat, amending the 1935 traffic code by eliminating the jail sentence provision. With jail as a penalty, the code required traffic cases to be heard in courts of record.

Amendments fix $5 as a minimum penalty for the first offense. The maximum is $300 for the third offense within a year.

Naples, Jan. 22—(AP)—The steamship Vienna sailed for East Africa today with 600 soldiers and the Sicilia will depart tomorrow with 1,920 blackshirts.

New Bridle Paths

Construction of a horse barn is under way in Marquette State Park along the Illinois river. The government has constructed several miles of bridle paths into the more remote sections of the park; hence the need of horses and a place to house them. Riding horseback has become increasingly popular, which is one reason this form of sport is to be made available in the park. Whether it will be financed by the government is not known; but it should at least be self-sustaining.

The Marquette park covers a large area of wild land on the shores of the lower reaches of the Illinois. Bluffs, woods and streams are principal surface features. A CCC unit has been busy in the region for months constructing roads, trails, shelters and bridle paths and working out a forest conservation program.

The place is sure to be a favorite recreation center for this section of the state. It is a two-hour drive from this city and will no doubt attract many local people during the summer months. A horseback ride after a motor trip to the park will be a novelty. The stable in the park should prove attractive to those who do not care to walk over the area, yet who would like to enjoy the scenery in a leisurely manner.

Wanna Buy a Goat"

From the Fieldon vicinity in Jersey county come reports of a rathehr versatile goat, an animal that chews tobacco and goes hunting. Whether such a goat is worth getting depends on what sort of goat a person would want to have around.

The tobacco-chewing propensity seems to be paramount in this animal. He will follow hunters on their rambles, but when he does so it is evidently to obtain a reward in the form of an occasional "chaw o' tobacker." The goat is said to exact tribute at fences. He will stop and pretend he can't get over the fence.

But when the hunter pulls forth a quid of tobacco, the goat will "jump the highest fence in western Jersey county." All of which explains why this goat goes hunting and for what he is hunting.

Too Many Schools

There are maintained by the rural districts of the United States a total of 250 schools each with an average attendance of one pupil, 759 with two pupils, 1,500 with three pupils, 2,250 with four pupils, 3,000 with five pupils, 16,000 with six or seven pupils, nearly 52,000 with 12 or fewer pupils, and 85,000 have a daily attendance of less than 17.

The above figurers would indicate that many rural districts are paying too much for the education needed by the families living in them. The figures present a strong argument for consolidation of rural school districts and the centers, where larger groups of pupil establishment of modern rural school can be given better advantages at less cost than can be provided in the one-room district schools.

Some states have these consolidated schools and make use of buses to bring in the children living at a distance. The plan has been found practical and has saved taxpayers money. Other states need to follow the same plan. Even schools with twenty pupils are today uneconomical. Five such schools could be eliminated to form one consolidated district to give a better education to a hundred or more pupils, and even a larger number might be included in such a district. Modern hard roads make possible much larger districts than would have proved practical when the plan was first inaugurated.

Bees And Men

It requires the labor of 93,000,000 bees to produce enough beeswax to provide material used in manufacture of automobiles. Now if the actual making of these machines required a number of men proportionate to the number of bees, the unemployment problem would be solved. There is no unemployment in a beehive, except among the drones. The worker bees soon get rid of the drones by stinging them to death. It is not that they can't work; they won't work, and their presence in the hive is therefore not tolerated.

Unfortunately the economic life of man is not organized like that of the bee. No mechanical device for the manufacture of honey or wax ever finds its way into the hive. The methods used now have been used for thousands of years and have been found quite efficient. But man is different. He keeps inventing new devices for saving labor, and as a consequence the unemployment in his hive of activity is beginning seriously to interfere with his life.

In the human hive there are few actual drones, but there are many who want to work and who can find nothing to do. Their lot is most unfortunate, a puzzle to themselves and to those who continue to work, but must be taxed to support those who are compelled to remain idle.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Great Possibilities Seen in New AAA Scientific Farming Plan . . . Which May Be Found "Unconstitutional" . . . How the Program Would Work . . . Result of Long Study and Thorough Surveys.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
(Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Enemies of the AAA, aided by the U. S. Supreme Court decision, have pushed the Farm Administration into a program which seems to smack more of brain-trusting, "regimentation," and national planning than anything else the New Deal has tried thus far.

The proposed combination of the domestic allotment idea with payments to farmers for scientific farming is also considered by many lawyers to conflict as violently with the court's majority opinion as the processing tax-benefit payment system did, since production control is one of the plan's essential features.

Some advocates of the plan cynically admit they consider "constitutionality" a nebulous term, something determined merely by the economic views of one or two justices on the highest bench, and that it probably would take a couple of years to get a decision.

Meanwhile, the elections will be over and perhaps there will be a change or two in membership of the court—or even a strong movement for a constitutional amendment.

To some degree the effort to cloak crop control under the guise of soil conservation may even remind you of the government's argument in the TVA case—a seemingly hypocritical pretense that TVA was primarily a "navigation" project.

• • •

Great Benefit Seen

Preponderance of opinion among agricultural scientists, however, seems to be that planned agriculture on the basis of what AAA has in mind will be the greatest contribution to farmers and the general welfare which has ever been seriously proposed.

Secretary Wallace has been beaming and humming merrily ever since the farm organization leaders he assembled here declared their support of a program which neither he nor Administrator Chester Davis had supposed could replace the old AAA system for two or three years to come.

The two men most active in planning for the "new AAA" have been Assistant Secretary of Agriculture M. L. Wilson and former Assistant Administrator H. R. Tolley, once head of the AAA program planning division, who has been called back to help work out the program.

Wilson described the scheme as "production for an economy of abundance, with agriculture developed to the best possible technique."

• • •

How Plan Would Work

The gist of the idea is to pay farmers for replacing certain crops or portions of crops with hay and other soil-improving crops. A large surplus not only ruins prices, but also damages the land, if the crop is cultivated intensively and there is no alternation.

Scientific farming on a national scale would eliminate surpluses and preserve the soil for future generations.

Flat acreage cuts of equal percentage for all growers are over. Planning would be regional as well as national.

AAA would say to a farmer that, according to principles of good farm management and soil conservation, he should have his soil or a stipulated part of it next year not in a cash crop—such as tobacco, corn, or wheat—but in clover, grass, soya beans, or perhaps in pasture. If this land were badly gullied, perhaps even in trees.

But inasmuch as the farmer couldn't afford to forego his cash crop otherwise, he would be compensated at so much an acre for his shift.

Each farmer might be asked to draw up a production schedule, with payment conditional on that, and eventually such schedules would all be added up to fit into proposed national production schedules.

• • •

Thorough Study Made

Agricultural experts, notably Wilson, have been working toward such a scheme for a long time. AAA officials have been studying the idea intensively for more than a year.

The main factual background for the study is a "regional adjustment survey" made last year by agricultural experiment stations in 48 states in co-operation with AAA and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Hundreds of men worked on this for six months and last fall 50 or 60 of the top men at AAA had a secret three-day session at Mount Weather, Va., to mull over the results.

Although problems of administration would seem to be enormous and some lawyers fear the accompanying excise tax program would be tied up in the courts at an early date, the survey and its recommendations will figure importantly in subsequent AAA operations. Consequently, they will be summarized in an ensuing article.

New Bridle Paths

Construction of a horse barn is under way in Marquette State Park along the Illinois river. The government has constructed several miles of bridle paths into the more remote sections of the park; hence the need of horses and a place to house them. Riding horseback has become increasingly popular, which is one reason this form of sport is to be made available in the park. Whether it will be financed by the government is not known; but it should at least be self-sustaining.

The Marquette park covers a large area of wild land on the shores of the lower reaches of the Illinois. Bluffs, woods and streams are principal surface features. A CCC unit has been busy in the region for months constructing roads, trails, sheleters and bridle paths and working out a forest conservation program.

The place is sure to be a favorite recreation center for this section of the state. It is a two-hour drive from this city and will no doubt attract many local people during the summer months. A horseback ride after a motor trip to the park will be a novelty. The stable in the park should prove attractive to those who do not care to walk over the area, yet who would like to enjoy the scenery in a leisurely manner.

Wanna Buy a Goat"

From the Fieldon vicinity in Jersey county come reports of a rathehr versatile goat, an animal that chews tobacco and goes hunting. Whether such a goat is worth getting depends on what sort of goat a person would want to have around.

The tobacco-chewing propensity seems to be paramount in this animal. He will follow hunters on their rambles, but when he does so it is evidently to obtain a reward in the form of an occasional "chaw o' tobacker." The goat is said to exact tribute at fences. He will stop and pretend he can't get over the fence.

But when the hunter pulls forth a quid of tobacco, the goat will "jump the highest fence in western Jersey county." All of which explains why this goat goes hunting and for what he is hunting.

SUNSET OF POWER

Spinning a yarn as glamorous and fascinating as the West itself, Buck Jones in his latest Universal starring picture, "Sunset of Power," opens Friday at the FOX MAJESTIC Theatre.

A new phase of the West is seen in the absorbing story of an embittered old cattle baron who finds he can rule his vast range but is powerless against a force greater than might. Interwoven in this plot is another of unscrupulous thieves of the range who will stop at nothing to achieve their nefarious ends.

Hexane Gas Blamed For Blast in Chicago

11 Employees Killed and 45 Hurt in Explosion

Washington—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture announced today that studies by its chemical engineers showed an explosion at the Glidden company's plant at Chicago October 7 in which 11 employes were killed and 45 injured was caused by hexane gas ignited by a minor dust explosion.

Dr. David J. Price and Hylton R. Brown of the department's bureau of chemistry and soils reported the gas "apparently originated in the plant's soybean oil extraction room in which hexane, a petroleum product similar to naptha and gasoline, was being used as a solvent to remove oil from flaked soybeans."

Most of the gas, they believe, originated in an open tank room in which ingredients used in the processing of soybeans were mixed.

LET'S MEASURE UP STRAIGHT on your winter gasoline

If you work your starter only eight or ten times a day, from now till March 21st, that will be 400 to 500 starts altogether. Let's say you only cut your time in half on each start, using Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. Even so, that's something like saving your battery 250 starts before next Spring!

Right there Conoco Bronze might easily save you the price of a battery, or the fuss and expense of re-charging. Besides, you choke less, with Conoco Bronze, so you will not waste gasoline, or risk the life of your engine. And neither will your oil get so thin that you change it too often—another good saving.

Now Conoco Bronze costs you only the same as a gasoline you might buy for no special reason at all. Then isn't this a fair request: test a tankful of sure-start Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company, Established 1875

LET'S MEASURE UP STRAIGHT on your winter gasoline

If you work your starter only eight or ten times a day, from now till March 21st, that will be 400 to 500 starts altogether. Let's say you only cut your time in half on each start, using Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. Even so, that's something like saving your battery 250 starts before next Spring!

Right there Conoco Bronze might easily save you the price of a battery, or the fuss and expense of re-charging. Besides, you choke less, with Conoco Bronze, so you will not waste gasoline, or risk the life of your engine. And neither will your oil get so thin that you change it too often—another good saving.

Now Conoco Bronze costs you only the same as a gasoline you might buy for no special reason at all. Then isn't this a fair request: test a tankful of sure-start Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company, Established 1875

Carleton Symphony Band Conductor is Widely Recognized

Leader of College Band to Play Here Feb. 12 Well Known as Composer

Band leaders and publishers of band music throughout the United States have come to recognize in James Robert Gillette, conductor of the Carleton Symphony band of Northfield, Minn., which will play in Jacksonville Feb. 12 at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium, an active and vitalizing force in American music.

Trained as an organist and occupying a high place in the field of the organ, Mr. Gillette, who is professor of organ at Carleton College, has brought to the band many new and progressive ideas, both in instrumentation and in instrumental treatment. Much of the impetus of the symphony band movement in the United States has been due to his influence, through the medium of the Carleton Symphony band, and through his compositions written for band.

The Carleton Symphony band, founded in 1923 by Mr. Gillette, is recognized as America's foremost college symphony band. Its annual tours of 4,000 miles and more each year have carried it into many sections of the United States and into Canada. Critics in all the large musical centers have praised its great elasticity of tone, the high type of program material, and the splendid musicianship of the band personnel. The band library is largely in manuscript and contains many original compositions written especially for the Carleton Symphony band. Probably more works of Bach, the great German composer, are included in its library than in that of any other band in the world.

Professor Gillette has become known as one of the outstanding writers of band music in America. In building his programs for the Carleton Symphony band, he has sought to secure music written for band only, believing that the field has vast possibilities and should be encouraged, and has in the main avoided orchestral transcriptions.

Low Cost Housing Project Planned

Washington— (AP) —Plans for a gigantic low cost housing program were almost ready today for presentation to President Roosevelt by officials who have been quietly drafting them for him.

They call for a permanent governmental agency to direct the program over a long period of years in conjunction with states and municipalities.

Federal funds would be offered to encourage local governments to inaugurate slum clearance and housing projects. How much money the treasury will put up remains, of course, to be determined by the president and congress. But some of the planners visualize appropriations of $300,000,000 or $400,000,000 annually, to be more than doubled by local funds.

PrivateEmployment Is Helping Relief

11,193 Families Removed from Rolls in Month

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Private employment was described today as a 'major factor" in taking families off relief rolls.

A statement issued here by Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, said that last month 11,193 resident family cases on relief "were closed for reasons other than WPA employment."

He said a survey in WPA District One, covering northern counties, showed that out of 20,208 family head certified for WPA employment, 2,397 had obtained private employment.

"Because WPA certifications are not cancelled after a person is removed from the relief rolls on account of employment in private industry, there have been many instances in which persons who had previously obtained jobs have received WPA assignments and naturally have not reported for them."

"I put TERRAPLANE first because I put Safety First"

"Go ahead, kids . . . that car's got BRAKES!"

NO one needs to be reminded that safe driving in winter, more than at any other season, calls for a car that is safe.

Then why not start this new year with the "safest car on today's highways?" Terraplane—with more new and important safety features than any other low priced automobile ever had!

Bring Safety up to Date!

For safer riding, safer steering, safer stopping, Terraplane brings you Radial Safety Control (patent applied for). Here is a revolutionary principle of front axle and spring design which new owners from coast to coast are hailing as the greatest safety feature in many years.

None but the best brakes are good enough. And no other low priced car but Terraplane meets that demand with Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for). Latest and best hydraulics with a separate safety braking system that takes hold automatically if ever needed.

For added safety on the highway—greater steadiness on curves—two more 1936 improvements: Tru-Line Steering and the Rhythmic Ride.

Safer Bodies! Safer Chassis!

The world's first safety engineered chassis is now combined with America's first bodies all of steel, and seamless roof of solid steel.

There is extra safety, too, in Terraplane's record-breaking performance, to take you out of traffic "tight spots." And in the Electric Hand, an optional extra, for easier gear shifting and safer driving.

Drive safely in 1936—in a car that you know to be safe. Drive a new Terraplane.

Morgan National Farm Loan Group Names Directors

W. L. Rust Discusses Farm Conditions At Meet Of Directors

Directors of the Morgan County National Farm Loan association were re-elected at a meeting held yesterday. Directors renamed include Thomas Oxley, Fritz Trotter, Ira P. Story, Edward Hembrough and Charles Gibson. Officers of the association will be chosen at a later date.

W. L. Rust, president of the Federal Land Bank Owners, spoke at the meeting. His address was in part as follows:

"Most of the applications now being received by the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis through local national farm loan associations are from farmers not in any particular emergency but who are refinancing their debts as a matter of good business.

"In the past two and one-half years, one of the most urgent jobs facing the Federal land bank system was that of stopping farm foreclosures. In doing this the Federal land banks of the nation on their own behalf and as agents of the Land Bank Commissioners have made loans to approximately half a million farmers since May 1, 1933.

"The need for emergency refinancing to stop foreclosure of farms has largely closed. The loans have not increased the farmers' overhead indebtedness as they have been used largely to refinance existing debts, at terms which represented in most cases a saving to the farmer in credit costs.

"This farm debt refinancing has tended to stimulate farm real estate values. The past two years has seen the first general up-turn in farm land values in more than a decade. There is an increasing demand for farm land. However, it is not a boom market as a large percentage of the farms are being bought by farmers who are buying on sound terms.

"While the Federal Land Bank has been in existence since 1917, co-operative farm mortgage credit has prevailed in European countries for 150 years. However, the United States is the first nation to provide a complete and permanent system of co-operative credit. This permanent system, the Farm Credit Administration is composed of the Federal Land Bank, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, the Production Credit Corporation, and the Bank for Co-operatives. The Federal Land Bank provides long-term farm mortgage credit. The Production Credit Corporation supervises local production credit associations which obtain loan funds through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank for short-term agricultural production purposes. The Bank for Co-operatives extends both long and short-term credit to farmers' co-operative associations. The Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis serves the states of Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

"Conditions generally throughout Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, the three states served by the Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis, are greatly improved. In most areas farmers are in an easier financial position. Increased income in most sections has enabled more farmers to pay off their current debts and even to make some reduction in old obligations."

The report of the secretary of the association, M. M. Wiant showed a profit of more than $2,000 in the business of the association during the year 1935. Receipts totaled more than $10,000 and expenditures about $8,000. The stockholders elected directors for the ensuing year.

A total of $7,312.79 was paid out in salaries to maintain the loan office during the past year.

Extracts from the secretary's annual report follow:

"When I was elected as secretary there were 22 stockholders owning $9,285 worth of stock and with loans amounting to $187,700.

"When I made my report last year, we had increased our membership to 366 with loans amounting to $1,309,800. During the last year we have increased the number of our borrowers through the association to 448. Our stock has been increased to $200,000 of which $153,880 is now subscribed and our loans now amount to $3,077,600.

"During this time, we have also made 289 commissioner loans, amounting to $789,200. Recently, our association has been, by order of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, changed to an SC-2 association, and we have been made responsible for the servicing of all of these loans made.

"Your secretary-treasurer has been made the secretary-treasurer of Scott, Waverly, and the Cass-Schuyler National Farm Loan Associations and the servicing of the loans of these associations is now made through our office. This has increased the number of our loans, which we service, to 613, amounting to $4,319,275, at the first of January, 1936.

"We are most happily connected with the Jacksonville Production Credit Association which is handling the short time production and feeder loans in Morgan, Scott, Pike, Cass and Menard counties and which has, during its lifetime made 465 loans amounting to $314,783.25 and which now has on its books 202 loans, amounting to $140,609.25. These figures are of December 31, 1935.

"Naturally this has required an increase in our office force and larger facilities for handling this immense amount of business.

"The growing duties of our office has also made it necessary we secure new quarters in which to house our two associations and on the first day of February, 1936, we will move in to our quarters in the American Bankers building, over the Farm Bureau."

James V. Allred Outstanding Man

Houston, Tex., Jan. 22.—(AP)—James V. Allred, 36-year-old governor of Texas, was named by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight as the nation's "most outstanding" young man in 1935.

Allen Whitefield of Des Moines, national president, presented the organization's distinguished service key to Governor Allred at the annual banquet of the Houston chapter. It was the first presentation of what is to be an annual award.

"One has been selected not only as the outstanding young man for 1935 in the judgment of our committee, but as a young man whom others of the same age group can present to the nation as representative of the finest young men in character and achievement," Whitfield said.

Roadhouse Burns Three Injured

Litchfield, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Three persons were injured, none seriously, when a road house cafe one mile south of here burned this afternoon.

David Small, 20, an employe of the cafe known as Ruts Corner, was burned when he entered the building with a fire extinguisher. O. B. Compton, dish washer, was injured. Assistant Fire Chief Dirscoll's face was frozen as he fought the flames.

An overheated furnace started the fire.

Russell Brawley, owner of the building, estimated the damage at $15,000, said it was partially covered by insurance and announced he would rebuild. Roland Duncan operated the cafe.

Scottsboro Case Give To Jury

Decatur, Ala., Jan. 22.—(AP)—For the fourth time in five years, the case of Heywood Patterson, the first of nine negro defendants to face retrial in the Scottsboro case, was given to a jury late tonight.

The case was given the jurors at 9:30 p. m. after a charge from Judge W. W. Callahan, which with two special instructions asked by the defense, took approximately two hours.

Judge Callahan said after his charge the jury was to be locked up for the night and would begin its deliberations tomorrow morning.

The judge told the jury three verdicts were possible—acquittal, conviction with the death penalty or conviction with a penitentiary term ranging form ten years to life.

ORDER AGING OF ALL STRAIGHT WHISKIES

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Aging of all "straight" whisky was ordered today in new regulations for the distilled spirits industry.

The regulations, promulgated by Miss Josephine Roche, acting alcohol administrator, carry "the force and effect of law," and the FAA has power to revoke permits of companies which fail to comply.

All whisky labelled "straight" after July 1, 1936, must be aged one year in wood. The age requirements will be gradually increased until, after July 1, 1938, two years' aging will be required for all "straight" whisky.

The new regulations also define:

"Age" of American type whiskies as "the period during which the whisky has been kept in new oak containers, charred if used for whisky other than corn whisky x x x x."

Rye, bourbon, corn, malt, rye malt whiskies as made from mash containing at least 51 per cent of the grain mentioned.

"Blended whisky" as a "mixture which contains at least 20 per cent by volume of 100-degree proof straight whisky, and whiskies of neutral spirits, if such mixture, at the time of bottling, is not less than 80-degrees proof."

Gin must be labelled either as "distilled" or "compounded."

HELL FROZEN OVER

Hell, Mich., Jan. 22—(AP)—Hell was well frozen over tonight. The fifty-year old village, now almost abandoned, was under six inches of snow with the remainder of Livingston county, and a heavy coating of ice covered the dam and pond of Reeves Mill, about which the life of the community once gravitated.

The village, also known as Highland, attracts winter anglers who fish through the ice for pike.

Woodson callers in the city yesterday afternoon included Con Lonergan.

Herbert Simpke of Franklin was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

Outdoor Life For Many Thorobreds

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22—(AP)—Any idea the fans might have that race horses which do their best under a warm sun, are coddled in winter, is dispelled by a visit to a thoroughbred farm near Louisville where yearlings and veteran campaigners were frisking over snow covered field today with temperatures in the twenties.

Limestone water and the outdoor life while resting up for strenuous work for the coming season are two things relied on at the farm. It was established 18 years ago by Thomas M. Murphy. Since his death seven years ago Mrs. Murphy has operated the place, known as Golden Maxim Farm.

"It's the limestone in the land and the water," said Joe Bailey, chief of staff at the farm. "Nothing strengthens bone and sinews like limestone." He declared there hadn't been a case of sickness among his charges all winter.

The farm is a "boarding house" for thoroughbreds of various ages. Many tired, footsore and muscle-bound veterans are sent there in the autumn, as well as yearlings and those in the prime of their turf careers. King Saxon, monarch of the American milers in 1935, and Roman Soldier who took the Detroit derby and ran second to Omaha in the Kentucky derby last year, are the "star boarders."

High Score, the young sire which sent First Score and Elanae to the barrier last year, holds his court in one of the farm's 14 paddocks. And if all is well there will be a dozen or so gangling weanlings at Golden Maxim in the next couple of months.

Helen Moody Has Boys Guessing

By Bob Cavagnaro
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody's "poker face" puzzled the boys for many years and now her indecision as to whether she intends to return to competition this year has them guessing anew.

The California court queen arrived in the big town today and speedily side stepped any reference to her tournament plans, if any, for next summer.

Except to say her game is stronger than last year, when she signalized a comeback by winning the Wimbledon title for the seventh time, Mrs. Moody was not talkative about tennis.

The purpose of her visit, which will last about five days, was to get some information about painting—one of her principal hobbies—and consult a publisher concerning a book she is writing.

"It's really a personal visit," she said smilingly. "It has nothing to do with tennis. My game? Oh, it's much stronger than last year. I've regained much of my speed and confidence."

Mrs. Moody has been working out several times a week with Howard Kinsey to speed up her footwork, the only noticeable fault resulting from a two year layoff following her back injury at Forest Hills in 1933.

The tennis world didn't have an inkling that she intended to re-enter competition until last spring when she hurriedly packed up for a trip to Wimbledon.

"I haven't made up my mind about competition for this year," she said.

Pinky Higgins Is Not Dissatisfied

Dallas, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Persistent reports that Connie Mack has a price tag of from $75,000 to $100,000 on Frank (Pinky) Higgins caused the Philadelphia Athletics' third sacker today to comment:

"It's heck to be worth that much and have so little."

Reports that Higgins might go to the New York Yankees prompted Higgins to say:

"It would be pretty tough to leave Mr. Mack. He's a great guy. But it's only natural for a ball player to want to be on a club he thinks is a pennant contender—and those Yankees don't look bad on paper.

"I'm not a dissatisfied ball player. I never have been. If I stay in Philadelphia I'll do my best—just the same as I would if sent to Yankee Stadium."

Higgins, who batted .296 and fielded sensationally last season after losing a month at the start with a lame ankle, has been running on quail hunts during the winter months and looks in the pink.

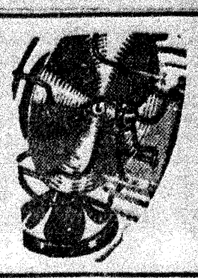

The third baseman reportedly receives a salary of $10,000 annually. He said he didn't expect to have any contract trouble this year.

Phil Cavarretta Signs Contract

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Phil Cavarretta, the National League Champion Chicago Cubs' kid first baseman, signed his 1936 contract today, becoming the first member of the squad to follow Manager Charlie Grimm into the fold.

Cavaretta, like the other regulars who joined in the spectacular finishing drive of the Cubs last September, was understood to have received a substantial increase in salary, although the terms of his contract were not revealed.

The signed contracts of two recruits, Catcher Hal Sueme of St. Louis, who was with Pine Bluff, Ark., last season and John Hutchings, a 6 foot, 2 inch 205-pound pitcher, also were received. Hutchings is a Chicago youth.

Fan Breezes

By Ernest Savage

These past two week ends have gouged a lot of prep school athletic treasuries.

Two tournaments were called off last night, one was called off last week, and a lot of games were postponed last week-end because of the sleet.

All that costs money. The loss of revenue at Winchester is particularly disheartening because the Wildcats depend upon their tournament to pay a lot of football expenses.

Postponed games cost money because of telephone calls, and in one case we have heard about, the team that wanted to postpone the game was requested to, and did pay the expenses of the officials who had started early in order to be on hand when the game was called.

Everyone connected with that game, however, seemed to be satisfied. The home team didn't have to pay for the official, the visiting team regarded the pittance paid the official as a cheap means of getting out of a hazardous trip, and the official, after being so diligent in his efforts to be on hand and not disappoint either school, was paid for his efforts.

Illinois State Nerrmal gave Wesleyan quite a game the other night, but the Titans marked up another victory by a two point margin. Wesleyan led at one time in the second half 26 to 16, but Normal rallied to tie the score at 28-all, and then lost out.

Horenberger pitched in the winning points, on a fast play which sent him under the hoop or a set-up. Each team made a free throw in the last two minutes.

That decision was almost as hard to get as Western Teachers' two point win over Bradley. Bradley came back to overhaul the Leathernecks and go into the lead but with 26 seconds to go Carol Woods banged in a goal to win 42-40.

Assignments to district tournaments have brought up some rather pointed questions. Why was Waverly sent to Greenfield and Auburn brought to Jacksonville? Auburn has to come right through Waverly to get here.

A couple years ago Girard came up from that section of the country to play in the Jacksonville district. Last year Feitshans agitated itself out of the Springfield district and into the Jacksonville district, but after getting spilled in their first round game by Winchester, had nothing to say this year, and consequently jumped back into the Springfield tournament.

Virginia is an added starter in the Jacksonville district this year. We've never been able to figure out why the Red-Heads haven't been making this tournament regularly. Ashland goes to Beardstown, however, and has to go through Virginia to get there.

Here's one thought for Springfield high—the government is spending $340,000,000 for athletic field developments. We do hope, however, that Peterman gets his new gymnasium, and that Jacksonville gets its grade schools so that it can do something about a gymnasium of sufficient size to allow a large playing court.

BARTELL SIGNS

New York, Jan 22—(AP)—A persistent hold-out a year ago, Dick Bartell, peppery shortstop, returned his signed contract today with a promptitude entirely gratifying to the New York Giants front office. Although terms were not announced, it was assumed Bartell will draw not less than the salary he snared from the club after his hold-out campaign of 1935.

Although the final games of the first round in the Y. M. C. A. Basketball league will be played tonight at the D. P. gymnasium, the results are not expected to determine the first round champions. Swifts the present leaders and favorites to annex the title should triumph easily over Lynnville this evening, but the Packers must meet Smiths' Indees in a postponed game to insure an undisputed claim. This championship contest is tentatively scheduled for the early part of next week at either the D. P. or Washington gymnasiums. In the other games tonight, Smiths meet the Jacksonville Merchants and Chevrolets mix with the Playboys. John Deem and Ira Clark will arbitrate as usual.

Carrollton Loses To Hillview Five

Carrollton, Jan. 22—The local high school basketball team ended the first half of a tussle with the Hillview cagers tonight in front by a score of 13-8. When the final second ticked off the timer's watch, Hillview was on top winning the game 39-19. It was the sixth game that the Carrollton team has lost after winning the first period.

Coach Krughoff made numerous substitutions, especially in the last half when the Hillview scorers ran through the Carrollton defense for 31 points.

Pence, Hillview forward, was high scorer for the evening with seven field goals, marking up fourteen points.

Capital To Have Athletic Plant

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—An all-round sports arena—for hockey, boxing and basketball—was projected today to give the capital its first general indoor athletic plant.

Graeme Smallwood, one of the sponsors, said plans were complete for a miniature Madison Square Garden, to have a seating capacity of 12,000.

The Securities and Exchange Commission must pass on the set-up for authority to sell stock but Smallwood said enough support already had been promised to assure the arena.

Arrangements have been made, he added, for Washington's entrance next season into the Eastern Amateur Ice Hockey League. The capital's team will be known as the "Cabinets."

Sports enthusiasts feel the proposed arena would often be filled at various contests here, where there are six college teams and where professional boxing and wrestling are legalized.

In addition to its uses for sports, Smallwood said the arena would be available for civic enterprises, operas, musicales, dances, conventions and even a circus.

He estimated it would take some five months to build the plant. Present plans are to open it around Dec 1 when a pair of nationally known professional hockey teams would play an exhibition game.

The Washington Garden, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware in December at $1,000,000, Smallwood said.

Tony Canzoneri Retains Title

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, gained a technical knockout over Brecio Garcia of Mexico in the ninth round of their ten-round non-title fight at the Star Casino tonight. The bout was halted after a minute and 39 seconds of the ninth. Canzoneri weighed 138 pounds, Garcia 137.

Canzoneri, opening a series of tune-up fights in preparation for his next title defense, was in complete command of the situation. He floored the Texas-born Mexican in the seventh round and twice in the eighth and sent him to the canvas two more times in the ninth before the referee intervened to save Garcia from further punishment.

Four Games Scheduled For Each Court Tonight; Tigers Ready to Take on Bath Five

At Ashland.

6 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Bath.
7 p. m.—Franklin vs. New Berlin.
8 p. m.—Ashland vs. Chandlerville.
9 p. m.—Converse vs. Tallula.

At Alsey.

6:45 p. m.—Hillview vs. Hardin.
7:30 p. m.—Chapin vs. Bluffs.
8:15 p. m.—South Jacksonville vs. Roodhouse.

Although highways remained open in most of this part of the state, officials in two tournament centers, Ashland and Alsey, acted quickly yesterday when King Winter took a fall out of King Basketball, to call off tournament games scheduled for their courts. High school teams are involved in the Ashland tournament, and grade school teams will compete at Alsey in the "Tin Cup" Tournament.

Officials immediately re-drafted their schedules to call for four games tonight, completing the first round of games on schedule. Semi-finals in both tournaments will be played Friday night, with the championship and consolation games set for Saturday night.

Kenneth Pittman, in charge of the Ashland tournament, called off the Ashland affair at two o'clock, notifying all of the schools scheduled to play in the first night's session, including Illinois School for the Deaf and Franklin from this county. M. G. Moore, Alsey school chief, called the grade school tournament off at ten o'clock in the morning when it became evident that a cold wave was about to strike.

Action of the officials in charge of the tournaments duplicates that of last week when Winchester was forced to call off their semi-finals Friday night because of sleet. The semi-finals were held Saturday afternoon, however, and the tournament final was played Saturday night with White Hall winning the title.

Officials at Roodhouse were looking ahead to trouble next week when the annual Greene county tournament gets underway. With vicious weather striking once each week, they are keeping their eye on the schedule of nine games in view of possible postponements.

Tigers Are Ready.

Postponement of the opening rounds of play in the two tournaments assures the fate of big double header for the new opening date, although it will bring a loss of revenue to the schools sponsoring the tournaments.

Illinois School for the Deaf cagers welcomed the one day's delay in Ashland's opener because it gave them one more day to try to tighten up their defense to stop the Bath cagers, one of the favorites to win at Beardstown. Franklin likewise welcomed the delay because it will gave two of their regulars an opportunity to get back into the line-up. Tranbarger and Bryant, a guard and a forward, were hot with the Flashes when they played Jacksonville Tuesday night.

Coach S. Robey Burns will stick to his favorite starting line-up for the game with Bath, with Wells and Rajski, forwards, Baumann or Carlson, center, Arman and Wildrich, guards.

Murrayville Here Friday.

Routt high has reversed the order of its games for this week-end, meeting Murrayville high's Shadows here Friday night and playing at Quincy Senior high on Saturday night. The change was made to accommodate Quincy, which has another game booked for Friday night.

Coach Frank Walker is going out after the Feitshans Flyers this Friday night on the David Prince court, the 14th victory if it comes home. The Crimsons have won 13 out of 14 games thus far, and Feitshans probably will offer them more opposition than any team they have met so far.

Chapin H. S. Wins From Woodson

Refuse To Concur In Suspension

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today declined to concur with the Cuban commission in the suspension of Mike Jacobs and Julian Black for the failure of Joe Louis to go through with his bout with Isadore Gastanaga in Havana.

The Cuban commission had suspended Jacobs as promoter of the fight for six months and fined him $500. Black, one of Louis' managers, drew a three months suspension.

In announcing its decision, the state commission said the action of the Cuban body was inconsistent with the rules of the New York commission as neither Jacobs nor Black had been granted a license in Cuba. The Cuban commission charged Jacobs, who called off the bout, with "lack of seriousness and guilty of improper conduct."

As an aftermath of the decision a few weeks ago which threatened a break between the commission and Madison Square Garden, the commission said it would grant a license to Hank Bath, California heavyweight and protege of Jack Kearns. Bath had been refused a license on the eve of his battle with Red Burman until the commission received word on his standing in California.

Says May West's Play Not Indecent

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The histrionic deficiencies of a police clerk had Mae West's manager scowling tonight as he prepared to stage his play, "Ladies By Request," in court tomorrow—in an effort to prove it is not indecent.

The clerk, Arthur Custer, a member of the police party which raided and closed the show last Dec. 20, rendered some of the play's presumably funny "lines."

The jury was bored. The overflow audience was silent. And Jim Timony, Mae West's manager, was disgusted.

"If he'd give them gags a little bit of business they'd get over better," Timony grumbled.

"The play is funny—but it ain't indecent."

"Ladies by request," as it appeared in a script offered in evidence, is a somewhat tenuous farce depicting the misadventures of two neglected wives who set out to do something about it.

Their husbands attempted to retaliate by hiring college chums to impersonate women. The wives kidnap the "women" and a bed-room scene closes the drama.

Leroy A. Goddard Banker, Is Dead

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—LeRoy A. Goddard, 81, who served as mayor of Marion, Ill., when he was 23 years old and devoted half a century to the banking business in Illinois, died at the Passavant hospital today.

Goddard, who retired as chairman of the board of the State Bank of Chicago in 1929, was born in Marion. Before coming to Chicago in 1892 he organized the First National Bank at Mount Carmel, Ill.

For years he was known as dean of bankers in Chicago. He served as president of the State Bank for 10 years. Goddard was a former president of the Chicago Clearing House Association.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Brenidenthal Goddard. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Carnegie Hero Fund Awards

Pittsburgh, Jan. 22—(AP)—The Carnegie hero fund commission recognized 21 acts of heroism in 13 states and the District of Columbia today, awarding one silver medal and 20 bronze medals.

Eight of the heroes lost their lives attempting to save others. Among these are Jake A. Cranfield, Birchwood, Tenn., awarded the silver medal posthumously.

Cranfield, a 52-year old farmer, died last September 7 at the bottom of a 47-foot well at Georgetown, Tenn., where he tried to rescue William A. Parker, 55, and Parker's 15-year old son from gas that killed all three.

Four bronze medals went to Illinois.

HOT ASHES CAUSE FIRE IN BASEMENT

Hot ashes which had been placed in heavy cardboard boxes caused a small blaze yesterday morning in the basement of Mrs. Margaret Brown's residence, 1205 West College avenue. Firemen responded to an alarm and took care of the situation. The run was made at 9:20 o'clock.

At 6:30 a. m., a flue burned out at the home of Rev. George Scrimger, 1336 West Lafayette avenue, also resulting in a fire alarm.

Morgan National Farm Loan Group Names Directors

W. L. Rust Discusses Farm Conditions At Meet Of Directors

Directors of the Morgan County National Farm Loan association were re-elected at a meeting held yesterday. Directors renamed include Thomas Oxley, Fritz Trotter, Ira P. Story, Edward Hembrough and Charles Gibson. Officers of the association will be chosen at a later date.

W. L. Rust, president of the Federal Land Bank Owners, spoke at the meeting. His address was in part as follows:

"Most of the applications now being received by the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis through local national farm loan associations are from farmers not in any particular emergency but who are refinancing their debts as a matter of good business.

"In the past two and one-half years, one of the most urgent jobs facing the Federal land bank system was that of stopping farm foreclosures. In doing this the Federal land banks of the nation on their own behalf and as agents of the Land Bank Commissioners have made loans to approximately half a million farmers since May 1, 1933.

"The need for emergency refinancing to stop foreclosure of farms has largely closed. The loans have not increased the farmers' overhead indebtedness as they have been used largely to refinance existing debts, at terms which represented in most cases a saving to the farmer in credit costs.

"This farm debt refinancing has tended to stimulate farm real estate values. The past two years has seen the first general up-turn in farm land values in more than a decade. There is an increasing demand for farm land. However, it is not a boom market as a large percentage of the farms are being bought by farmers who are buying on sound terms.

"While the Federal Land Bank has been in existence since 1917, co-operative farm mortgage credit has prevailed in European countries for 150 years. However, the United States is the first nation to provide a complete and permanent system of co-operative credit. This permanent system, the Farm Credit Administration is composed of the Federal Land Bank, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, the Production Credit Corporation, and the Bank for Co-operatives. The Federal Land Bank provides long-term farm mortgage credit. The Production Credit Corporation supervises local production credit associations which obtain loan funds through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank for short-term agricultural production purposes. The Bank for Co-operatives extends both long and short-term credit to farmers' co-operative associations. The Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis serves the states of Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

"Conditions generally throughout Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, the three states served by the Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis, are greatly improved. In most areas farmers are in an easier financial position. Increased income in most sections has enabled more farmers to pay off their current debts and even to make some reduction in old obligations."

The report of the secretary of the association, M. M. Want showed a profit of more than $2,000 in the business of the association during the year 1935. Receipts totaled more than $10,000 and expenditures about $8,000. The stockholders elected directors for the ensuing year.

A total of $7,312.79 was paid out in salaries to maintain the loan office during the past year.

Extracts from the secretary's annual report follow:

"When I was elected as secretary there were 22 stockholders owning $9,285 worth of stock and with loans amounting to $187,700.

"When I made my report last year, we had increased our membership to 366 with loans amounting to $1,309,800. During the last year we have increased the number of our borrowers through the association to 448. Our stock has been increased to $200,000 of which $153,880 is now subscribed and our loans now amount to $3,077,600.

"During this time, we have also made 289 commissioner loans, amounting to $799,200. Recently, our association has been, by order of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, changed to an SC-2 association, and we have been made responsible for the servicing of all of these loans made.

"Your secretary-treasurer has been made the secretary-treasurer of Scott, Waverly, and the Cass-Schuyler National Farm Loan Associations and the servicing of the loans of these associations is now made through our office. This has increased the number of our loans, which we service, to 613, amounting to $4,319,275, at the first of January, 1936.

"We are most happily connected with the Jacksonville Production Credit Association which is handling the short time production and feeder loans in Morgan, Scott, Pike, Cass and Menard counties and which has, during its lifetime made 465 loans amounting to $314,783.25 and which now has on its books 202 loans, amounting to $140,609.25. These figures are of December 31, 1935.

"Naturally this has required an increase in our office force and larger facilities for handling this immense amount of business.

"The growing duties of our office has also made it necessary we secure new quarters in which to house our two associations and on the first day of February, 1936, we will move in to our quarters in the American Bankers building, over the Farm Bureau."

James V. Allred Outstanding Man

Houston, Tex., Jan. 22.—(AP)—James V. Allred, 36-year-old governor of Texas, was named by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight as the nation's "most outstanding" young man in 1935.

Allen Whitefield of Des Moines, national president, presented the organization's distinguished service key to Governor Allred at the annual banquet of the Houston chapter. It was the first presentation of what is to be an annual award.

"One has been selected not only as the outstanding young man for 1935 in the judgment of our committee, but as a young man whom others of the same age group can present to the nation as representative of the finest young men in character and achievement," Whitfield said.

Roadhouse Burns Three Injured

Litchfield, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Three persons were injured, none seriously, when a road house cafe one mile south of here burned this afternoon.

David Small, 20, an employe of the cafe known as Ruts Corner, was burned when he entered the building with a fire extinguisher. O. B. Compton, dish washer, was injured. Assistant Fire Chief Dirscoll's face was frozen as he fought the flames.

An overheated furnace started the fire.

Russell Brawley, owner of the building, estimated the damage at $15,000, said it was partially covered by insurance and announced he would rebuild. Roland Duncan operated the cafe.

Scottsboro Case Give To Jury

Decatur, Ala., Jan. 22.—(AP)—For the fourth time in five years, the case of Heywood Patterson, the first of nine negro defendants to face retrial in the Scottsboro case, was given to a jury late tonight.

The case was given the jurors at 9:30 p. m., after a charge from Judge W. W. Callahan, which with two special instructions asked by the defense, took approximately two hours.

Judge Callahan said after his charge the jury was to be locked up for the night and would begin its deliberations tomorrow morning.

The judge told the jury three verdicts were possible—acquittal, conviction with the death penalty or conviction with a penitentiary term ranging form ten years to life.

ORDER AGING OF ALL STRAIGHT WHISKIES

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Aging of all "straight" whisky was ordered today in new regulations for the distilled spirits industry.

The regulations, promulgated by Miss Josephine Roche, acting alcohol administrator, carry "the force and effect of law," and the FAA has power to revoke permits of companies which fail to comply.

All whisky labelled "straight" after July 1, 1936, must be aged one year in wood. The age requirements will be gradually increased until, after July 1, 1938, two years' aging will be required for all "straight" whisky.

The new regulations also define:

"Age" of American type whiskies as "the period during which the whisky has been kept in new oak containers, charred if used for whisky other than corn whisky x x x x."

Rye, bourbon, corn, malt, rye malt whiskies as made from mash containing at least 51 per cent of the grain mentioned.

"Blended whisky" as a "mixture which contains at least 20 per cent by volume of 100-degree proof straight whisky, and whiskies of neutral spirits, if such mixture, at the time of bottling, is not less than 80-degrees proof."

Gin must be labelled either as "distilled" or "compounded."

HELL FROZEN OVER

Hell, Mich., Jan. 22—(AP)—Hell was well frozen over tonight. The fifty-year old village, now almost abandoned, was under six inches of snow with the remainder of Livingston county, and a heavy coating of ice covered the dam and pond of Reeves Mill, about which the life of the community once gravitated.

The village, also known as Highland, attracts winter anglers who fish through the ice for pike.

Woodson callers in the city yesterday afternoon included Con Lonergan.

Herbert Simpke of Franklin was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

Outdoor Life For Many Thorobreds

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22—(AP)—Any idea the fans might have that race horses which do their best under a warm sun, are coddled in winter, is dispelled by a visit to a thoroughbred farm near Louisville where yearlings and veteran campaigners were frisking over snow covered field today with temperatures in the twenties.

Limestone water and the outdoor life while resting up for strenuous work for the coming season are two things relied on at the farm. It was established 18 years ago by Thomas M. Murphy. Since his death seven years ago Mrs. Murphy has operated the place, known as Golden Maxim Farm.

"It's the limestone in the land and the water," said Joe Bailey, chief of staff at the farm. "Nothing strengthens bone and sinews like limestone." He declared there hadn't been a case of sickness among his charges all winter.

The farm is a "boarding house" for thoroughbreds of various ages. Many tired, footsore and muscle-bound veterans are sent there in the autumn, as well as yearlings and those in the prime of their turf careers. King Saxon, monarch of the American milers in 1935, and Roman Soldier who took the Detroit derby and ran second to Omaha in the Kentucky derby last year, are the "star boarders."

High Score, the young sire which sent First Score and Elanac to the barrier last year, holds his court in one of the farm's 14 paddocks. And if all is well there will be a dozen or so gangling weanlings at Golden Maxim in the next couple of months.

Helen Moody Has Boys Guessing

By Bob Cavagnaro
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody's "poker face" puzzled the boys for many years and now her indecision as to whether she intends to return to competition this year has them guessing anew.

The California court queen arrived in the big town today and speedily side stepped any reference to her tournament plans, if any, for next summer.

Except to say her game is stronger than last year, when she signalized a comeback by winning the Wimbledon title for the seventh time, Mrs. Moody was not talkative about tennis.

The purpose of her visit, which will last about five days, was to get some information about painting—one of her principal hobbies—and consult a publisher concerning a book she is writing.

"It's really a personal visit," she said smilingly. "It has nothing to do with tennis. My game? Oh, it's much stronger than last year. I've regained much of my speed and confidence."

Mrs. Moody has been working out several times a week with Howard Kinsey to speed up her footwork, the only noticeable fault resulting from a two year layoff following her back injury at Forest Hills in 1933.

The tennis world didn't have an inkling that she intended to re-enter competition until last spring when she hurriedly packed up for a trip to Wimbledon.

"I haven't made up my mind about competition for this year," she said.

Pinky Higgins Is Not Dissatisfied

Dallas, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Persistent reports that Connie Mack has a price tag of from $75,000 to $100,000 on Frank (Pinky) Higgins caused the Philadelphia Athletics' third sacker today to comment:

"It's heck to be worth that much and have so little."

Reports that Higgins might go to the New York Yankees prompted Higgins to say:

"It would be pretty tough to leave Mr. Mack. He's a great guy. But it's only natural for a ball player to want to be on a club he thinks is a pennant contender—and those Yankees don't look bad on paper.

"I'm not a dissatisfied ball player. I never have been. If I stay in Philadelphia I'll do my best—just the same as I would if sent to Yankee Stadium."

Higgins, who batted .296 and fielded sensationally last season after losing a month at the start with a lame ankle, has been running on quail hunts during the winter months and looks in the pink.

The third baseman reportedly receives a salary of $10,000 annually. He said he didn't expect to have any contract trouble this year.

Phil Cavarretta Signs Contract

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Phil Cavarretta, the National League Champion Chicago Cubs' kid first baseman, signed his 1936 contract today, becoming the first member of the squad to follow Manager Charlie Grimm into the fold.

Cavaretta, like the other regulars who joined in the spectacular finishing drive of the Cubs last September, was understood to have received a substantial increase in salary, although the terms of his contract were not revealed.

The signed contracts of two recruits, Catcher Hal Sueme of St. Louis, who was with Pine Bluff, Ark., last season, and John Hutchings, a 6 foot, 2 inch, 200-pound pitcher, also were received. Hutchings is a Chicago youth.

Fan Breezes

By Ernest Savage

These past two week ends have gouged a lot of prep school athletic treasuries.

Two tournaments were called off last night, one was called off last week, and a lot of games were postponed last week-end because of the sleet.

All that costs money. The loss of revenue at Winchester is particularly disheartening because the Wildcats depend upon their tournament to pay a lot of football expenses.

Postponed games cost money because of telephone calls, and in one case we have heard about, the team that wanted to postpone the game was requested to, and did pay the expenses of the officials who had started early in order to be on hand when the game was called.

Everyone connected with that game, however, seemed to be satisfied. The home team didn't have to pay for the official, the visiting team regarded the pittance paid the official as a cheap means of getting out of a hazardous trip, and the official, after being so diligent in his efforts to be on hand and not disappoint either school, was paid for his efforts.

Illinois State Nerrmal gave Wesleyan quite a game the other night, but the Titans marked up another victory by a two point margin. Wesleyan led at one time in the second half 26 to 16, but Normal rallied to tie the score at 28-all, and then lost out.

Horenberger pitched in the winning points, on a fast play which sent him under the hoop or a set-up. Each team made a free throw in the last two minutes.

That decision was almost as hard to get as Western Teachers' two point win over Bradley. Bradley came back to overhaul the Leathernecks and go into the lead but with 26 seconds to go Carol Woods banged in a goal to win 42-40.

Assignments to district tournaments have brought up some rather pointed questions. Why was Waverly sent to Greenfield and Auburn brought to Jacksonville? Auburn has to come right through Waverly to get here.

A couple years ago Girard came up from that section of the country to play in the Jacksonville district. Last year Feitshans agitated itself out of the Springfield district and into the Jacksonville district, but after getting spilled in their first round game by Winchester, had nothing to say this year, and consequently jumped back into the Springfield tournament.

Virginia is an added starter in the Jacksonville district this year. We've never been able to figure out why the Red-Heads haven't been making this tournament regularly. Ashland goes to Beardstown, however, and has to go through Virginia to get there.

Here's one thought for Springfield high—the government is spending $340,000,000 for athletic field developments. We do hope, however, that Peterman gets his new gymnasium, and that Jacksonville gets its grade schools so that it can do something about a gymnasium of sufficient size to allow a large playing court.

BARTELL SIGNS

New York, Jan 22—(AP)—A persistent hold-out a year ago, Dick Bartell, peppery shortstop, returned his signed contract today with a promptitude entirely gratifying to the New York Giants' front office. Although terms were not announced, it was assumed Bartell will draw not less than the salary he snared from the club after his hold-out campaign of 1935.

8:50 p. m.—Swifts vs. Lynnville.

Although the final games of the first round in the Y. M. C. A. Basketball league will be played tonight at the D. P. gymnasium, the results are not expected to determine the first round champions. Swifts the present leaders and favorites to annex the title should triumph easily over Lynnville this evening, but the Packers must meet Smiths' Indees in a postponed game to insure an undisputed claim. This championship contest is tentatively scheduled for the early part of next week at either the D. P. or Washington gymnasiums. In the other games tonight, Smiths meet the Jacksonville Merchants and Chevrolets mix with the Playboys. John Deem and Ira Clark will arbitrate as usual.

Carrollton Loses To Hillview Five

Carrollton, Jan. 22—The local high school basketball team ended the first half of a tussle with the Hillview cagers tonight in front by a score of 13-8. When the final second ticked off the timer's watch, Hillview was on top winning the game 39-19. It was the sixth game that the Carrollton team has lost after winning the first period.

Coach Krughoff made numerous substitutions, especially in the last half when the Hillview scorers ran through the Carrollton defense for 31 points.

Pence, Hillview forward, was high scorer for the evening with seven field goals, marking up fourteen points.

Capital To Have Athletic Plant

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—An all-round sports arena—for hockey, boxing and basketball—was projected today to give the capital its first general indoor athletic plant.

Graeme Smallwood, one of the sponsors, said plans were complete for a miniature Madison Square Garden, to have a seating capacity of 12,000.

The Securities and Exchange Commission must pass on the set-up for authority to sell stock but Smallwood said enough support already had been promised to assure the arena.

Arrangements have been made, he added, for Washington's entrance next season into the Eastern Amateur Ice Hockey League. The capital's team will be known as the "Cabinets."

Sports enthusiasts feel the proposed arena would often be filled at various contests here, where there are six college teams and where professional boxing and wrestling are legalized.

In addition to its uses for sports, Smallwood said the arena would be available for civic enterprises, operas, musicales, dances, conventions and even a circus.

He estimated it would take some five months to build the plant. Present plans are to open it around Dec 1 when a pair of nationally known professional hockey teams would play an exhibition game.

The Washington Garden, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware in December at $1,000,000, Smallwood said.

Tony Canzoneri Retains Title

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, gained a technical knockout over Brecio Garcia of Mexico in the ninth round of their ten-round non-title fight at the Star Casino tonight. The bout was halted after a minute and 39 seconds of the ninth. Canzoneri weighed 138 pounds, Garcia 137.

Canzoneri, opening a series of tune-up fights in preparation for his next title defense, was in complete command of the situation. He floored the Texas-born Mexican in the seventh round and twice in the eighth and sent him to the canvas two more times in the ninth before the referee intervened to save Garcia from further punishment.

Four Games Scheduled For Each Court Tonight; Tigers Ready to Take on Bath Five

At Ashland.

6 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Bath.
7 p. m.—Franklin vs. New Berlin.
8 p. m.—Ashland vs. Chandlerville.
9 p. m.—Converse vs. Tallula.

At Alsey.

6 p. m.—Alsey vs. Kampsville.
6:45 p. m.—Hillview vs. Hardin.
7:30 p. m.—Chapin vs. Bluffs.
8:15 p. m.—South Jacksonville vs. Roodhouse.

Although highways remained open in most of this part of the state, officials in two tournament centers, Ashland and Alsey, acted quickly yesterday when King Winter took a fall out of King Basketball, to call off tournament games scheduled for their courts. High school teams are involved in the Ashland tournament, and grade school teams will compete at Alsey in the "Tin Cup" Tournament.

Officials immediately re-drafted their schedules to call for four games tonight, completing the first round of games on schedule. Semi-finals in both tournaments will be played Friday night, with the championship and consolation games set for Saturday night.

Kenneth Pittman, in charge of the Ashland tournament, called off the Ashland affair at two o'clock, notifying all of the schools scheduled to play in the first night's session, including Illinois School for the Deaf and Franklin from this county. M. G. Moore, Alsey school chief, called the grade school tournament off at ten o'clock in the morning when it became evident that a cold wave was about to strike.

Action of the officials in charge of the tournaments duplicates that of last week when Winchester was forced to call off their semi-finals Friday night because of sleet. The semi-finals were held Saturday afternoon, however, and the tournament final was played Saturday night with White Hall winning the title.

Officials at Roodhouse were looking ahead to trouble next week when the annual Greene county tournament gets underway. With vicious weather striking once each week, they are keeping their eye on the schedule of nine games in view of possible postponements.

Tigers Are Ready.

Postponement of the opening rounds of play in the two tournaments assures the fans of big double headers for the new opening date, although it will bring a loss of revenue to the schools sponsoring the tournaments.

Illinois School for the Deaf cagers welcomed the one day's delay in Ashland's opener, because it gave them one more day to try to tighten up their defense to stop the Bath cagers, one of the favorites to win at Beardstown. Franklin likewise welcomed the delay because it will gave two of their regulars an opportunity to get back into the line-up. Tranbarger and Bryant, a guard and a forward, were hot with the Flashes when they played Jacksonville Tuesday night.

Coach S. Robey Burns will stick to his favorite starting line-up for the game with Bath, with Wells and Rajski, forwards, Baumann or Carlson, center, Arman and Wildrich, guards.

Murrayville Here Friday.

Routt high has reversed the order of its games for this week-end, meeting Murrayville high's Shadows here Friday night and playing at Quincy Senior high on Saturday night. The change was made to accommodate Quincy, which has another game booked for Friday night.

Coach Frank Walker is going out after the Feitshans Flyers this Friday night on the David Prince court, the 14th victory if it comes home. The Crimsons have won 13 out of 14 games thus far, and Feitshans probably will offer them more opposition than any team they have met so far.

Chapin H.S. Wins From Woodson

Chapin, Jan. 22.—Chapin high's quintet defeated a Woodson team here this evening, by a score of 28 to 21. Leeper, Woodson forward, was high point man in the game.

Refuse To Concur In Suspension

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today declined to concur with the Cuban commission in the suspension of Mike Jacobs and Julian Black for the failure of Joe Louis to go through with his bout with Isadore Gastanaga in Havana.

The Cuban commission had suspended Jacobs as promoter of the fight for six months and fined him $500. Black, one of Louis' managers, drew a three months suspension.

In announcing its decision, the state commission said the action of the Cuban body was inconsistent with the rules of the New York commission as neither Jacobs nor Black had been granted a license in Cuba. The Cuban commission charged Jacobs, who called off the bout, with "lack of seriousness and guilty of improper conduct."

As an aftermath of the decision a few weeks ago which threatened a break between the commission and Madison Square Garden, the commission said it would grant a license to Hank Bath, California heavyweight and protege of Jack Kearns. Bath had been refused a license on the eve of his battle with Red Burman until the commission received word on his standing in California.

Says May West's Play Not Indecent

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The histrionic deficiencies of a police clerk had Mae West's manager scowling tonight as he prepared to stage his play, "Ladies By Request," in court tomorrow—in an effort to prove it is not indecent.

The clerk, Arthur Custer, a member of the police party which raided and closed the show last Dec. 20, rendered some of the play's presumably funny "lines."

The jury was bored. The overflow audience was silent. And Jim Timony, Mae West's manager, was disgusted.

"If he'd give them gags a little bit of business they'd get over better," Timony grumbled.

"The play is funny—but it ain't indecent."

"Ladies by request," as it appeared in a script offered in evidence, is a somewhat tenuous farce depicting the misadventures of two neglected wives who set out to do something about it.

Their husbands attempted to retaliate by hiring college chums to impersonate women. The wives kidnap the "women" and a bed-room scene closes the drama.

Leroy A. Goddard Banker, Is Dead

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—LeRoy A. Goddard, 81, who served as mayor of Marion, Ill., when he was 23 years old and devoted half a century to the banking business in Illinois, died at the Passavant hospital today.

Goddard, who retired as chairman of the board of the State Bank of Chicago in 1929, was born in Marion. Before coming to Chicago in 1892 he organized the First National Bank at Mount Carmel, Ill.

For years he was known as dean of bankers in Chicago. He served as president of the State Bank for 10 years. Goddard was a former president of the Chicago Clearing House Association.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Brenidenthal Goddard. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Carnegie Hero Fund Awards

Pittsburgh, Jan. 22—(AP)—The Carnegie hero fund commission recognized 21 acts of heroism in 13 states and the District of Columbia today, awarding one silver medal and 20 bronze medals.

Eight of the heroes lost their lives attempting to save others. Among these are Jake A. Cranfield, Birchwood, Tenn., awarded the silver medal posthumously.

Cranfield, a 52-year old farmer, died last September 7 at the bottom of a 47-foot well at Georgetown, Tenn., where he tried to rescue William A. Parker, 55, and Parker's 15-year old son from gas that killed all three.

Four bronze medals went to Illinois.

HOT ASHES CAUSE FIRE IN BASEMENT

Hot ashes which had been placed in heavy cardboard boxes caused a small blaze yesterday morning in the basement of Mrs. Margaret Brown's residence, 1205 West College avenue. Firemen responded to an alarm and took care of the situation. The run was made at 9:20 o'clock.

At 6:30 a. m., a flue burned out at the home of Rev. George Scrimger, 1336 West Lafayette avenue, also resulting in a fire alarm.

Wheat Values Up Cent A Bushel

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Fears of crop damage by severe cold in sections southwest minus any snow blanket did much today to lift wheat about a cent a bushel.

Improved export demand for wheat counted also as a stimulus to higher prices. Canadian export business was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels. Talk was current that inasmuch as practically all Texas wheat and most of Oklahoma's can be shipped to the Gulf of Mexico as cheaply as to Kansas City, it may not be long before United States markets get help in the nature of foreign buying of American new crop futures.

Wheat closed firm, ¼ above yesterday's finish, May $1.00¾-7, corn ¾-⅞ up, May 60¾-¼, oats ¼-½ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

May wheat contracts climbed to $1.00¾, but follow-up buying orders were scarce on the bulge. Anxiety as to likelihood of the cold wave harming crops was chiefly manifest regarding southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. A lagging tendency of Winnipeg prices served, however as a check on advances elsewhere, notwithstanding continued good demand for red winter wheat to go from Chicago to interior mills.

New York Stock Prices Higher

By Frank MacMillen,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Stock market prices had the best single-session advance today in some six weeks.

The improvement extended over a wide front, with plus signs predominating over minus markers by more than 5 to 1, as the Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended a full point ahead at 57.7.

General gains in leaders ran from fractions to more than 4 points, although trading was conducted at a sedate pace until just at the finish.

The buying stemmed from no very clear psychological impulse, brokers said. It appeared to possess a tinge of inflationary sentiment, perhaps in final recognition of the passage of the bonus bill.

At the same time the reaction to the fall of the Laval cabinet at Paris was mixed. To some the development appeared ta cast a shadow over the future of the franc in world exchange.

Others appeared equally confident that even if the franc were devalued, which was by no means assured at present, it might prove helpful in the long run by promoting a quicker undertaking of international stabilization of currencies.

Commodities were firm, but lacking the active demand which characterized the equity market. Corn was up ⅜ ta ½ of a cent. Cotton finished ahead 15 to 65 cents a bale.

An advance to ½ from ¼ of 1 per cent by New York banks in their c harges on call loans against U. S. government securities and bankers bills was said to be of chief concern to dealers in that field and to the banks which required more compensatory returns on loans.

All Livestock Prices Higher

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Severe cold weather put snap into the livestock trade today and all prices were sharply higher. Choice steers suitable for shipping were in best demand and the top for these got up to $15, highest in more than a month. Buyers anticipated an improvement in the demand for dressed meat along with the cold weather.

Hogs closed 15 to 25 cents higher with the top at $10.25, highest price since the runaway market the day following the Supreme Court's AAA decision. The trade had only 21,000 fresh hogs and these were picked up quickly. Packers had 9,000 direct.

Shippers led the buying of better grade slaughter cattle. The bulk of those with quality sold at $13 upward and numerous loads brought $13 to $14.25. Lower grade cattle were unevenly strong to 25 cents higher.

Fat lambs advanced 15 to 25 cents, the top reaching $10.60. Sheep, however, were steady to weak and feeding lambs showed little change.

THIS PIPER Pays His Own BILL!

Of the Pied Piper of Hamelin . . .

How he rid the good people
Of that town of their rats
And mice and other unwantables
After every other means had failed.
You remember, too, how he
Presented his bill and the
Dreadful toll he exacted when
He found they couldn't pay . . . .

In some respects a Daily
Journal and Courier
Want Ad is like the Pied Piper . . .
It will rid your home of
The old radio, old sofa, old beds
And other unwantables when every other
Means would fail . . . .
But there's one exception—THIS
Piper pays his own bill!
For the trifling cost of a
Daily Journal and Courier Want Ad
is made up,
Many, many times over by the
Dollars and cents RESULTS you'll get
By Calling "63" and
Asking for an Ad-Taker.

A Daily Journal and Courier Want Ad can get rid of the old furniture cluttering up your home in short order—and the money you'll receive for it can be used as down payment on a set of lovely new home furnishings.

Wheat Values Up Cent A Bushel

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Fears of crop damage by severe cold in sections southwest minus any snow blanket did much today to lift wheat about a cent a bushel.

Improved export demand for wheat counted also as a stimulus to higher prices. Canadian export business was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels. Talk was current that inasmuch as practically all Texas wheat and most of Oklahoma's can be shipped to the Gulf of Mexico as cheaply as to Kansas City, it may not be long before United States markets get help in the nature of foreign buying of American new crop futures.

Wheat closed firm, -¼ above yesterday's finish, May $1.00⅜-½, corn ⅜-½ up, May 60⅜-½, oats ¼-⅜ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

May wheat contracts climbed to $1.00¾, but follow-up buying orders were scarce on the bulge. Anxiety as to likelihood of the cold wave harming crops was chiefly manifest regarding southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. A lagging tendency of Winnipeg prices served, however as a check on advances elsewhere, notwithstanding continued good demand for red winter wheat to go from Chicago to interior mills.

New York Stock Prices Higher

By Frank MacMillen,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Stock market prices had the best single-session advance today in some six weeks.

The improvement extended over a wide front, with plus signs predominating over minus markers by more than 5 to 1, as the Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended a full point ahead at 57.7.

General gains in leaders ran from fractions to more than 4 points, although trading was conducted at a sedate pace until just at the finish.

The buying stemmed from no very clear psychological impulse, brokers said. It appeared to possess a tinge of inflationary sentiment, perhaps in final recognition of the passage of the bonus bill.

At the same time the reaction to the fall of the Laval cabinet at Paris was mixed. To some the development appeared ta cast a shadow over the future of the franc in world exchange.

Others appeared equally confident that even if the franc were devalued, which was by no means assured at present, it might prove helpful in the long run by promoting a quicker undertaking of international stabilization of currencies.

Commodities were firm, but lacking the active demand which characterized the equity market. Corn was up ⅜ ta ½ of a cent. Cotton finished ahead 15 to 65 cents a bale.

An advance to ½ from 1 of 1 per cent by New York banks in their c harges on call loans against U. S. government securities and bankers bills was said to be of chief concern to dealers in that field and to the banks which required more compensatory returns on loans.

"Daddy will understand." 16-year-old Ruth Moffett, daughter of wealthy James A. Moffett, oil company executive, insisted when her elopement marriage to Warren Johnson, 24, became known. All Livestock Prices Higher

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Severe cold weather put snap into the livestock trade today and all prices were sharply higher. Choice steers suitable for shipping were in best demand and the top for these got up to $15, highest in more than a month. Hogs closed 15 to 25 cents higher with the top at $10.25, highest price since the runaway market the day following the Supreme Court's AAA decision. The trade had only 21,000 fresh hogs and these were picked up quickly. Packers had 9,000 direct.

Shippers led the buying of better grade slaughter cattle. The bulk of those with quality sold at $13 upward and numerous loads brought $13 to $14.25. Lower grade cattle were unevenly strong to 25 cents higher.

Fat lambs advanced 15 to 25 cents, the top reaching $10.60. Sheep, however, were steady to weak and feeding lambs showed little change.

Morgan National Farm Loan Group Names Directors

W. L. Rust Discusses Farm Conditions At Meet Of Directors

Directors of the Morgan County National Farm Loan association were re-elected at a meeting held yesterday. Directors renamed include Thomas Oxley, Fritz Trotter, Ira P. Story, Edward Hembrough and Charles Gibson. Officers of the association will be chosen at a later date.

W. L. Rust, president of the Federal Land Bank Owners, spoke at the meeting. His address was in part as follows:

"Most of the applications now being received by the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis through local national farm loan associations are from farmers not in any particular emergency but who are refinancing their debts as a matter of good business.

"In the past two and one-half years, one of the most urgent jobs facing the Federal land bank system was that of stopping farm foreclosures. In doing this the Federal land banks of the nation on their own behalf and as agents of the Land Bank Commissioners have made loans to approximately half a million farmers since May 1, 1933.

"The need for emergency refinancing to stop foreclosure of farms has largely closed. The loans have not increased the farmers' overhead indebtedness as they have been used largely to refinance existing debts, at terms which represented in most cases a saving to the farmer in credit costs.

"This farm debt refinancing has tended to stimulate farm real estate values. The past two years has seen the first general up-turn in farm land values in more than a decade. There is an increasing demand for farm land. However, it is not a boom market as a large percentage of the farms are being bought by farmers who are buying on sound terms.

"While the Federal Land Bank has been in existence since 1917, co-operative farm mortgage credit has prevailed in European countries for 150 years. However, the United States is the first nation to provide a complete and permanent system of co-operative credit. This permanent system, the Farm Credit Administration is composed of the Federal Land Bank, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, the Production Credit Corporation, and the Bank for Co-operatives. The Federal Land Bank provides long-term farm mortgage credit. The Production Credit Corporation supervises local production credit associations which obtain loan funds through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank for short-term agricultural production purposes. The Bank for Co-operatives extends both long and short-term credit to farmers' co-operative associations. The Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis serves the states of Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

"Conditions generally throughout Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, the three states served by the Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis, are greatly improved. In most areas farmers are in an easier financial position. Increased income in most sections has enabled more farmers to pay off their current debts and even to make some reduction in old obligations.

"The report of the secretary of the association, M. M. Want showed a profit of more than $2,000 in the business of the association during the year 1935. Receipts totaled more than $10,000 and expenditures about $8,000. The stockholders elected directors for the ensuing year.

A total of $7,312.79 was paid out in salaries to maintain the loan office during the past year.

Extracts from the secretary's annual report follow:

"When I was elected as secretary there were 22 stockholders owning $9,285 worth of stock and with loans amounting to $187,700.

"When I made my report last year, we had increased our membership to 366 with loans amounting to $1,309,800. During the last year we have increased the number of our borrowers through the association to 448. Our stock has been increased to $200,000 of which $153,880 is now subscribed and our loans now amount to $3,077,600.

"During this time we have also made 289 commissioner loans, amounting to $799,200. Recently, our association has been, by order of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, changed to an SC-2 association, and we have been made responsible for the servicing of all of these loans made.

"Your secretary-treasurer has been made the secretary-treasurer of Scott, Waverly, and the Cass-Schuyler National Farm Loan Associations and the servicing of the loans of these associations is now made through our office. This has increased the number of our loans, which we service, to 813, amounting to $4,319,275, at the first of January, 1936.

"We are most happily connected with the Jacksonville Production Credit Association which is handling the short time production and feeder loans in Morgan, Scott, Pike, Cass and Menard counties and which has, during its lifetime made 465 loans amounting to $314,783.25 and which now has on its books 202 loans, amounting to $140,609.25. These figures are of December 31, 1935.

"Naturally this has required an increase in our office force and larger facilities for handling this immense amount of business.

"The growing duties of our office has also made it necessary we secure new quarters in which to house our two associations and on the first day of February, 1936, we will move in to our quarters in the American Bankers building, over the Farm Bureau."

James V. Allred Outstanding Man

Houston, Tex., Jan. 22.—(AP)—James V. Allred, 36-year-old governor of Texas, was named by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight as the nation's "most outstanding" young man in 1935.

Allen Whitefield of Des Moines, national president, presented the organization's distinguished service key to Governor Allred at the annual banquet of the Houston chapter. It was the first presentation of what is to be an annual award.

"One has been selected not only as the outstanding young man for 1935 in the judgment of our committee, but as a young man whom others of the same age group can present to the nation as representative of the finest young men in character and achievement," Whitfield said.

Roadhouse Burns Three Injured

Litchfield, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Three persons were injured, none seriously, when a road house cafe one mile south of here burned this afternoon.

David Small, 20, an employe of the cafe known as Ruts Corner, was burned when he entered the building with a fire extinguisher. O. B. Compton, dish washer, was injured. Assistant Fire Chief Dirseoll's face was frozen as he fought the flames.

An overheated furnace started the fire.

Russell Brawley, owner of the building, estimated the damage at $15,000, said it was partially covered by insurance and announced he would rebuild. Roland Duncan operated the cafe.

Scottsboro Case Give To Jury

Decatur, Ala., Jan. 22.—(AP)—For the fourth time in five years, the case of Heywood Patterson, the first of nine negro defendants to face retrial in the Scottsboro case, was given to a jury late tonight.

The case was given the jurors at 9:30 p. m., after a charge from Judge W. W. Callahan, which with two special instructions asked by the defense, took approximately two hours.

Judge Callahan said after his charge the jury was to be locked up for the night and would begin its deliberations tomorrow morning.

The judge told the jury three verdicts were possible—acquittal, conviction with the death penalty or conviction with a penitentiary term ranging form ten years to life.

ORDER AGING OF ALL STRAIGHT WHISKIES

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Aging of all "straight" whisky was ordered today in new regulations for the distilled spirits industry.

The regulations, promulgated by Miss Josephine Roche, acting alcohol administrator, carry "the force and effect of law," and the FAA has power to revoke permits of companies which fail to comply.

All whisky labelled "straight" after July 1, 1936, must be aged one year in wood. The age requirements will be gradually increased until, after July 1, 1938, two years' aging will be required for all "straight" whisky.

The new regulations also define:

"Age" of American type whiskies as "the period during which the whisky has been kept in new oak containers, charred if used for whisky other than corn whisky x x x x."

Rye, bourbon, corn, malt, rye malt whiskies as made from mash containing at least 51 per cent of the grain mentioned.

"Blended whisky" as a "mixture which contains at least 20 per cent by volume of 100-degree proof straight whisky, and whiskies of neutral spirits, if such mixture, at the time of bottling, is not less than 80-degrees proof."

Gin must be labelled either as "distilled" or "compounded."

HELL FROZEN OVER

Hell, Mich., Jan. 22—(AP)—Hell was well frozen over tonight. The fifty-year old village, now almost abandoned, was under six inches of snow with the remainder of Livingston county, and a heavy coating of ice covered the dam and pond of Reeves Mill, about which the life of the community once gravitated.

The village, also known as Highland, attracts winter anglers who fish through the ice for pike.

Woodson callers in the city yesterday afternoon included Con Lonergan.

Outdoor Life For Many Thorobreds

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22—(AP)—Any idea the fans might have that race horses which do their best under a warm sun, are coddled in winter, is dispelled by a visit to a thoroughbred farm near Louisville where yearlings and veteran campaigners were frisking over snow covered field today with temperatures in the twenties.

Limestone water and the outdoor life while resting up for strenuous work for the coming season are two things relied on at the farm. It was established 18 years ago by Thomas M. Murphy. Since his death seven years ago Mrs. Murphy has operated the place, known as Golden Maxim Farm.

"Use the limestone in the land and the water," said Joe Bailey, chief of staff at the farm. "Nothing strengthens bone and sinews like limestone." He declared there hadn't been a case of sickness among his charges all winter.

The farm is a "boarding house" for thoroughbreds of various ages. Many tired, footsore and muscle-bound veterans are sent there in the autumn, as well as yearlings and those in the prime of their turf careers. King Saxon, monarch of the American milers in 1935, and Roman Soldier who took the Detroit derby and ran second to Omaha in the Kentucky derby last year, are the "star boarders."

High Score, the young sire which sent First Score and Elanac to the barrier last year, holds his court in one of the farm's 14 paddocks. And if all is well there will be a dozen or so gangling weanlings at Golden Maxim in the next couple of months.

Helen Moody Has Boys Guessing

By Bob Cavagnaro
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody's "poker face" puzzled the boys for many years and now her indecision as to whether she intends to return to competition this year has them guessing anew.

The California court queen arrived in the big town today and speedily side stepped any reference to her tournament plans, if any, for next summer.

Except to say her game is stronger than last year, when she signalized a comeback by winning the Wimbledon title for the seventh time, Mrs. Moody was not talkative about tennis.

The purpose of her visit, which will last about five days, was to get some information about painting—one of her principal hobbies—and consult a publisher concerning a book she is writing.

"It's really a personal visit," she said smilingly. "It has nothing to do with tennis. My game? Oh, it's much stronger than last year. I've regained much of my speed and confidence."

Mrs. Moody has been working out several times a week with Howard Kinsey to speed up her footwork, the only noticeable fault resulting from a two year layoff following her back injury at Forest Hills in 1933.

The tennis world didn't have an inkling that she intended to re-enter competition until last spring when she hurriedly packed up for a trip to Wimbledon.

"I haven't made up my mind about competition for this year," she said.

Pinky Higgins Is Not Dissatisfied

Dallas, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Persistent reports that Connie Mack has a price tag of from $75,000 to $100,000 on Frank (Pinky) Higgins caused the Philadelphia Athletics' third sacker today to comment:

"It's heck to be worth that much and have so little."

Reports that Higgins might go to the New York Yankees prompted Higgins to say:

"It would be pretty tough to leave Mr. Mack. He's a great guy. But it's only natural for a ball player to want to be on a club he thinks is a pennant contender—and those Yankees don't look bad on paper.

"I'm not a dissatisfied ball player. I never have been. If I stay in Philadelphia I'll do my best—just the same as I would if sent to Yankee Stadium."

Higgins, who batted .296 and fielded sensationally last season after losing a month at the start with a lame ankle, has been running on quail hunts during the winter months and looks in the pink.

The third baseman reportedly receives a salary of $10,000 annually. He said he didn't expect to have any contract trouble this year.

Phil Cavarretta Signs Contract

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Phil Cavarretta, the National League Champion Chicago Cubs' kid first baseman, signed his 1936 contract today, becoming the first member of the squad to follow Manager Charlie Grimm into the fold.

Cavaretta, like the other regulars who joined in the spectacular finishing drive of the Cubs last September, was understood to have received a substantial increase in salary, although the terms of his contract were not revealed.

The signed contracts of two recruits, Catcher Hal Sueme of St. Louis, who was with Pine Bluff, Ark., last season, and John Hutchings, a 6 foot, 2 inch, 200-pound pitcher, also were received. Hutchings is a Chicago youth.

Fan Breezes

By Ernest Savage

These past two week ends have gouged a lot of prep school athletic treasuries.

Two tournaments were called off last night, one was called off last week, and a lot of games were postponed last week-end because of the sleet.

All that costs money. The loss of revenue at Winchester is particularly disheartening because the Wildcats depend upon their tournament to pay a lot of football expenses.

Postponed games cost money because of telephone calls, and in one case we have heard about, the team that wanted to postpone the game was requested to, and did pay the expenses of the officials who had started early in order to be on hand when the game was called.

Everyone connected with that game, however, seemed to be satisfied. The home team didn't have to pay for the official, the visiting team regarded the pittance paid the official as a cheap means of getting out of a hazardous trip, and the official, after being so diligent in his efforts to be on hand and not disappoint either school, was paid for his efforts.

Illinois State Nerrmal gave Wesleyan quite a game the other night, but the Titans marked up another victory by a two point margin. Wesleyan led at one time in the second half 26 to 16, but Normal rallied to tie the score at 28-all, and then lost out.

Horenberger pitched in the winning points, on a fast play which sent him under the hoop or a set-up. Each team made a free throw in the last two minutes.

That decision was almost as hard to get as Western Teachers' two point win over Bradley. Bradley came back to overhaul the Leathernecks and go into the lead but with 26 seconds to go Carol Woods banged in a goal to win 42-40.

Assignments to district tournaments have brought up some rather pointed questions. Why was Waverly sent to Greenfield and Auburn brought to Jacksonville? Auburn has to come right through Waverly to get here.

A couple years ago Girard came up from that section of the country to play in the Jacksonville district. Last year Feitshans agitated itself out of the Springfield district and into the Jacksonville district, but after getting spilled in their first round game by Winchester, had nothing to say this year, and consequently jumped back into the Springfield tournament.

Virginia is an added starter in the Jacksonville district this year. We've never been able to figure out why the Red-Heads haven't been making this tournament regularly. Ashland goes to Beardstown, however, and has to go through Virginia to get there.

Here's one thought for Springfield high—the government is spending $340,000,000 for athletic field developments. We do hope, however, that Peterman gets his new gymnasium, and that Jacksonville gets its grade schools so that it can do something about a gymnasium of sufficient size to allow a large playing court.

BARTELL SIGNS

New York, Jan 22—(AP)—A persistent hold-out a year ago, Dick Bartell, peppery shortstop, returned his signed contract today with a promptitude entirely gratifying to the New York Giants' front office. Although terms were not announced, it was assumed Bartell will draw not less than the salary he snared from the club after his hold-out campaign of 1935.

8:50 p. m.—Swifts vs. Lynnville.

Although the final games of the first round in the Y. M. C. A. Basketball league will be played tonight at the D. P. gymnasium, the results are not expected to determine the first round champions. Swifts the present leaders and favorites to annex the title should triumph easily over Lynnville this evening, but the Packers must meet Smiths' Indees in a postponed game to insure an undisputed claim. This championship contest is tentatively scheduled for the early part of next week at either the D. P. or Washington gymnasiums. In the other games tonight, Smiths meet the Jacksonville Merchants and Chevrolets mix with the Playboys. John Deem and Ira Clark will arbitrate as usual.

Carrollton Loses To Hillview Five

Carrollton, Jan. 22—The local high school basketball team ended the first half of a tussle with the Hillview cagers tonight in front by a score of 13-8. When the final second ticked off the timer's watch, Hillview was on top winning the game 39-19. It was the sixth game that the Carrollton team has lost after winning the first period.

Coach Krughoff made numerous substitutions, especially in the last half when the Hillview scorers ran through the Carrollton defense for 31 points.

Pence, Hillview forward, was high scorer for the evening with seven field goals, marking up fourteen points.

Capital To Have Athletic Plant

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—An all-round sports arena—for hockey, boxing and basketball—was projected today to give the capital its first general indoor athletic plant.

Graeme Smallwood, one of the sponsors, said plans were complete for a miniature Madison Square Garden, to have a seating capacity of 12,000.

The Securities and Exchange Commission must pass on the set-up for authority to sell stock but Smallwood said enough support already had been promised to assure the arena.

Arrangements have been made, he added, for Washington's entrance next season into the Eastern Amateur Ice Hockey League. The capital's team will be known as the "Cabinets."

Sports enthusiasts feel the proposed arena would often be filled at various contests here, where there are six college teams and where professional boxing and wrestling are legalized.

In addition to its uses for sports, Smallwood said the arena would be available for civic enterprises, operas, musicales, dances, conventions and even a circus.

He estimated it would take some five months to build the plant. Present plans are to open it around Dec 1 when a pair of nationally known professional hockey teams would play an exhibition game.

The Washington Garden, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware in December at $1,000,000, Smallwood said.

Tony Canzoneri Retains Title

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, gained a technical knockout over Brecio Garcia of Mexico in the ninth round of their ten-round non-title fight at the Star Casino tonight. The bout was halted after a minute and 39 seconds of the ninth. Canzoneri weighed 138 pounds, Garcia 137.

Canzoneri, opening a series of tune-up fights in preparation for his next title defense, was in complete command of the situation. He floored the Texas-born Mexican in the seventh round and twice in the eighth and sent him to the canvas two more times in the ninth before the referee intervened to save Garcia from further punishment.

Four Games Scheduled For Each Court Tonight; Tigers Ready to Take on Bath Five

At Ashland.

6 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Bath.
7 p. m.—Franklin vs. New Berlin.
8 p. m.—Ashland vs. Chandlerville.
9 p. m.—Converse vs. Tallula.

At Alsey.

6 p. m.—Alsey vs. Kampsville.
6:45 p. m.—Hillview vs. Hardin.
7:30 p. m.—Chapin vs. Bluffs.
8:15 p. m.—South Jacksonville vs. Roodhouse.

Although highways remained open in most of this part of the state, officials in two tournament centers, Ashland and Alsey, acted quickly yesterday when King Winter took a fall out of King Basketball, to call off tournament games scheduled for their courts. High school teams are involved in the Ashland tournament, and grade school teams will compete at Alsey in the "Tin Cup" Tournament.

Officials immediately re-drafted their schedules to call for four games tonight, completing the first round of games on schedule. Semi-finals in both tournaments will be played Friday night, with the championship and consolation games set for Saturday night.

Kenneth Pittman, in charge of the Ashland tournament, called off the Ashland affair at two o'clock, notifying all of the schools scheduled to play in the first night's session, including Illinois School for the Deaf and Franklin from this county. M. G. Moore, Alsey school chief, called the grade school tournament off at ten o'clock in the morning when it became evident that a cold wave was about to strike.

Action of the officials in charge of the tournaments duplicates that of last week when Winchester was forced to call off their semi-finals Friday night because of sleet. The semi-finals were held Saturday afternoon, however, and the tournament final was played Saturday night with White Hall winning the title.

Officials at Roodhouse were looking ahead to trouble next week when the annual Greene county tournament gets underway. With vicious weather striking once each week, they are keeping their eye on the schedule of nine games in view of possible postponements.

Tigers Are Ready.

Postponement of the opening rounds of play in the two tournaments assures the fans of big double headers for the new opening date, although it will bring a loss of revenue to the schools sponsoring the tournaments.

Illinois School for the Deaf cagers welcomed the one day's delay in Ashland's opener, because it gave them one more day to try to tighten up their defense to stop the Bath cagers, one of the favorites to win at Beardstown. Franklin likewise welcomed the delay because it will gave two of their regulars an opportunity to get back into the line-up. Tranberger and Bryant, a guard and a forward were hot with the Flashes when they played Jacksonville Tuesday night.

Coach S. Robey Burns will stick to his favorite starting line-up for the game with Bath, with Wells and Rajski, forwards, Baumann or Carlson, center, Arman and Wildrich, guards.

Murrayville Here Friday.

Routt high has reversed the order of its games for this week-end, meeting Murrayville high's Shadows here Friday night and playing at Quincy Senior high on Saturday night. The change was made to accommodate Quincy, which has another game booked for Friday night.

Coach Frank Walker is going out after the Feitshans Flyers this Friday night on the David Prince court, the 14th victory if it comes home. The Crimsons have won 13 out of 14 games thus far, and Feitshans probably will offer them more opposition than any team they have met so far.

RUSH TO BATHING BEACHES

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Southern California bathing beaches were well patronized today, when the temperature rose to 78 in Los Angeles. Nearby foothill regions were even warmer.

Refuse To Concur In Suspension

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today declined to concur with the Cuban commission in the suspension of Mike Jacobs and Julian Black for the failure of Joe Louis to go through with his bout with Isadore Gastanaga in Havana.

The Cuban commission had suspended Jacobs as promoter of the fight for six months and fined him $500. Black, one of Louis' managers, drew a three months suspension.

In announcing its decision, the state commission said the action of the Cuban body was inconsistent with the rules of the New York commission as neither Jacobs nor Black had been granted a license in Cuba. The Cuban commission charged Jacobs, who called off the bout, with "lack of seriousness and guilty of improper conduct."

As an aftermath of the decision a few weeks ago which threatened a break between the commission and Madison Square Garden, the commission said it would grant a license to Hank Bath, California heavyweight and protege of Jack Kearns. Bath had been refused a license on the eve of his battle with Red Burman until the commission received word on his standing in California.

Says May West's Play Not Indecent

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The histrionic deficiencies of a police clerk had Mae West's manager scowling tonight as he prepared to stage his play, "Ladies By Request," in court tomorrow—in an effort to prove it is not indecent.

The clerk, Arthur Custer, a member of the police party which raided and closed the show last Dec. 20, rendered some of the play's presumably funny "lines."

"The jury was bored. The overflow audience was silent. And Jim Timony, Mae West's manager, was disgusted.

"If he'd give them gags a little bit of business they'd get over better," Timony grumbled.

"The play is funny—but it ain't indecent."

"Ladies by request," as it appeared in a script offered in evidence, is a somewhat tenuous farce depicting the misadventures of two neglected wives who set out to do something about it.

Their husbands attempted to retaliate by hiring college chums to impersonate women. The wives kidnap the "women" and a bed-room scene closes the drama.

Leroy A. Goddard Banker, Is Dead

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22.—(AP)—LeRoy A. Goddard, 81, who served as mayor of Marion, Ill., when he was 23 years old and devoted half a century to the banking business in Illinois, died at the Passavant hospital today.

Goddard, who retired as chairman of the board of the State Bank of Chicago in 1929, was born in Marion. Before coming to Chicago in 1892 he organized the First National Bank at Mount Carmel, Ill.

For years he was known as dean of bankers in Chicago. He served as president of the State Bank for 10 years. Goddard was a former president of the Chicago Clearing House Association.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Brenidenthal Goddard. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Carnegie Hero Fund Awards

Pittsburgh, Jan. 22—(AP)—The Carnegie hero fund commission recognized 21 acts of heroism in 13 states and the District of Columbia today, awarding one silver medal and 20 bronze medals.

Eight of the heroes lost their lives attempting to save others. Among these are Jake A. Cranfield, Birchwood, Tenn., awarded the silver medal posthumously.

Cranfield, a 52-year old farmer, died last September 7 at the bottom of a 47-foot well at Georgetown, Tenn., where he tried to rescue William A. Parker, 55, and Parker's 15-year old son from gas that killed all three.

Four bronze medals went to Illinois.

HOT ASHES CAUSE FIRE IN BASEMENT

Hot ashes which had been placed in heavy cardboard boxes caused a small blaze yesterday morning in the basement of Mrs. Margaret Brown's residence, 1205 West College avenue. Firemen responded to an alarm and took care of the situation. The run was made at 9:20 o'clock.

At 6:30 a. m., a flue burned out at the home of Rev. George Scrimger, 1336 West Lafayette avenue, also resulting in a fire alarm.

Morgan National Farm Loan Group Names Directors

W. L. Rust Discusses Farm Conditions At Meet Of Directors

Directors of the Morgan County National Farm Loan association were re-elected at a meeting held yesterday. Directors renamed include Thomas Oxley, Fritz Trotter, Ira P Story, Edward Hembrough and Charles Gibson. Officers of the association will be chosen at a later date.

W. L. Rust, president of the Federal Land Bank Owners, spoke at the meeting. His address was in part as follows:

"Most of the applications now being received by the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis through local national farm loan associations are from farmers not in any particular emergency but who are refinancing their debts as a matter of good business.

"In the past two and one-half years, one of the most urgent jobs facing the Federal land bank system was that of stopping farm foreclosures. In doing this the Federal land banks of the nation on their own behalf and as agents of the Land Bank Commissioners have made loans to approximately half a million farmers since May 1, 1933.

"The need for emergency refinancing to stop foreclosure of farms has largely closed. The loans have not increased the farmers' overhead indebtedness as they have been used largely to refinance existing debts at terms which represented in most cases a saving to the farmer in credit costs.

"This farm debt refinancing has tended to stimulate farm real estate values. The past two years has seen the first general up-turn in farm land values in more than a decade. There is an increasing demand for farm land. However, it is not a boom market as a large percentage of the farms are being bought by farmers who are buying on sound terms.

"While the Federal Land Bank has been in existence since 1917, co-operative farm mortgage credit has prevailed in European countries for 150 years. However, the United States is the first nation to provide a complete and permanent system of co-operative credit. This permanent system, the Farm Credit Administration is composed of the Federal Land Bank, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, the Production Credit Corporation, and the Bank for Co-operatives. The Federal Land Bank provides long-term farm mortgage credit. The Production Credit Corporation supervises local production credit associations which obtain loan funds through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank for short-term agricultural production purposes. The Bank for Co-operatives extends both long and short-term credit to farmers' co-operative associations. The Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis serves the states of Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

"Conditions generally throughout Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, the three states served by the Farm Credit Administration of St. Louis, are greatly improved. In most areas farmers are in an easier financial position. Increased income in most sections has enabled more farmers to pay off their current debts and even to make some reduction in old obligations."

The report of the secretary of the association, M. M. Want showed a profit of more than $2,000 in the business of the association during the year 1935. Receipts totaled more than $10,000 and expenditures about $8,000. The stockholders elected directors for the ensuing year.

A total of $7,312.79 was paid out in salaries to maintain the loan office during the past year.

Extracts from the secretary's annual report follow:

"When I was elected as secretary there were 22 stockholders owning $9,285 worth of stock and with loans amounting to $187,700.

"When I made my report last year, we had increased our membership to 366 with loans amounting to $1,309,600. During the last year we have increased the number of our borrowers through the association to 448. Our stock has been increased to $200,000 of which $153,880 is now subscribed and our loans now amount to $3,077,600.

"During this time, we have also made 289 commissioner loans, amounting to $799,200. Recently, our association has been, by order of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, changed to an SC-2 association, and we have been made responsible for the servicing of all of these loans made.

"Your secretary-treasurer has been made the secretary-treasurer of Scott, Waverly, and the Cass-Schuyler National Farm Loan Associations and the servicing of the loans of these associations is now made through our office. This has increased the number of our loans, which we service, to 813, amounting to $4,310,275, at the first of January, 1936.

"We are most happily connected with the Jacksonville Production Credit Association which is handling the short time production and feeder loans in Morgan, Scott, Pike, Cass and Menard counties and which has, during its lifetime made 465 loans amounting to $314,783.25 and which now has on its books 202 loans amounting to $140,609.25. These figures are of December 31, 1935.

"Naturally this has required an increase in our office force and larger facilities for handling this immense amount of business.

"The growing duties of our office has also made it necessary we secure new quarters in which to house our two associations and on the first day of February, 1936, we will move in to our quarters in the American Bankers building, over the Farm Bureau."

James V. Allred Outstanding Man

Houston, Tex., Jan. 22.—(AP)—James V. Allred, 36-year-old governor of Texas, was named by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight as the nation's "most outstanding" young man in 1935.

Allen Whitefield of Des Moines, national president, presented the organization's distinguished service key to Governor Allred at the annual banquet of the Houston chapter. It was the first presentation of what is to be an annual award.

"One has been selected not only as the outstanding young man for 1935 in the judgment of our committee, but as a young man whom others of the same age group can present to the nation as representative of the finest young men in character and achievement," Whitfield said.

Roadhouse Burns Three Injured

Litchfield, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Three persons were injured, none seriously, when a road house cafe one mile south of here burned this afternoon.

David Small, 20, an employe of the cafe known as Ruts Corner, was burned when he entered the building with a fire extinguisher. O. B. Compton, dish washer, was injured. Assistant Fire Chief Dirscoll's face was frozen as he fought the flames.

An overheated furnace started the fire.

Russell Brawley, owner of the building, estimated the damage at $15,000, said it was partially covered by insurance and announced he would rebuild. Roland Duncan operated the cafe.

Scottsboro Case Give To Jury

Decatur, Ala., Jan. 22.—(AP)—For the fourth time in five years, the case of Heywood Patterson, the first of nine negro defendants to face retrial in the Scottsboro case, was given to a jury late tonight.

The case was given the jurors at 9:30 p. m. after a charge from Judge W. W. Callahan, which with two special instructions asked by the defense, took approximately two hours.

Judge Callahan said after his charge the jury was to be locked up for the night and would begin its deliberations tomorrow morning.

The judge told the jury three verdicts were possible—acquittal, conviction with the death penalty or conviction with a penitentiary term ranging form ten years to life.

ORDER AGING OF ALL STRAIGHT WHISKIES

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Aging of all "straight" whisky was ordered today in new regulations for the distilled spirits industry.

The regulations, promulgated by Miss Josephine Roche, acting alcohol administrator, carry "the force and effect of law," and the FAA has power to revoke permits of companies which fail to comply.

All whisky labelled "straight" after July 1, 1936, must be aged one year in wood. The age requirements will be gradually increased until, after July 1, 1938, two years' aging will be required for all "straight" whisky.

The new regulations also define:

"Age" of American type whiskies as "the period during which the whisky has been kept in new oak containers, charred if used for whisky other than corn whisky x x x x."

Rye, bourbon, corn, malt, rye malt whiskies as made from mash containing at least 51 per cent of the grain mentioned.

"Blended whisky" as a "mixture which contains at least 20 per cent by volume of 100-degree proof straight whisky, and whiskies of neutral spirits, if such mixture, at the time of bottling, is not less than 80-degrees proof."

Gin must be labelled either as "distilled" or "compounded."

HELL FROZEN OVER

Hell, Mich., Jan. 22—(AP)—Hell was well frozen over tonight. The fifty-year old village, now almost abandoned, was under six inches of snow with the remainder of Livingston county, and a heavy coating of ice covered the dam and pond of Reeves Mill, about which the life of the community once gravitated.

The village, also known as Highland, attracts winter anglers who fish through the ice for pike.

Woodson callers in the city yesterday afternoon included Con Lonergan.

Outdoor Life For Many Thorobreds

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22—(AP)—Any idea the fans might have that race horses which do their best under a warm sun, are coddled in winter, is dispelled by a visit to a thoroughbred farm near Louisville where yearlings and veteran campaigners were frisking over snow covered field today with temperatures in the twenties.

Limestone water and the outdoor life while resting up for strenuous work for the coming season are two things relied on at the farm. It was established 18 years ago by Thomas M. Murphy. Since his death seven years ago Mrs. Murphy has operated the place, known as Golden Maxim Farm.

"It's the limestone in the land and the water," said Joe Bailey, chief of staff at the farm. "Nothing strengthens bone and sinews like limestone." He declared there hadn't been a case of sickness among his charges all winter.

The farm is a "boarding house" for thoroughbreds of various ages. Many tired, footsore and muscle-bound veterans are sent there in the autumn, as well as yearlings and those in the prime of their turf careers. King Saxon, monarch of the American milers in 1935, and Roman Soldier who took the Detroit derby and ran second to Omaha in the Kentucky derby last year, are the "star boarders."

High Score, the young sire which sent First Score and Elanac to the barrier last year, holds his court in one of the farm's 14 paddocks. And if all is well there will be a dozen or so gangling weanlings at Golden Maxim in the next couple of months.

Helen Moody Has Boys Guessing

By Bob Cavagnaro
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody's "poker face" puzzled the boys for many years and now her indecision as to whether she intends to return to competition this year has them guessing anew.

The California court queen arrived in the big town today and speedily side stepped any reference to her tournament plans, if any, for next summer.

Except to say her game is stronger than last year, when she signalized a comeback by winning the Wimbledon title for the seventh time, Mrs. Moody was not talkative about tennis.

The purpose of her visit, which will last about five days, was to get some information about painting—one of her principal hobbies—and consult a publisher concerning a book she is writing.

"It's really a personal visit," she said smilingly. "It has nothing to do with tennis. My game? Oh, it's much stronger than last year. I've regained much of my speed and confidence."

Mrs. Moody has been working out several times a week with Howard Kinsey to speed up her footwork, the only noticeable fault resulting from a two year layoff following her back injury at Forest Hills in 1933.

The tennis world didn't have an inkling that she intended to re-enter competition until last spring when she hurriedly packed up for a trip to Wimbledon.

"I haven't made up my mind about competition for this year," she said.

Pinky Higgins Is Not Dissatisfied

Dallas, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Persistent reports that Connie Mack has a price tag of from $75,000 to $100,000 on Frank (Pinky) Higgins caused the Philadelphia Athletics' third sacker today to comment:

"It's heck to be worth that much and have so little."

Reports that Higgins might go to the New York Yankees prompted Higgins to say:

"It would be pretty tough to leave Mr. Mack. He's a great guy. But it's only natural for a ball player to want to be on a club he thinks is a pennant contender—and those Yankees don't look bad on paper.

"I'm not a dissatisfied ball player. I never have been. If I stay in Philadelphia I'll do my best—just the same as I would if sent to Yankee Stadium."

Higgins, who batted .296 and fielded sensationally last season after losing a month at the start with a lame ankle, has been running on quail hunts during the winter months and looks in the pink.

The third baseman reportedly receives a salary of $10,000 annually. He said he didn't expect to have any contract trouble this year.

Phil Cavarretta Signs Contract

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Phil Cavarretta, the National League Champion Chicago Cubs' kid first baseman, signed his 1936 contract today, becoming the first member of the squad to follow Manager Charlie Grimm into the fold.

Cavaretta, like the other regulars who joined in the spectacular finishing drive of the Cubs last September, was understood to have received a substantial increase in salary, although the terms of his contract were not revealed.

The signed contracts of two recruits, Catcher Hal Sueme of St. Louis, who was with Pine Bluff, Ark., last season and John Hutchings, a 6 foot, 2 inch, 200-pound pitcher, also were received. Hutchings is a Chicago youth.

These past two week ends have gouged a lot of prep school athletic treasuries.

Two tournaments were called off last night, one was called off last week, and a lot of games were postponed last week-end because of the sleet.

All that costs money. The loss of revenue at Winchester is particularly disheartening because the Wildcats depend upon their tournament to pay a lot of football expenses.

Postponed games cost money because of telephone calls, and in one case we have heard about, the team that wanted to postpone the game was requested to, and did pay the expenses of the officials who had started early in order to be on hand when the game was called.

Everyone connected with that game, however, seemed to be satisfied. The home team didn't have to pay for the official, the visiting team regarded the pittance paid the official as a cheap means of getting out of a hazardous trip, and the official, after being so diligent in his efforts to be on hand and not disappoint either school, was paid for his efforts.

Illinois State Normal gave Wesleyan quite a game the other night, but the Titans marked up another victory by a two point margin. Wesleyan led at one time in the second half 26 to 16, but Normal rallied to tie the score at 28-all, and then lost out.

Horenberger pitched in the winning points, on a fast play which sent him under the hoop or a set-up. Each team made a free throw in the last two minutes.

That decision was almost as hard to get as Western Teachers' two point win over Bradley. Bradley came back to overhaul the Leathernecks and go into the lead but with 26 seconds to go Carol Woods banged in a goal to win 42-40.

Assignments to district tournaments have brought up some rather pointed questions. Why was Waverly sent to Greenfield and Auburn brought to Jacksonville? Auburn has to come right through Waverly to get here.

A couple years ago Girard came up from that section of the country to play in the Jacksonville district. Last year Feitshans agitated itself out of the Springfield district and into the Jacksonville district, but after getting spilled in their first round game by Winchester, had nothing to say this year, and consequently jumped back into the Springfield tournament.

Virginia is an added starter in the Jacksonville district this year. We've never been able to figure out why the Red-Heads haven't been making this tournament regularly. Ashland goes to Beardstown, however, and has to go through Virginia to get there.

Here's one thought for Springfield high—the government is spending $340,000,000 for athletic field developments. We do hope, however, that Peterman gets his new gymnasium, and that Jacksonville gets its grade schools so that it can do something about a gymnasium of sufficient size to allow a large playing court.

BARTELL SIGNS

New York, Jan 22—(AP)—A persistent hold-out a year ago, Dick Bartell, peppery shortstop, returned his signed contract today with a promptitude entirely gratifying to the New York Giants' front office. Although terms were not announced, it was assumed Bartell will draw not less than the salary he snared from the club after his hold-out campaign of 1935.

Games Tonight

7:10 p. m.—Chevrolet vs. Playboys.
8:00 p. m.—Merchants vs. Smiths.
8:50 p. m.—Swifts vs. Lynnville.

Although the final games of the first round in the Y. M. C. A. Basketball league will be played tonight at the D. P. gymnasium, the results are not expected to determine the first round champions. Swifts the present leaders and favorites to annex the title should triumph easily over Lynnville this evening, but the Packers must meet Smiths' Indees in a postponed game to insure an undisputed claim. This championship contest is tentatively scheduled for the early part of next week at either the D. P. or Washington gymnasiums. In the other games tonight, Smiths meet the Jacksonville Merchants and Chevrolets mix with the Playboys. John Deem and Ira Clark will arbitrate as usual.

Carrollton Loses To Hillview Five

Carrollton, Jan. 22—The local high school basketball team ended the first half of a tussle with the Hillview cagers tonight in front by a score of 13-8. When the final second ticked off the timer's watch, Hillview was on top winning the game 39-19. It was the sixth game that the Carrollton team has lost after winning the first period.

Coach Krughoff made numerous substitutions, especially in the last half when the Hillview scorers ran through the Carrollton defense for 31 points.

Pence, Hillview forward, was high scorer for the evening with seven field goals, marking up fourteen points.

Capital To Have Athletic Plant

Washington, Jan. 22—(AP)—An all-round sports arena—for hockey, boxing and basketball—was projected today to give the capital its first general indoor athletic plant.

Graeme Smallwood, one of the sponsors, said plans were complete for a miniature Madison Square Garden, to have a seating capacity of 12,000.

The Securities and Exchange Commission must pass on the set-up for authority to sell stock but Smallwood said enough support already had been promised to assure the arena.

Arrangements have been made, he added, for Washington's entrance next season into the Eastern Amateur Ice Hockey League. The capital's team will be known as the "Cabinets."

Sports enthusiasts feel the proposed arena would often be filled at various contests here, where there are six college teams and where professional boxing and wrestling are legalized.

In addition to its uses for sports, Smallwood said the arena would be available for civic enterprises, operas, musicales, dances, conventions and even a circus.

He estimated it would take some five months to build the plant. Present plans are to open it around Dec 1 when a pair of nationally known professional hockey teams would play an exhibition game.

The Washington Garden, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware in December at $1,000,000, Smallwood said.

Tony Canzoneri Retains Title

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, gained a technical knockout over Brecio Garcia of Mexico in the ninth round of their ten-round non-title fight at the Star Casino tonight. The bout was halted after a minute and 39 seconds of the ninth. Canzoneri weighed 138 pounds, Garcia 137.

Canzoneri, opening a series of tune-up fights in preparation for his next title defense, was in complete command of the situation. He floored the Texas-born Mexican in the seventh round and twice in the eighth and sent him to the canvas two more times in the ninth before the referee intervened to save Garcia from further punishment.

Four Games Scheduled For Each Court Tonight; Tigers Ready to Take on Bath Five

At Ashland.

6 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Bath.
7 p. m.—Franklin vs. New Berlin.
8 p. m.—Ashland vs. Chandlerville.
9 p. m.—Converse vs. Tallula.

At Alsey.

6 p. m.—Alsey vs. Kampsville.
6:45 p. m.—Hillview vs. Hardin.
7:30 p. m.—Chapin vs. Bluffs.
8:15 p. m.—South Jacksonville vs. Roodhouse.

Although highways remained open in most of this part of the state, officials in two tournament centers, Ashland and Alsey, acted quickly yesterday when King Winter took a fall out of King Basketball, to call off tournament games scheduled for their courts. High school teams are involved in the Ashland tournament, and grade school teams will compete at Alsey in the "Tin Cup" Tournament.

Officials immediately re-drafted their schedules to call for four games tonight, completing the first round of games on schedule. Semi-finals in both tournaments will be played Friday night, with the championship and consolation games set for Saturday night.

Kenneth Pittman, in charge of the Ashland tournament, called off the Ashland affair at two o'clock, notifying all of the schools scheduled to play in the first night's session, including Illinois School for the Deaf and Franklin from this county. M. G. Moore, Alsey school chief, called the grade school tournament off at ten o'clock in the morning when it became evident that a cold wave was about to strike.

Action of the officials in charge of the tournaments duplicates that of last week when Winchester was forced to call off their semi-finals Friday night because of sleet. The semi-finals were held Saturday afternoon, however, and the tournament final was played Saturday night with White Hall winning the title.

Officials at Roodhouse were looking ahead to trouble next week when the annual Greene county tournament gets underway. With vicious weather striking once each week, they are keeping their eye on the schedule of nine games in view of possible postponements.

Tigers Are Ready.

Postponement of the opening rounds of play in the two tournaments assures the fans of big double headers for the new opening date, although it will bring a loss of revenue to the schools sponsoring the tournaments.

Illinois School for the Deaf cagers welcomed the one day's delay in Ashland's opener, because it gave them one more day to try to tighten up their defense to stop the Bath cagers, one of the favorites to win at Beardstown. Franklin likewise welcomed the delay because it will gave two of their regulars an opportunity to get back into the line-up. Tranbarger and Bryant, a guard and a forward, were hot with the Flashes when they played Jacksonville Tuesday night.

Coach S. Robey Burns will stick to his favorite starting line-up for the game with Bath, with Wells and Rajski, forwards, Baumann or Carlson, center, Arman and Wildrich, guards.

Murrayville Here Friday.

Routt high has reversed the order of its games for this week-end, meeting Murrayville high's Shadows here Friday night and playing at Quincy Senior high on Saturday night. The change was made to accommodate Quincy, which has another game booked for Friday night.

Coach Frank Walker is going out after the Feitshans Flyers this Friday night on the David Prince court, the 14th victory if it comes home. The Crimsons have won 13 out of 14 games thus far, and Feitshans probably will offer them more opposition than any team they have met so far.

Chapin H. S. Wins From Woodson

Chapin, Jan. 22. Chapin high's quintet defeated a Woodson team here this evening, by a score of 28 to 21. Leeper, Woodson forward, was high point man in the game.

Refuse To Concur In Suspension

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today declined to concur with the Cuban commission in the suspension of Mike Jacobs and Julian Black for the failure of Joe Louis to go through with his bout with Isadore Gastanaga in Havana.

The Cuban commission had suspended Jacobs as promoter of the fight for six months and fined him $500. Black, one of Louis' managers, drew a three months suspension.

In announcing its decision, the state commission said the action of the Cuban body was inconsistent with the rules of the New York commission as neither Jacobs nor Black had been granted a license in Cuba. The Cuban commission charged Jacobs, who called off the bout, with "lack of seriousness and guilty of improper conduct."

As an aftermath of the decision a few weeks ago which threatened a break between the commission and Madison Square Garden, the commission said it would grant a license to Hank Bath, California heavyweight and protege of Jack Kearns. Bath had been refused a license on the eve of his battle with Red Burman until the commission received word on his standing in California.

Says May West's Play Not Indecent

Los Angeles, Jan. 22—(AP)—The histrionic deficiencies of a police clerk had Mae West's manager scowling tonight as he prepared to stage his play, "Ladies By Request," in court tomorrow—in an effort to prove it is not indecent.

The clerk, Arthur Custer, a member of the police party which raided and closed the show last Dec. 20, rendered some of the play's presumably funny "lines."

The jury was bored. The overflow audience was silent. And Jim Timony, Mae West's manager, was disgusted.

"If he'd give them gags a little bit of business they'd get over better," Timony grumbled.

"The play is funny—but it ain't indecent."

"Ladies by request," as it appeared in a script offered in evidence, is a somewhat tenuous farce depicting the misadventures of two neglected wives who set out to do something about it.

Their husbands attempted to retaliate by hiring college chums to impersonate women. The wives kidnap the "women" and a bed-room scene closes the drama.

Leroy A. Goddard Banker, Is Dead

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—LeRoy A. Goddard, 81, who served as mayor of Marion, Ill., when he was 23 years old and devoted half a century to the banking business in Illinois, died at the Passavant hospital today.

Goddard, who retired as chairman of the board of the State Bank of Chicago in 1929, was born in Marion. Before coming to Chicago in 1892 he organized the First National Bank at Mount Carmel, Ill.

For years he was known as dean of bankers in Chicago. He served as president of the State Bank for 10 years. Goddard was a former president of the Chicago Clearing House Association.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Brenidenthal Goddard. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Carnegie Hero Fund Awards

Pittsburgh, Jan. 22—(AP)—The Carnegie hero fund commission recognized 21 acts of heroism in 13 states and the District of Columbia today, awarding one silver medal and 20 bronze medals.

Eight of the heroes lost their lives attempting to save others. Among these are Jake A. Cranfield, Birchwood, Tenn., awarded the silver medal posthumously.

Cranfield, a 52-year old farmer, died last September 7 at the bottom of a 47-foot well at Georgetown, Tenn., where he tried to rescue William A. Parker, 55, and Parker's 15-year old son from gas that killed all three.

Four bronze medals went to Illinois.

HOT ASHES CAUSE FIRE IN BASEMENT

Hot ashes which had been placed in heavy cardboard boxes caused a small blaze yesterday morning in the basement of Mrs. Margaret Brown's residence, 1205 West College avenue. Firemen responded to an alarm and took care of the situation. The run was made at 9:20 o'clock.

At 6:30 a. m., a flue burned out at the home of Rev. George Scrimger, 1336 West Lafayette avenue, also resulting in a fire alarm.

Wheat Values Up Cent A Bushel

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Fears of crop damage by severe cold in sections southwest minus any snow blanket did much today to lift wheat about a cent a bushel.

Improved export demand for wheat counted also as a stimulus to higher prices. Canadian export business was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels. Talk was current that inasmuch as practically all Texas wheat and most of Oklahoma's can be shipped to the Gulf of Mexico as cheaply as to Kansas City, it may not be long before United States markets get help in the nature of foreign buying of American new crop futures.

Wheat closed firm, -¼ above yesterday's finish, May $1.00¾-1, corn ¾-1 up, May 60¾-¾, oats ¼-½ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

May wheat contracts climbed to $1.00¾, but follow-up buying orders were scarce on the bulge. Anxiety as to likelihood of the cold wave harming crops was chiefly manifest regarding southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. A lagging tendency of Winnipeg prices served, however as a check on advances elsewhere, notwithstanding continued good demand for red winter wheat to go from Chicago to interior mills.

New York Stock Prices Higher

By Frank MacMillen,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Stock market prices had the best single-session advance today in some six weeks.

The improvement extended over a wide front, with plus signs predominating over minus markers by more than 5 to 1, as the Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended a full point ahead at 57.7.

General gains in leaders ran from fractions to more than 4 points, although trading was conducted at a sedate pace until just at the finish.

The buying stemmed from no very clear psychological impulse, brokers said. It appeared to possess a tinge of inflationary sentiment, perhaps in final recognition of the passage of the bonus bill.

At the same time the reaction to the fall of the Laval cabinet at Paris was mixed. To some the developappeared ta cast a shadow over the future of the franc in world exchange.

Others appeared equally confident that even if the franc were devalued, which was by no means assured at present, it might prove helpful in the long run by promoting a quicker undertaking of international stabilization of currencies.

Commodities were firm, but lacking the active demand which characterized the equity market. Corn was up ⅜ ta ½ of a cent. Cotton finished ahead 15 to 65 cents a bale.

An advance to ½ from ¼ of 1 per cent by New York banks in their c harges on call loans against U. S. government securities and bankers bills was said to be of chief concern to dealers in that field and to the banks which required more compensatory returns on loans.

All Livestock Prices Higher

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Severe cold weather put snap into the livestock trade today and all prices were sharply higher. Choice steers suitable for shipping were in best demand and the top for these got up to $15, highest in more than a month. Buyers anticipated an improvement in the demand for dressed meat along with the cold weather.

Shippers led the buying of better grade slaughter cattle. The bulk of those with quality sold at $13 upward and numerous loads brought $13 to $14.25. Lower grade cattle were unevenly strong to 25 cents higher.

Fat lambs advanced 15 to 25 cents, the top reaching $10.60. Sheep, however, were steady to weak and feeding lambs showed little change.

Wheat Values Up Cent A Bushel

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Fears of crop damage by severe cold in sections southwest minus any snow blanket did much today to lift wheat about a cent a bushel.

Improved export demand for wheat counted also as a stimulus to higher prices. Canadian export business was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels. Talk was current that inasmuch as practically all Texas wheat and most of Oklahoma's can be shipped to the Gulf of Mexico as cheaply as to Kansas City, it may not be long before United States markets get help in the nature of foreign buying of American new crop futures.

Wheat closed firm, -¼ above yesterday's finish, May $1.00⅜-½, corn ⅜-½ up, May 60⅜-½, oats ¼-⅜ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

May wheat contracts climbed to $1.00½, but follow-up buying orders were scarce on the bulge. Anxiety as to likelihood of the cold wave harming crops was chiefly manifest regarding southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. A lagging tendency of Winnipeg prices served, however as a check on advances elsewhere, notwithstanding continued good demand for red winter wheat to go from Chicago to interior mills.

New York Stock Prices Higher

By Frank MacMillen,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Stock market prices had the best single-session advance today in some six weeks.

The improvement extended over a wide front, with plus signs predominating over minus markers by more than 5 to 1, as the Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended a full point ahead at 57.7.

General gains in leaders ran from fractions to more than 4 points, although trading was conducted at a sedate pace until just at the finish.

The buying stemmed from no very clear psychological impulse, brokers said. It appeared to possess a tinge of inflationary sentiment, perhaps in final recognition of the passage of the bonus bill.

At the same time the reaction to the fall of the Laval cabinet at Paris was mixed. To some the develop- appeared ta cast a shadow over the future of the franc in world exchange.

Others appeared equally confident that even if the franc were devalued, which was by no means assured at present, it might prove helpful in the long run by promoting a quicker undertaking of international stabilization of currencies.

Commodities were firm, but lacking the active demand which characterized the equity market. Corn was up ⅜ ta ½ of a cent. Cotton finished ahead 15 to 65 cents a bale.

An advance to ¾ from ½ of 1 per cent by New York banks in their c harges on call loans against U. S. government securities and bankers bills was said to be of chief concern to dealers in that field and to the banks which required more compensatory returns on loans.

THIS PIPER Pays His Own BILL!

Of the Pied Piper of Hamelin . . . .

How he rid the good people
Of that town of their rats
And mice and other unwantables
After every other means had failed.
You remember, too, how he
Presented his bill and the
Dreadful toll he exacted when
He found they couldn't pay . . . .

In some respects a Daily
Journal and Courier
Want Ad is like the Pied Piper . . .
It will rid your home of
The old radio, old sofa, old beds
And other unwantables when every other
Means would fail . . . .
But there's one exception—THIS
Piper pays his own bill!
For the trifling cost of a
Daily Journal and Courier Want Ad
is made up,
Many, many times over by the
Dollars and cents RESULTS you'll get
By Calling "63" and
Asking for an Ad-Taker.

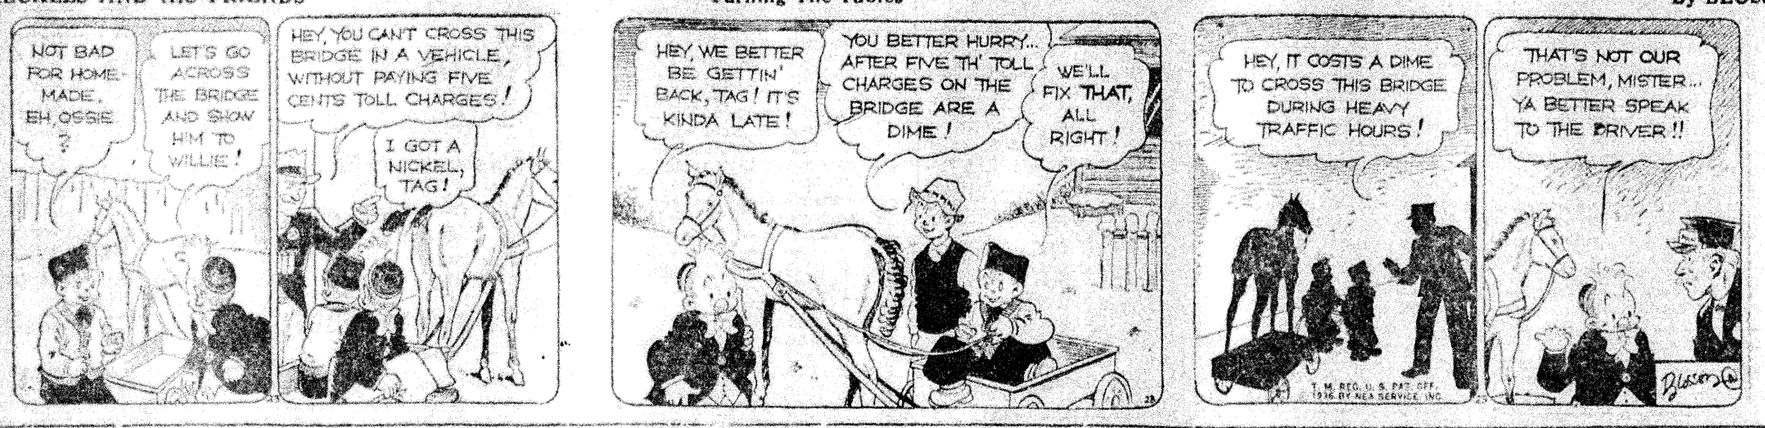

A Daily Journal and Courier Want Ad can get rid of the old furniture cluttering up your home in short order—and the money you'll receive for it can be used as down payment on a set of lovely new home furnishings.

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, is requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

Edward Is Acclaimed New King

Large Crowd Hears Medieval Clad King of Arms Announce New King; Will Rejoin His Mother at Sandringham.

GETS 41 GUN SALUTE

(Copyright, 1936, by the A.P.)

London — A shrill fanfare of trumpets, climaxing a colorful age-old pageant with modern touches, formally proclaimed Great Britain's new flying monarch today as King Edward VIII.

Before a great crowd outside historic St. James's palace, the medieval-clad garter king of arms, Sir Gerald Woods Wollaston, stepped to the balcony over the Friary Court.

In a firm voice he proclaimed the 41-year-old Edward king, emperor and defender of the faith.

Blasts from silver trumpets rang out as Sir Gerald, a member of the Herald's College, pronounced the resounding words:

"God save the king"

The throng stood silent, the battery of St. James' park crashed out with the first of its salute of 41 guns—one for each year of King Edward's life.

The new ruler was seen to appear momentarily at a tall window adjoining the crimson-hung balcony. Otherwise he took no part in the traditional ceremonies.

The "faith and constant obedience" of all his subjects were pledged to the new sovereign, confirming his succession to the throne of his late father, the 70-year-old King George V.

The words of the centuries-old proclamation were carried throughout the nation and the empire, to the new king's 500,000,000 subjects throughout a quarter of the world.

Wireless, the modern conqueror of space, was used for the first time in such a British royal ceremony.

The royal standard, which had not flown over Buckingham palace since King George and Queen Mary left for Sandringham before Christmas, then was run up over the palace, a quarter of a mile down the mall. The band struck up the national anthem.

The Earl Marshal, his grace the Duke of Norfolk, and the gartered king of arms remained within St. James' palace in attendance on King Edward, who decided to return to Sandringham late today to join the bereaved Queen Mother Mary.

The remainder of the official proclamation party, in five horse-drawn carriages accompanied by a contingent of lifeguards, drove off through Trafalgar Squire in a stately procession to Charing Cross.

There the proclamation was read a second time by the Windsor Herald, Alfred Trego Butler. It was read a third time at the city limits of London and again on the steps of the Royal Exchange.

Throughout the vast empire and the united kingdom, similar proclamations were made.

The new, precedent-smashing monarch did not take part in the colorful ceremonies, turning back instead to join the bereaved queen mother at Sandringham.

The Duke of York, heir-presumptive to the throne, and his duchess, recovered from the influenzal pneumonia which kept her from the dying monarch's bedside, planned to go with the 41-year-old King Edward to the Norfolk country estate where King George died Monday night.

Only a mile from the pomp and pageantry of the succession proclamations, under the ancient rafters of Westminster Hall, workmen prepared sadly for the return tomorrow of King George to lie in state at the place where seven months ago he received the jubilee congratulations of parliament.

Thence the body will be removed to Windsor Castle, just west of London, for funeral services next Tuesday in St. George's chapel and burial with others of the long line of English kings at Windsor.

Not until more than a year hence, after the mourning period has ended, will King Edward be formally crowned.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, pretty young secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD of the law firm of Woodford and Brooks, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

PETER KEMP, also employed by Woodford and Brooks, is in love with Julia, but she discourages his attentions. He gives Julia a letter of introduction to HENRI LAMB, band leader, but, in the letter, asks Lamb not to give her a job. Julia discovers this and tells Peter everything is over between them.

ROYAL NESBITT, friend of Amy's, promises to help Julia find a job as a singer, but days pass with no word from him.

Woodford gives a yacht party and asks Julia to come along to sing for his guests. When she boards the yacht she learns the others have been detained. Julia goes to her stateroom, falls asleep and when she awakes the boat is in motion.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

IT seemed odd to Julia that in these alien surroundings she should have slept so soundly as not to hear Woodford and his guests come aboard. But perhaps, she told herself, the brisk sea air had got in its magic. She switched on the little lamp above her berth and looked at her strap-watch. It was past three, and this reassured her. Woodford and his guests, she decided, had come aboard and gone to sleep. Plunging the stateroom again into darkness, Julia allowed her head to sink back on the pillow.

When she awakened, the sun was streaming in through the port holes, brightening the little stateroom. Julia dressed with an energetic swiftness she had never experienced in town. A moment later she was glad for this swiftness, for there was a knock at the stateroom door and she heard Woodford's voice wishing her a pleasant good morning.

"Ready for breakfast?" he asked.

"Yes . . ." Julia called out, then opened the door to find Woodford, looking fit and attractive in his white ducks and blue coat.

"We came aboard rather late last night," he apologized, "so I thought it better not to disturb you. Of course you'll meet the others this morning." He hesitated a moment. "I'm afraid, though, that none of them are quite up yet. I've told the cook to serve breakfast for two."

He guided Julia to the spacious after cabin where there was a small table set for two. A Japanese boy in white coat hovered over it solicitously.

"Good morning, Obo," said Woodford pleasantly. "How about some of your delicious toast and crisp bacon?"

"Yissah . . ." Obo smiled, uncovered the halves of iced grapefruit, and disappeared into the galley.

Woodford looked thoughtfully at Julia across the table.

"I'll tell you something about who's aboard. There's Royal Nesbitt—"

Involuntarily Julia looked up and repeated the name, "Royal Nesbitt!"

"You know him?"

"Only slightly," Julia said. "He's a friend of the girl who rooms with me."

WOODFORD laughed. "I'm not astonished. Woodford must be a friend of every young woman in town!"

"Well," said Julia, joining his laughter rather weakly, "that's quite a reputation to uphold."

"Royal does a good job of it, though . . . Then—let's see—there's Hugo Nash. He's an architect, and a mighty good one."

Julia smiled. "Sounds like a stag cruise, so far, except for me."

"Oh, no. You'll like the two ladies we have aboard. Mrs. Joseph—she's a charming widow—and Cintra Lee."

"Cintra Lee? That name sounds familiar, somehow."

Woodford nodded. "You've probably heard of her, all right. She's a dancer, mainly. I think she's done something in Hollywood, too. With your ambitions, you ought to meet her."

"You've forgotten Smith Garland," Julia reminded him.

"No . . ." Woodford paused, then needlessly smoothed down his tie. "I meant to tell you, Garland was detained at the last moment and couldn't come along. I hope you won't be too disappointed."

Julia was disappointed, and bitterly so—but she hid her feeling as best she could.

"Perhaps," said Woodford, "we can arrange a meeting with him at another time. Meanwhile it will do no harm to have Nesbitt hear you. He has a good deal of influence with the people who could give you a chance. I think probably he can do something for you."

Julia smiled wrily as she recalled Nesbitt's promise the night he had called on Amy Sanders. "I'm sure he can," she said.

* * *

AFTER breakfast she joined Woodford in cigarettes under the canvas canopy on the after deck.

Julia and her employer had finished their cigarettes when the rest of the party began to join them, drifting to the after deck one by one. Cintra Lee came first. She was a dark girl, unbelievably slender, and somehow attractive despite her brilliant make-up.

Mrs. Joseph, who joined them a moment later, seemed much less approachable.

Royal Nesbitt was his debonair self, except for a minute or two of embarrassment when he confronted Julia. But whether his embarrassment was due to the fact that he hadn't kept his promise, or whether it was from some obscure sense of loyalty to Amy, Julia could not determine. Obviously he was with Cintra Lee, and Julia guessed that it was Nash who accompanied Mrs. Joseph.

There was some indefinable quality in the air which told Julia they were all assuming that she was Woodford's particular companion on the trip. Certainly Woodford's manner did nothing to dispel this assumption. Of course, Julia supposed, he wanted her to feel one of the little crowd. But she almost wished he would do or say something which would make it clear that she was aboard as an entertainer—and an amateur one, at that. The fact that there was a Mrs. George Woodford who was not aboard the Wood Nymph didn't add to Julia's peace of mind.

But it was Nesbitt rather than the host who first suggested that Julia had a voice. Woodford's eyes widened. "Then you've already heard Julia sing?"

"Indeed, yes. Let's go in to the piano and make her prove she's good."

* * *

WHEN they had gathered in the main cabin it was Cintra Lee who sought the piano—a little dubiously, Julia noticed. But halfway through the first song the slender dancer capitulated and did her best with the accompaniment.

Julia took an encore, and when she had finished, the dancer swung around on the piano bench and said, "You're all right . . . Let's go out on deck and have a cigarette and some fresh air. We're not paid to entertain, after all."

They left the others gathered around a tray of cocktails which Obo has just deposited in the cabin. Outside, Julia laughed. "You said we weren't paid to entertain. But you see, I am. Or at least I expect to be."

"Really?"

Cintra Lee gazed at her oddly, and Julia went on, "Yes—I came along to sing for the guests. I—I feel a little bit like an interloper."

"Forget it." Then the girl added: "Are you on the level? I mean is that what Woodford told you?"

Somehow a swift panic took Julia's heart. "Why, yes. You see, I want to be a night club singer, but I've never seemed able to get a chance. When I accepted this trip I thought Smith Garland was to be aboard."

Cintra Lee did not answer at once. She flipped her cigarette in a wide arc out over the rail. "If you've a good job, stick to it, Julia. The night club racket is no fun unless you're tops." She turned to Julia and smiled. "But of course you plan to be tops."

"I'd like to be," Julia admitted. "But you can't start there."

The other nodded. "I think you've got the nerve, all right. And there's nothing wrong with your voice. Maybe when we get back I can steer you around."

"That's nice of you," Julia said slowly. But there had been something odd about the tone with which the Lee girl had said "when we get back." She had sounded as if the return of the Wood Nymph was to be beyond the termination of the week-end. Suddenly Julia remembered a remark which Nash had casually dropped at dinner—a remark she hadn't caught fully at the time. "A hundred dollars," Nash had said to Woodford, "I bag more game than you do in the first two days on the island." Julia had supposed that this referred to some future hunting trip. But it might mean that Woodford had decided to extend the trip. Or that he had known all along—

Julia took a grip on her whirling thoughts. With sudden fright she wondered into what maze her ambition was leading her.

King's Body Lies in Tiny Chapel Near Sandringham Castle

Queen Mother Braves Storm Twice to Visit Bier of George V

(Copyright, 1936, by the A.P.)

Sandringham, England — Saddened East England country folk mourned today at the bier of King George V, lying in the tiny, flag-draped chapel of the church on the Sandringham royal estate.

Norfolk neighbors of the late ruler filed slowly past the royal casket, on which rested a single white floral cross from the Queen Mother Mary.

Four employes of the rustic estate, dressed simply in their best Sunday black suits, stood immobile at the four corners of the royal bier as the local residents bade farewell to the man and monarch they knew as friend.

The final obsequies for the Sandringham folk were carried out in a crisp winter scene as pale sunshine broke intermittently through cloudy skies to light the chapel.

A half-dozen Norfolk constables scrutinized each visitor to see that he was wearing either a black tie or a mourning armband.

The mourners entered through the rear door of the church and passed slowly up the center isle of the chapel, which seats scarcely 100 persons, past the king's plain oaken coffin.

No member of the royal family was present.

Throughout the night, gamekeepers and foresters of Sandringham estate, near the bleak coast 100 miles northeast of London, kept lonely vigil beside the body of their late employer.

The guardians wore rough corduroy breeches and leather coats, the pomp and glitter of uniforms and display being left until the body reaches London late tomorrow.

The widowed queen walked twice through the rain and sleet last night from the royal residence to the village church, to be again at the side of her husband.

The first time, dressed in deep mourning and carrying an umbrella for protection from the storm, she followed humbly behind the coffin of her dead king in its half mile journey from the death chamber to the church.

After returning to Sandringham House by automobile, she went back to the church once more, late in the evening, to kneel in prayer.

Baby Bond Plan Gets House OK

Two and a Half Billion Dollar Measure Will Pass Over Veto, Administration Leaders Declare.

WILL PAY OFF IN CASH

Washington—(AP)—Congress voted immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus today by huge majorities—many more than the two-thirds needed to override presidential vetoes.

The house accepted the senate's baby bond-payment plan, with its ultimate $2,491,000,000 cost, by a 346 to 58 ballot. The senate's passage vote Monday was 74 to 16. The house vote on original passage of a cash-payment bill was 356 to 59.

Overwhelming house acceptance of the senate's baby bond payment plan, with its ultimate $2,491,000,000 cost, completed congressional action. The measure will go to the White House—and a possible veto—as soon as Speaker Byrns and Vice President Garner sign it.

Administration leaders have predicted flatly the bill will become law whether or not Mr. Roosevelt signs it.

It provides for payment of adjusted service certificates of 3,500,000 World War veterans in $50 bonds, starting June 15. Veterans preferring to hold the certificates would draw 3 per cent interest annually from June 15, 1937 to June 15, 1945.

The house vote was a mere formality. It came on a motion by Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) of the ways and means committee to concur in a senate amendment, embracing the bond payment method, to a cash-payment bill which cleared the house by a six to one margin in the opening days of the session.

An hour's debate preceded the final vote after Doughton obtained unanimous consent for the bill's consideration.

There are approximately 103,000,000,000 Germans in the world, but only about 63,000,000 live in Germany.

Edward Is Acclaimed New King

Large Crowd Hears Medieval Clad King of Arms Announce New King; Will Rejoin His Mother at Sandringham.

GETS 41 GUN SALUTE

(Copyright, 1936, by the A.P.)

London — A shrill fanfare of trumpets, climaxing a colorful age-old pageant with modern touches, formally proclaimed Great Britain's new flying monarch today as King Edward VIII.

Before a great crowd outside historic St. James's palace, the medieval-clad garter king of arms, Sir Gerald Woods Wollaston, stepped to the balcony over the Friary Court.

In a firm voice he proclaimed the 41-year-old Edward king, emperor and defender of the faith.

Blasts from silver trumpets rang out as Sir Gerald, a member of the Herald's College, pronounced the resounding words:

"God save the king"

The throng stood silent, the battery of St. James' park crashed out with the first of its salute of 41 guns—one for each year of King Edward's life.

The new ruler was seen to appear momentarily at a tall window adjoining the crimson-hung balcony. Otherwise he took no part in the traditional ceremonies.

The "faith and constant obedience" of all his subjects were pledged to the new sovereign, confirming his succession to the throne of his late father, the 70-year-old King George V.

The words of the centuries-old proclamation were carried throughout the nation and the empire, to the new king's 500,000,000 subjects throughout a quarter of the world.

Wireless, the modern conqueror of space, was used for the first time in such a British royal ceremony.

The royal standard, which had not flown over Buckingham palace since King George and Queen Mary left for Sandringham before Christmas, then was run up over the palace, a quarter of a mile down the mall. The band struck up the national anthem.

The Earl Marshal, his grace the Duke of Norfolk, and the gartered king of arms remained within St. James' palace in attendance on King Edward, who decided to return to Sandringham late today to join the bereaved Queen Mother Mary.

The remainder of the official proclamation party, in five horse-drawn carriages accompanied by a contingent of lifeguards, drove off through Trafalgar Squire in a stately procession to Charing Cross.

There the proclamation was read a second time by the Windsor Herald, Alfred Trego Butler. It was read a third time at the city limits of London and again on the steps of the Royal Exchange.

Throughout the vast empire and the united kingdom, similar proclamations were made.

The new, precedent-smashing monarch did not take part in the colorful ceremonies, turning back instead to join the bereaved queen mother at Sandringham.

The Duke of York, heir-presumptive to the throne, and his duchess, recovered from the influenzal pneumonia which kept her from the dying monarch's bedside, planned to go with the 41-year-old King Edward to the Norfolk country estate where King George died Monday night.

Only a mile from the pomp and pageantry of the succession proclamations, under the ancient rafters of Westminster Hall, workmen prepared sadly for the return tomorrow of King George to lie in state at the place where seven months ago he received the jubilee congratulations of parliament.

Thence the body will be removed to Windsor Castle, just west of London, for funeral services next Tuesday in St. George's chapel and burial with others of the long line of English kings at Windsor.

Not until more than a year hence, after the mourning period has ended, will King Edward be formally crowned.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones — Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, pretty young secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD of the law firm of Woodford and Brooks, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

PETER KEMP, also employed by Woodford and Brooks, is in love with Julia, but she discourages his attentions. He gives Julia a letter of introduction to HENRI LAMB, band leader, but, in the letter, asks Lamb not to give her a job. Julia discovers this and tells Peter everything is over between them.

ROYAL NESBITT, friend of Amy's, promises to help Julia find a job as a singer, but days pass with no word from him.

Woodford gives a yacht party and asks Julia to come along to sing for his guests. When she boards the yacht she learns the others have been detained. Julia goes to her stateroom, falls asleep and when she awakes the boat is in motion.

CHAPTER VII

IT seemed odd to Julia that in these alien surroundings she should have slept so soundly as not to hear Woodford and his guests come aboard. But perhaps, she told herself, the brisk sea air had got in its magic. She switched on the little lamp above her berth and looked at her strap-watch. It was past three, and this reassured her. Woodford and his guests, she decided, had come aboard and gone to sleep. Plunging the stateroom again into darkness, Julia allowed her head to sink back on the pillow.

When she awakened, the sun was streaming in through the port holes, brightening the little stateroom. Julia dressed with an energetic swiftness she had never experienced in town. A moment later she was glad for this swiftness, for there was a knock at the stateroom door and she heard Woodford's voice wishing her a pleasant good morning.

"Ready for breakfast?" he asked.

"Yes . . ." Julia called out, then opened the door to find Woodford, looking fit and attractive in his white ducks and blue coat.

"We came aboard rather late last night," he apologized, "so I thought it better not to disturb you. Of course you'll meet the others this morning." He hesitated a moment. "I'm afraid, though, that none of them are quite up yet. I've told the cook to serve breakfast for two."

He guided Julia to the spacious after cabin where there was a small table set for two. A Japanese boy in white coat hovered over it solicitously.

"Good morning, Obo," said Woodford pleasantly. "How about some of your delicious toast and crisp bacon?"

"Yissah . . ." Obo smiled, uncovered the halves of iced grapefruit, and disappeared into the galley.

Woodford looked thoughtfully at Julia across the table.

"I'll tell you something about who's aboard. There's Royal Nesbitt—"

Involuntarily Julia looked up and repeated the name, "Royal Nesbitt!"

"You know him?"

"Only slightly," Julia said. "He's a friend of the girl who rooms with me."

WOODFORD laughed. "I'm not astonished. Woodford must be a friend of every young woman in town!"

"Well," said Julia, joining his laughter rather weakly, "that's quite a reputation to uphold."

"Royal does a good job of it, though . . . Then—let's see—there's Hugo Nash. He's an architect, and a mighty good one."

Julia smiled. "Sounds like a stag cruise, so far, except for me."

"Oh, no. You'll like the two ladies we have aboard. Mrs. Joseph—she's a charming widow—and Cintra Lee."

"Cintra Lee? That name sounds familiar, somehow."

Woodford nodded. "You've probably heard of her, all right. She's a dancer, mainly. I think she's done something in Hollywood, too. With your ambitions, you ought to meet her."

"You've forgotten Smith Garland," Julia reminded him.

"No . . ." Woodford paused, then needlessly smoothed down his tie. "I meant to tell you. Garland was detained at the last moment and couldn't come along. I hope you won't be too disappointed."

Julia was disappointed, and bitterly so—but she hid her feeling as best she could.

"Perhaps," said Woodford, "we can arrange a meeting with him at another time. Meanwhile it will do no harm to have Nesbitt hear you. He has a good deal of influence with the people who could give you a chance. I think probably he can do something for you."

Julia smiled wrily as she recalled Nesbitt's promise the night he had called on Amy Sanders. "I'm sure he can," she said.

* * *

AFTER breakfast she joined Woodford in cigarettes under the canvas canopy on the after deck.

Julia and her employer had finished their cigarettes when the rest of the party began to join them, drifting to the after deck one by one. Cintra Lee came first. She was a dark girl, unbelievably slender, and somehow attractive despite her brilliant make-up.

Mrs. Joseph, who joined them a moment later, seemed much less approachable.

Royal Nesbitt was his debonair self, except for a minute or two of embarrassment when he confronted Julia. But whether his embarrassment was due to the fact that he hadn't kept his promise, or whether it was from some obscure sense of loyalty to Amy, Julia could not determine. Obviously he was with Cintra Lee, and Julia guessed that it was Nash who accompanied Mrs. Joseph.

There was some indefinable quality in the air which told Julia they were all assuming that she was Woodford's particular companion on the trip. Certainly Woodford's manner did nothing to dispel this assumption. Of course, Julia supposed, he wanted her to feel one of the little crowd. But she almost wished he would do or say something which would make it clear that she was aboard as an entertainer—and an amateur one, at that. The fact that there was a Mrs. George Woodford who was not aboard the Wood Nymph didn't add to Julia's peace of mind.

But it was Nesbitt rather than the host who first suggested that Julia had a voice. Woodford's eyes widened. "Then you've already heard Julia sing?"

"Indeed, yes. Let's go in to the piano and make her prove she's good."

* * *

WHEN they had gathered in the main cabin it was Cintra Lee who sought the piano—a little dubiously, Julia noticed. But halfway through the first song the slender dancer capitulated and did her best with the accompaniment.

Julia took an encore, and when she had finished, the dancer swung around on the piano bench and said, "You're all right . . . Let's go out on deck and have a cigarette and some fresh air. We're not paid to entertain, after all."

They left the others gathered around a tray of cocktails which Obo has just deposited in the cabin. Outside, Julia laughed. "You said we weren't paid to entertain. But you see, I am. Or at least I expect to be."

"Really?"

Cintra Lee gazed at her oddly, and Julia went on, "Yes—I came along to sing for the guests. I—I feel a little bit like an interloper."

"Forget it." Then the girl added: "Are you on the level? I mean is that what Woodford told you?"

Somehow a swift panic took Julia's heart. "Why, yes. You see, I want to be a night club singer, but I've never seemed able to get a chance. When I accepted this trip I thought Smith Garland was to be aboard."

Cintra Lee did not answer at once. She flipped her cigarette in a wide arc out over the rail. "If you've a good job, stick to it, Julia. The night club racket is no fun unless you're tops." She turned to Julia and smiled. "But of course you plan to be tops."

"I'd like to be," Julia admitted. "But you can't start there."

The other nodded. "I think you've got the nerve, all right. And there's nothing wrong with your voice. Maybe when we get back I can steer you around."

"That's nice of you," Julia said slowly. But there had been something odd about the tone with which the Lee girl had said "when we get back." She had sounded as if the return of the Wood Nymph was to be beyond the termination of the week-end. Suddenly Julia remembered a remark which Nash had casually dropped at dinner—a remark she hadn't caught fully at the time. "A hundred dollars," Nash had said to Woodford, "I bag more game than you do in the first two days on the island." Julia had supposed that this referred to some future hunting trip. But it might mean that Woodford had decided to extend the trip. Or that he had known all along—

Julia took a grip on her whirling thoughts. With sudden fright she wondered into what maze her ambition was leading her.

King's Body Lies in Tiny Chapel Near Sandringham Castle

Queen Mother Braves Storm Twice to Visit Bier of George V

(Copyright, 1936, by the A.P.)

Sandringham, England — Saddened East England country folk mourned today at the bier of King George V, lying in the tiny, flag-draped chapel of the church on the Sandringham royal estate.

Norfolk neighbors of the late ruler filed slowly past the royal casket, on which rested a single white floral cross from the Queen Mother Mary.

Four employes of the rustic estate, dressed simply in their best Sunday black suits, stood immobile at the four corners of the royal bier as the local residents bade farewell to the man and monarch they knew as friend.

The final obsequies for the Sandringham folk were carried out in a crisp winter scene as pale sunshine broke intermittently through cloudy skies to light the chapel.

A half-dozen Norfolk constables scrutinized each visitor to see that he was wearing either a black tie or a mourning armband.

The mourners entered through the rear door of the church and passed slowly up the center isle of the chapel, which seats scarcely 100 persons, past the king's plain oaken coffin.

No member of the royal family was present.

Throughout the night, gamekeepers and foresters of Sandringham estate, near the bleak coast 100 miles northeast of London, kept lonely vigil beside the body of their late employer.

The guardians wore rough corduroy breeches and leather coats, the pomp and glitter of uniforms and display being left until the body reaches London late tomorrow.

The widowed queen walked twice through the rain and sleet last night from the royal residence to the village church, to be again at the side of her husband.

The first time, dressed in deep mourning and carrying an umbrella for protection from the storm, she followed humbly behind the coffin of her dead king in its half mile journey from the death chamber to the church.

After returning to Sandringham House by automobile, she went back to the church once more, late in the evening, to kneel in prayer.

Baby Bond Plan Gets House OK

Two and a Half Billion Dollar Measure Will Pass Over Veto, Administration Leaders Declare.

WILL PAY OFF IN CASH

Washington—(AP)— Congress voted immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus today by huge majorities—many more than the two-thirds needed to override presidential vetoes.

The house accepted the senate's baby bond-payment plan, with its ultimate $2,491,000,000 cost, by a 346 to 58 ballot. The senate's passage vote Monday was 74 to 16. The house vote on original passage of a cash-payment bill was 356 to 59.

Overwhelming house acceptance of the senate's baby bond payment plan, with its ultimate $2,491,000,000 cost, completed congressional action. The measure will go to the White House—and a possible veto—as soon as Speaker Byrns and Vice President Garner sign it.

Administration leaders have predicted flatly the bill will become law whether or not Mr. Roosevelt signs it.

It provides for payment of adjusted service certificates of 3,500,000 World War veterans in $50 bonds, starting June 15. Veterans preferring to hold the certificates would draw 3 per cent interest annually from June 15, 1937 to June 15, 1945.

The house vote was a mere formality. It came on a motion by Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) of the ways and means committee to concur in a senate amendment, embracing the bond payment method, to a cash-payment bill which cleared the house by a six to one margin in the opening days of the session.

An hour's debate preceded the final vote after Doughton obtained unanimous consent for the bill's consideration.

Coldest Weather Of Winter Arrives Here With Northwest Wind

Sub-zero temperatures rode into Jacksonville yesterday morning on a northwest wind that spent its bitter fury on persons who traveled the streets and ventured out onto the highways, the mercury dropping to the lowest point experienced here this winter. The official temperature reading at the Norbury Sanatorium, U. S. Co-operative Weather Bureau, was 16 degrees below zero at six o'clock last night, and it was predicted that it would drop to 20 degrees below the zero point during the night.

No official readings were given out after six o'clock, but thermometers down town registered from 18 to 22 degrees below zero at midnight last night. The weather forecast, given out last night, gave promise of slightly rising temperatures this afternoon.

The suddenness of the wave of icy blasts followed a snow of several inches here between 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night and six o'clock yesterday morning. At seven o'clock a. m. the official temperature at the Norbury sanatorium was one degree above zero, and within a few hours it had dropped to 12 degrees below.

The wind which whipped the frigid atmosphere thru the city blew the powdery snow in clouds across highways in this vicinity, and while concrete highways were passable near here some of the other rural routes of travel were filled with drifts. State roads were open in all directions from Jacksonville for a distance of 40 to 50 miles late yesterday, but the road conditions changed hourly, and motorists were warned to inquire about travel before leaving here.

Roads Blocked.

The Illinois division of highways reported the following roads blocked in places by drifts last night: Route 66 from Normal to Dwight; Route 51 from Bloomington to LaSalle; Route 116A, Route 17 from Lacon to Streator; Route 47 south of Dwight, and roads leading from Peoria northwest.

Jacksonville's difficulties that arose from the frigid temperatures comprised the inability of most residents to keep their homes warm, of many motorists to start their automobiles and of all pedestrians to remain comfortable while traveling from place to place.

Traffic on the streets late Wednesday was at a minimum both by motorists and pedestrians. Garages were swamped with calls from drivers of cars who were unable to move their machines under their own power. Tow cars were at a premium as was also storage space in local garages.

Meetings of all kinds were postponed because of the bitter weather, church meetings, social events and basketball games being cancelled as the mercury crept steadily downward. Only a few persons ventured out into the icy atmosphere last night after once having experienced the warmer temperatures of their homes.

The howling wind drove the icy blasts thru every available opening in local buildings and the firing of heating devices was at a maximum. The scrape of the shovel on sidewalks, where efforts were made early yesterday morning to move the snow, was followed later by the scrape of the shovel on the bottom of the coal bin. The intense firing by householders resulted in a high fire hazard and the local fire department was called on several occasions to halt starting flames. Fortunately thru the promptness of the discovery of the fires and the equal promptness of the firemen in answering calls no blazes of any serious consequence resulted here yesterday.

10 to 22 Below

A check-up made shortly after midnight by the Journal and Courier, showed that thermometers in various parts of the city registered from 10 to 22 below zero.

Howard Moore, attendant at the South Side Sewage Treatment plant, said the thermometer on the west side of the building there registered 10 below. John W. Marshall, telegraph operator at the Wabash tower, reported that when he left his home on Webster avenue shortly after 11 o'clock a thermometer on the north side of his house registered 22 below zero. At the tower in the east part of the city, the mercury stood at 16 below.

Philip Schulz, fireman at the South Side Pumping Station, reported shortly after midnight that the thermometer at the station registered 16 below.

The thermometer at the North Side Sewage Treatment Plant shortly after midnight registered 18 below zero, according to William Schildman, the attendant in charge.

At the Jacksonville State Hospital the thermometer at the nurses home registered 18 below zero, while that on the door of the engine room recorded 20 below zero.

William Haneline, telegraph operator at the Chicago & Alton tower on East College Ave., said his thermometer registered 15 below shortly after midnight.

A survey of thermometers in the business district was made about 1 o'clock this (Thursday) morning, the reporter finding that they ranged from 16 below to 22 below zero.

Only twelve men called at the police station last night seeking shelter. This number was far below the usual number.

Jacksonville does not have a monopoly on the frigid temperatures, according to reports received from other sections of the state. At White Hall it was reported the mercury dropped to 14 degrees below zero. At nine o'clock yesterday morning the temperature was nine below. At nine o'clock last night the reading showed 14 degrees below the zero point.

Roodhouse reported a reading of 16 degrees below, Hannibal reported 15 minus, Bluffs thermometers showed 16 below and Springfield reported 14 degrees below zero.

While trains and buses moved thru here yesterday the weather conditions caused some delays among some of the carriers. Train No. 3 which runs from Bluffs to Keokuk, which left Bluffs at nine o'clock yesterday morning was reported at midnight last night to be halted in a snow drift near Carthage.

Pick Jurors To Try Daisy Root On Murder Charge

Accused Of Killing Her Husband For Being "Unfaithful"

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 22—(AP)—Nine of twelve jurors to try pretty Daisy Alexander Root on a "jealousy-murder charge were selected today and both prosecution and defense indicated the question of responsibility of a woman who suspects her husband of faithlessness would be an issue in the case.

Mrs. Root is accused of killing her 32-year-old husband, Brenton Root, son of a Chicago clergyman, in a tiff over a cigarette girl.

Questioning prospective jurors today, W. T. McLain, district attorney general, remarked "I assume there will be a great deal of stuff brought out about the "unwritten law" and probably a little adultery."

He asked if they would "turn her loose because a fellow cheated just a little."

There was a stir in the court room and he frowned.

"All these facts are coming out and a little more," he said.

As the jurors were turned over to the defense, A. B. Galloway asked each, "if the conditions were as described by General McLain and if at the time the shot was fired this unfortunate woman had a brain storm and was incapable of distinguishing between right and wrong, you would consider that, would you not?"

McLain said the state "is not insisting on the death penalty," adding he would offer the defendant's purported confession to the jury.

In it the young woman said she shot Root because she was jealous over his asserted attentions to Lucile Underwood, red-haired "cigarette girl," at a night club.

Venice Policeman Killed By Bandit

Venice, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Sergeant Charles Chandler of the Venice police department was shot to death tonight by a bandit whom he interrupted in a tavern holdup.

The bandit then commandeered the taxicab of Edgar Hormann, one of four men in the tavern, and forced him to drive to St. Louis, where Hormann was ejected.

William Smolek, bartender, said the bandit, about 35, had been in the tavern about an hour before he drew a pistol. The robber had taken $12 from the cash register before Sergeant Chandler walked in.

The patrolman, unaware of the robbery, was shot down without warning. Chandler, pierced by three bullets, fired once but the shot went wide. He died shortly after in the Granite City hospital.

St. Louis police immediately spread a dragnet for the slayer.

Will Question Murder Suspect

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Investigator Thomas Kelley of the state's attorney's office, said today he planned to question Francis Brennan, 30, about the slaying of George Mays, 31, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., here Oct. 27, 1934.

When Judge Joseph A. Graber learned of Kelly's investigation, he continued indefinitely a charge of assault to kill pending against Brennan and 10 charges of robbery, selected from 47 robbery complaints police said were made against him.

Mays, visiting A Century of Progress with several women, including his financee, was shot after he had relinquished his money to two holdup men. Kelly said Brennan answered the description of one of the men.

The accident occurred, it is said, when the driver of the truck swerved his machines to avoid striking an automobile on the old Prentice road, about two miles northeast of the city.

SPEAKER FAILS TO ARRIVE FOR MEET OF LIFE UNDERWRITERS

The local Life Underwriters association banquet last evening at the Peacock Inn was well attended, but the sub-zero temperature and practically minus transportation facilities forced last minute cancellation of the address by Lester O. Schriver, president of the national organization.

L. T. Oxley, program chairman of the winter meeting, anticipated some difficulty yesterday morning, and called Mr. Schriver in Peoria. At noon, the speaker believed it would be possible to make the trip. His telegram saying that it would be impossible to reach Jacksonville came at too late an hour last evening to arrange for a substitute speaker on the program.

Following the words of welcome of President Earland Logue and program chairman Oxley, Dr. C. P. McClelland gave a short address to conclude the meeting. The MacMurray College president was a college student in Middletown, Conn., also the home of Mr. Schriver, and was scheduled to introduce him to the association.

During the serving of the dinner, a three-piece string ensemble entertained with classical and semi-classical musical selections.

Fred Astaire Has Terrifying Hours

Hollywood, Jan. 22—(AP)—Fred Astaire, the dapper dancer, came out from behind a pair of dark glasses today and confided he has just experienced the "most terrifying hours" of his life.

He meant the hours immediately before and after he was able to announce yesterday that his wife had presented him with a son.

They put him to bed in the room next to his wife's in a Los Angeles hospital. And he is still there. He rented it for a week.

The nurses put their heads together and agreed that a big movie star and plain John Smith are pretty much alike "when those moments come."

"I don't remember much after we got to the hospital from Hollywood," he said. "Maybe I was walking up and down. I don't know. They were the most terrifying hours of my life."

"Gee, it's awful," he said. "You don't know what to do with yourself. Somebody told me to go home, but I couldn't do that. I couldn't sit down and I couldn't do anything. I feel, now, as though I'd been rehearsing dance routines for two weeks without a rest."

Mother and child were doing nicely, Dr. John Vruwink said.

JEWELRY VALUED AT $20,000 IS STOLEN

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Theft of a safe containing jewelry he valued at $20,000 was reported to police today by Washington Porter, II, wealthy art connoisseur.

The safe, weighing about 50 pounds and measuring 14 inches square, was taken from his south side home, which contains objects of art he estimated at $500,000, Porter said, sometime between 7 o'clock last night and 2 o'clock this morning, in his absence.

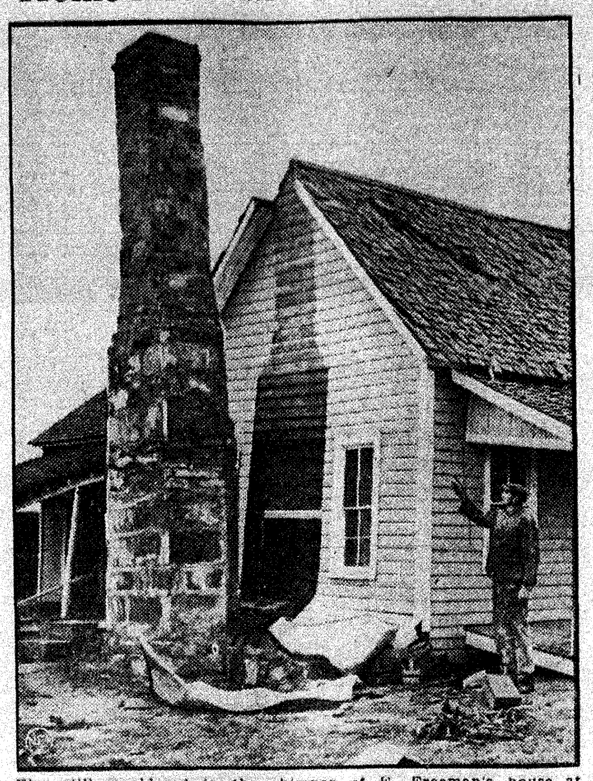

A search was ordered for Larry Brennan, Porter's secretary, when a maid, Anna Noack, said he had entered the house about 8 o'clock and left without being seen.

'Home Fire' Burns On in Tornado

Fire still smoldered in the chimney of E. Freeman's house at Fyffe, Ala., after a tornado had moved the dwelling 15 feet and left it sagging, but still upright, as shown here. The midwinter twister, accompanied by bitter cold, killed four in Alabama and 13 in the vicinity of the Georgia-Alabama-Florida state lines, and caused heavy property damage.

Illinois Power, Light Corporation Acts to Halt Municipal Plant

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—The Illinois Power and Light Corporation yesterday asked for a federal court injunction to prevent the City of Jacksonville from constructing and operating a $420,000 municipal light plant, authorized at an election Tuesday.

The suit named more than a score of city officials—including Mayor Fletcher Blackburn, all the city council members, the city treasurer and clerk—and Harold Ickes, PWA administrator, as defendants.

A temporary restraining order was asked on the ground that the company would suffer great loss and might have to abandon its plant, and that the plan for a municipal plant violated a city ordinance against municipal ownership. The suit also alleged that the project was for a "yardstick of light rates" and not for relief of unemployed persons.

Suit Covers 80 Pages

Walter Bellatti of the law firm of Bellatti, Samuell and Arnold returned here early yesterday afternoon from Springfield where a suit was filed by his firm in behalf of the Illinois Power & Light Corporation, against the City of Jacksonville. Other attorneys representing the Power & Light Corporation are Dryer and Brown of Hillsboro.

The bill for an injunction covers about 30 typewritten pages and the various exhibits number about 50 pages.

Attorney Bellatti said the suit charges that PWA Administrator Ickes has attempted to "foster and encourage municipal ownership and political operation;" that the city's indebtedness would exceed the limit provided by law, and that construction of the proposed plant would violate the national industrial act.

When informed by the Journal and Courier of the Power & Light Corporation's action in federal court, Attorney Orville N. Foreman, special counsel for the municipal plant project, declared "they won't get far with that one." Foreman had nothing more to say about the suit.

The court has not yet set a date for the hearing, at which the defendants will defend the action of the city in preparing to build the plant.

14 Degrees Below Zero

The thermometers in and around Winchester have gradually crept farther below zero throughout the day and many of them were reported to be 14 degrees below zero at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. No temperature recordings were official but in many instances the thermometers were said to be below this figure. Winchester received about an inch of snowfall early this morning.

TODAY MARKS CLOSE OF FIRST SEMESTER IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Today marks the close of the first semester in public schools all over the city. For the high school students, it marks the close of the final exam week. The schedule of these examinations has been somewhat altered this year from the two previous years. Formerly, the last week in the semester was divided into special hour and a half periods during which the tests were given. The plan that has been in effect this week is that no special periods have been arranged, and the teachers may give exams that can be written in one 45 minute class, or else take two or three days to give the test. A very large number of the instructors seem to be following the latter system.

The new semester will start on Monday at all of the schools in the system.

Coldest Weather Of Winter Arrives Here With Northwest Wind

Sub-zero temperatures rode into Jacksonville yesterday morning on a northwest wind that spent its bitter fury on persons who traveled the streets and ventured out onto the highways, the mercury dropping to the lowest point experienced here this winter. The official temperature reading at the Norbury Sanatorium, U. S. Co-operative Weather Bureau, was 16 degrees below zero at six o'clock last night, and it was predicted that it would drop to 20 degrees below the zero point during the night.

No official readings were given out after six o'clock, but thermometers down town registered from 18 to 22 degrees below zero at midnight last night. The weather forecast, given out last night, gave promise of slightly rising temperatures this afternoon.

The suddenness of the wave of icy blasts followed a snow of several inches here between 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night and six o'clock yesterday morning. At seven o'clock a. m. the official temperature at the Norbury sanatorium was one degree above zero, and within a few hours it had dropped to 12 degrees below.

The wind which whipped the frigid atmosphere thru the city blew the powdery snow in clouds across highways in this vicinity, and while concrete highways were passable near here some of the other rural routes of travel were filled with drifts. State roads were open in all directions from Jacksonville for a distance of 40 to 50 miles late yesterday, but the road conditions changed hourly, and motorists were warned to inquire about travel before leaving here.

Roads Blocked.

The Illinois division of highways reported the following roads blocked in places by drifts last night: Route 66 from Normal to Dwight; Route 51 from Bloomington to LaSalle; Route 116A, Route 17 from Lacon to Streator; Route 47 south of Dwight, and roads leading from Peoria northwest.

Jacksonville's difficulties that arose from the frigid temperatures comprised the inability of most residents to keep their homes warm, of many motorists to start their automobiles and of all pedestrians to remain comfortable while traveling from place to place.

Traffic on the streets late Wednesday was at a minimum both by motorists and pedestrians. Garages were swamped with calls from drivers of cars who were unable to move their machines under their own power. Tow cars were at a premium as was also storage space in local garages.

Meetings of all kinds were postponed because of the bitter weather, church meetings, social events and basketball games being cancelled as the mercury crept steadily downward. Only a few persons ventured out into the icy atmosphere last night after once having experienced the warmer temperatures of their homes.

The howling wind drove the icy blasts thru every available opening in local buildings and the firing of heating devices was at a maximum. The scrape of the shovel on sidewalks, where efforts were made early yesterday morning to move the snow, was followed later by the scrape of the shovel on the bottom of the coal bin. The intense firing by householders resulted in a high fire hazard and the local fire department was called on several occasions to halt starting flames. Fortunately thru the promptness of the discovery of the fires and the equal promptness of the firemen in answering calls no blazes of any serious consequence resulted here yesterday.

A check-up made shortly after midnight by the Journal and Courier, showed that thermometers in various parts of the city registered from 10 to 22 below zero.

Howard Moore, attendant at the South Side Sewage Treatment plant, said the thermometer on the west side of the building there registered 10 below. John W. Marshall, telegraph operator at the Wabash tower, reported that when he left his home on Webster avenue shortly after 11 o'clock a thermometer on the north side of his house registered 22 below zero. At the tower in the east part of the city, the mercury stood at 16 below.

Philip Schulz, fireman at the South Side Pumping Station, reported shortly after midnight that the thermometer at the station registered 16 below.

The thermometer at the North Side Sewage Treatment Plant shortly after midnight registered 18 below zero, according to William Schildman, the attendant in charge.

At the Jacksonville State Hospital the thermometer at the nurses home registered 18 below zero, while that on the door of the engine room recorded 20 below zero.

William Haneline, telegraph operator at the Chicago & Alton tower on East College Ave., said his thermometer registered 15 below shortly after midnight.

A survey of thermometers in the business district was made about 1 o'clock this (Thursday) morning, the reporter finding that they ranged from 16 below to 22 below zero.

Only twelve men called at the police station last night seeking shelter. This number was far below the usual number.

Jacksonville does not have a monopoly on the frigid temperatures, according to reports received from other sections of the state. At White Hall it was reported the mercury dropped to 14 degrees below zero. At nine o'clock yesterday morning the temperature was nine below. At nine o'clock last night the reading showed 14 degrees below the zero point.

Roodhouse reported a reading of 16 degrees below, Hannibal reported 15 minus, Bluffs thermometers showed 16 below and Springfield reported 14 degrees below zero.

While trains and buses moved thru here yesterday the weather conditions caused some delays among some of the carriers. Train No. 3 which runs from Bluffs to Keokuk, which left Bluffs at nine o'clock yesterday morning was reported at midnight last night to be halted in a snow drift near Carthage.

Pick Jurors To Try Daisy Root On Murder Charge

Accused Of Killing Her Husband For Being "Unfaithful"

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 22—(AP)—Nine of twelve jurors to try pretty Daisy Alexander Root on a "jealousy-murder charge were selected today and both prosecution and defense indicated the question of responsibility of a woman who suspects her husband of faithlessness would be an issue in the case.

Mrs. Root is accused of killing her 32-year-old husband, Brenton Root, son of a Chicago clergyman, in a tiff over a cigarette girl.

Questioning prospective jurors today, W. T. McLain, district attorney general, remarked "I assume there will be a great deal of stuff brought out about the "unwritten law" and probably a little adultery."

He asked if they would "turn her loose because a fellow cheated just a little."

There was a stir in the court room and he frowned.

"All these facts are coming out and a little more," he said.

As the jurors were turned over to the defense, A. B. Galloway asked each, "if the conditions were as described by General McLain and if at the time the shot was fired this unfortunate woman had a brain storm and was incapable of distinguishing between right and wrong, you would consider that, would you not?"

McLain said the state "is not insisting on the death penalty," adding he would offer the defendant's purported confession to the jury.

In it the young woman said she shot Root because she was jealous over his asserted attentions to Lucile Underwood, red-haired "cigarette girl," at a night club.

Venice Policeman Killed By Bandit

Venice, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Sergeant Charles Chandler of the Venice police department was shot to death tonight by a bandit whom he interrupted in a tavern holdup.

The bandit then commandeered the taxicab of Edgar Hormann, one of four men in the tavern, and forced him to drive to St. Louis, where Hormann was ejected.

William Smolek, bartender, said the bandit, about 35, had been in the tavern about an hour before he drew a pistol. The robber had taken $12 from the cash register before Sergeant Chandler walked in.

The patrolman, unaware of the robbery, was shot down without warning. Chandler, pierced by three bullets fired once but the shot went wide. He died shortly after in the Granite City hospital.

St. Louis police immediately spread a dragnet for the slayer.

Will Question Murder Suspect

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Investigator Thomas Kelley of the state's attorney's office, said today he planned to question Francis Brennan, 30, about the slaying of George Mays, 31, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., here Oct. 27, 1934.

When Judge Joseph A. Graber learned of Kelly's investigation, he continued indefinitely a charge of assault to kill pending against Brennan and 10 charges of robbery, selected from 47 robbery complaints police said were made against him.

Mays, visiting A Century of Progress with several women, including his financee, was shot after he had relinquished his money to two holdup men. Kelly said Brennan answered the description of one of the men.

SPEAKER FAILS TO ARRIVE FOR MEET OF LIFE UNDERWRITERS

The local Life Underwriters association banquet last evening at the Peacock Inn was well attended, but the sub-zero temperature and practically minus transportation facilities forced last minute cancellation of the address by Lester O. Schriver, president of the national organization.

L. T. Oxley, program chairman of the winter meeting, anticipated some difficulty yesterday morning, and called Mr. Schriver in Peoria. At noon, the speaker believed it would be possible to make the trip. His telegram saying that it would be impossible to reach Jacksonville came at too late an hour last evening to arrange for a substitute speaker on the program.

Following the words of welcome of President Earland Logue and program chairman Oxley, Dr. C. P. McClelland gave a short address to conclude the meeting. The MacMurray College president was a college student in Middletown, Conn., also the home of Mr. Schriver, and was scheduled to introduce him to the association.

During the serving of the dinner, a three-piece string ensemble entertained with classical and semi-classical musical selections.

Fred Astaire Has Terrifying Hours

Hollywood, Jan. 22—(AP)—Fred Astaire, the dapper dancer, came out from behind a pair of dark glasses today and confided he has just experienced the "most terrifying hours" of his life.

He meant the hours immediately before and after he was able to announce yesterday that his wife had presented him with a son.

They put him to bed in the room next to his wife's in a Los Angeles hospital. And he is still there. He rented it for a week.

The nurses put their heads together and agreed that a big movie star and plain John Smith are pretty much alike "when those moments come."

"I don't remember much after we got to the hospital from Hollywood," he said. "Maybe I was walking up and down. I don't know. They were the most terrifying hours of my life."

"Gee, it's awful," he said. "You don't know what to do with yourself. Somebody told me to go home, but I couldn't do that. I couldn't sit down and I couldn't do anything. I feel, now, as though I'd been rehearsing dance routines for two weeks without a rest."

Mother and child were doing nicely, Dr. John Vruwink said.

A search was ordered for Larry Brennan, Porter's secretary, when a maid, Anna Noack, said he had entered the house about 8 o'clock and left without being seen.

Illinois Power, Light Corporation Acts to Halt Municipal Plant

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—The Illinois Power and Light Corporation yesterday asked for a federal court injunction to prevent the City of Jacksonville from constructing and operating a $420,000 municipal light plant, authorized at an election Tuesday.

The suit named more than a score of city officials—including Mayor Fletcher Blackburn, all the city council members, the city treasurer and clerk—and Harold Ickes, PWA administrator, as defendants.

A temporary restraining order was asked on the ground that the company would suffer great loss and might have to abandon its plant, and that the plan for a municipal plant violated a city ordinance against municipal ownership. The suit also alleged that the project was for a "yardstick of light rates" and not for relief of unemployed persons.

Suit Covers 80 Pages

Walter Bellatti of the law firm of Bellatti, Samuell and Arnold returned here early yesterday afternoon from Springfield where a suit was filed by his firm in behalf of the Illinois Power & Light Corporation, against the City of Jacksonville. Other attorneys representing the Power & Light Corporation are Dryer and Brown of Hillsboro.

The bill for an injunction covers about 30 typewritten pages and the various exhibits number about 50 pages.

Attorney Bellatti said the suit charges that PWA Administrator Ickes has attempted to "foster and encourage municipal ownership and political operation;" that the city's indebtedness would exceed the limit provided by law, and that construction of the proposed plant would violate the national industrial act.

When informed by the Journal and Courier of the Power & Light Corporation's action in federal court, Attorney Orville N. Foreman, special counsel for the municipal plant project, declared "they won't get far with that one." Foreman had nothing more to say about the suit.

The court has not yet set a date for the hearing, at which the defendants will defend the action of the city in preparing to build the plant.

TODAY MARKS CLOSE OF FIRST SEMESTER IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Today marks the close of the first semester in public schools all over the city. For the high school students, it marks the close of the final exam week. The schedule of these examinations has been somewhat altered this year from the two previous years. Formerly, the last week in the semester was divided into special hour and a half periods during which the tests were given. The plan that has been in effect this week is that no special periods have been arranged, and the teachers may give exams that can be written in one 45 minute class, or else take two or three days to give the test. A very large number of the instructors seem to be following the latter system.

The new semester will start on Monday at all of the schools in the system.
